Redwood Ministries Housing Project

The Homeless to Transitional, into Long-Term Housing Project.

Redwood Ministries housing program is a project to improve the lives of those in need and seeking help. It's not a complicated idea, nor does it have to be! Homelessness to long-term housing is a process. Getting someone into temporary housing is the first and least complicated step. It is our society that makes it difficult.

Once in our transitional housing program, the next steps are crucial in developing a plan that meets the needs of the individual. Who knows better than the person seeking help what type of help they need? The issue then becomes being supportive of that help. We use the resources available to us to support the person through the immediate community around them. They then begin their personal journey back to becoming productive members of the community.

The final piece of this process is establishing long-term housing. This is where most people fall short. The men and women who get to this point have struggled to put their lives back together by putting addiction, homelessness, criminal past, and other adversities behind them to improve their future. Making any forward progress at this point is very difficult because they are judged on the past not who they have become.

Moving into long-term housing takes first, last, deposit, credit checks, criminal history, and much more. It can take years to get beyond the world of past mistakes. This overburdens transitional housing programs. We have established a process based on performance and growth by the individual, not the history of the individual to move them into long-term housing.

When certain milestones are reached, we move them into our long-term housing. Using our own assurances such as credit, first, last, and deposits to establish them as productive members of our society.

This process works and Redwood Ministries has been very successful on a limited scale.

It is the policy of Redwood Ministries that there will be no discrimination or harassment on the grounds of Race, Color, Religion, Sex, Marital status, Sexual Orientation, National Origin, Age, or Disability within the Redwood Ministries programs.
