Message from Father Danny:

Today's readings remind us of the divine presence in the created world. From Genesis we hear of God's covenant with Noah and all living creatures. God promises to set a rainbow in the clouds to serve as a sign of the covenant with earth. Never again will flood waters, be used to destroy humankind.

This time last year we were all broken with the damage from flood waters that destroyed our kitchen and office area in St. Ninian Place. Despite the many obstacles that we faced from the Pastoral Centre and Ecclesiastical Insurance, we found the rainbow. The kitchen area was recreated and serves the parish well. The parish office is a welcoming place, and the open concept is appreciated by so many. There was one day, a delivery driver, made mention of the beautiful space.

The big snow of '24 still proves a challenge. The snowbank in the parking area is almost triple the size of previous years and is a challenge for parking and entrance to SNP. We appreciate your patience and understanding as we work with Kell's for removal and help from God above. SNP was active last weekend with the dance and lunch for confirmation candidates. I was overwhelmed but not surprised to see the amount of food that was brought in for both events and enjoyed by all. What we cannot freeze we give to students or make a delivery to Wellspring on campus where the Sister's of St. Martha have a study and hospitality centre for students.

This week STFX students are on Reading Week. We wish them well in catching up on their studies!!!!

God Bless,
Father Danny
