To Our Valued Customers,

We are beginning the second season of production at Countryside since bringing about a complete reset of our container yard. The results are visible at a glance: clean beds, lined-up material, pruning and staking completed on time. It is common—and gratifying—to hear visitors comment on this transformation.

Other changes of note include our very successful boxwood field-hybrid container program, now starting its third year; a vastly expanded offering of 10-gallon (and larger!) Japanese maples; and a sustained offering of Christmas material shipping in red pots with our in-house, point-of-purchase tags providing that extra marketing lift. Thanks to the hard work of our amazing crew, our field operation continues to be industry-best in quality. We think you'll agree there's lots to be excited about heading into 2025!

Greg always says, "I like plants, and I like people." This vision will guide every step of our customer service, from taking your call, to flagging and pulling your order, all the way through to weighing your truck at our scale to maximize the value of your freight dollar. Our business is built on relationships and we will strive to reward the trust you have placed in us—and treat your order as if it were our own.
