

BEHAVIOR

What's done is done
Life is a journey
Cannot go back
No magic pony

Choices so made
Hard lessons learned
Not heeded well
Her heart burned

She made choices
Good and so bad
Un-changing behavior
Made life a drag

What good is experience?
Blind eye ignored
Pain so endured
This girl's just so sore

Now study Tao
Just walk its path
Day in and day out
Yet here is her wrath

Somewhere upon distance
Upon darkness of days
Desperate to change
Tears resulting her ways

Desperate to change
Live so clean
Refreshed anew
Something she'll glean

So now she'll say's
"The right time, the right choice"
Nevermore shall
Behavior be a shame

A choice that leads
A better story
A story without scars
So not to be so sorry

Universe she thanks
A child of yours
You let her live
So she'll stay your course

Her clear behavior
Become second nature
She's grown up now
And more mature

POEM: BEHAVIOR
WRITTEN BY: CARRIE TEMPLEMAN
WRITTEN ON: 12 JANUARY 2023
BOOK: BRIDGE MARK