

EXECUTIVE COACHING

At Flying W, we are passionate about coaching. Each consultant we employ believes every leader, with the help of a dedicated and professional coach, can reach unprecedented levels of growth. And we believe this because we've seen it. Whether a CEO, President, Director, Pastor, or Manager, coaching can help you attain the next level and beyond.

Executive Coaching is agile and adaptive. It spans more than just the typical work-related areas and reaches into the whole-person concept. Training, mentoring, and advising all serve essential roles in leader development. Yet, these elements often reside within their own specialized programs via non-integrated efforts.

For example, most corporations have a training program, focused on establishing a knowledge baseline for tasks. They also have an advising element whereby they utilize either internal or external resources to absorb information and guide leaders toward a successful outcome. Many organizations also have mentoring programs where senior leaders inform more junior leaders on how to be more effective - like them.

Coaching at Flying W is different. Coaching helps the leader or manager find their own strengths and leverage them, while also identifying personal weaknesses and mitigating them. At its core, coaching employs a full-spectrum approach using a dynamic nature and has the distinctive ability to shift from one element to another as the situation dictates. This expands learning, optimizes potential, and yields faster, more targeted results.

Our coaches have extensive experience in analyzing, assessing, and training in the following areas:

Leadership Skills	Leadership Style
SWOT	Problem-Solving
Work/Life Balance	Critical Thinking
Time Management	Crisis Management
Creative Processes	Innovative Thought

Using state-of-the-art methods, Flying W ensures you WILL see results!
