Our democracy works best when all students, regardless of their identity, vote. That is why the WSA fought to get mail in voting, same day voter registration, automatic voter registration, and ballot drop boxes on all of our campuses.

However, constantly changing addresses, improper registrations, lacking transportation to polling sites, being first-time voters and limited access to childcare are some of the reasons that students are one of the most disenfranchised groups of voters in the nation.

When we’re not pushing for increased voter access in the legislature, we’re training students on effective voter registration, coordinating 'Student Engagement Centers', and doing our own voter outreach events. During the 2020 election, we teamed up with community organizations and student leaders to text over 100,000 students, reminding them to vote and helping them express their civic duty.
