Get Connected @ The Disability Expo April 22, 2025

A Note from the Executive Director

When the River Region Disability Expo started in 2015 at Eastmont Baptist Church, I had no idea it would still thrive as it does today. It is exciting to celebrate our 10th anniversary. We not only continue to grow in numbers and resources, but we continue to make improvements each year.

I look at the providers who have shared information with participants who need these services. I try to bring on as many disciplines as possible to share with people with disabilities and their communities. As I was thinking about the success of the expo through the years and the number of people whose lives we have touched, I was reminded of a recent story from a colleague regarding one of her employees. She talked about the domino effect. Each domino, as it hits the next domino, affects the next domino until each domino is affected. I desire to have as many organizations (dominos) as possible so that every participant can gather resources to make a difference in their life. A resource book is provided each year that lists all the exhibitors and is placed on Facebook so that someone not at the expo may see it. All the exhibitors receive a copy and are asked to share it with anyone looking for resources. This is free for any participant looking for information.

I have dreamt of opportunities to expand information like this in the disability community. I am happy to report that such an avenue has presented itself with a monthly publication called Uniquely You Central Alabama. It is dedicated to celebrating individuals of all ages and families with disabilities. The magazine features personal narratives designed to inspire, connect, and instill hope in others facing similar challenges. Supported by generous partners, this invaluable resource is provided free of charge to people with disabilities. While sharing personal experiences, Uniquely You Central Alabama will foster connections and empower individuals and their families to navigate their unique journeys with confidence and resilience.

The River Region Disability Expo will continue to provide a yearly Expo, but with Uniquely You Central Alabama, sharing resources will now be available monthly.

Sincerely,

Rachel Hughes,
Executive Director
