

Recovery Community Network

Founded in 2014, the Recovery Community Network (RCN) is a nonprofit, grassroots Recovery Community Organization dedicated to mobilizing resources within and outside of the recovery community to increase the prevalence and quality of long-term recovery from substance use disorder. We look to collaborate with members, partners and allies of the recovery community to broaden recovery resources in Central MN through peer-to-peer support services, public education, and advocacy.

Our Certified Peer Recovery Specialists:

- Provide services that are free-of-charge;
- Promote recovery through peer to peer interaction;
- Are open to multiple pathways to recovery;
- Utilize motivational interviewing and a peer-based model of help;
- Decrease stigma and increase recovery options.

The TRS Program

What is TRS?

A person in recovery will call or text you weekly and check-in on your recovery. Telephone/Text Recovery Services (TRS) are completely voluntary. This service is free of charge and a participant may begin and stop at any time. Contact information is confidential and once the service has been discontinued the contact information will be discarded. Contact information will not be given or sold to third party entities for marketing.

What does a TRS provider do?

Our TRS providers are people with lived recovery experience. They will call or text you on a weekly basis to check in on your recovery and see how you are doing. Our providers will see if you need any help and then provide it or point you in the direction where the help may be obtained. If you just want to talk about recovery, they will do that too. In summary, it's a simple check-up. Most calls last a few minutes.
