

The 30th Annual “Asia Today” Series

Spring 2016: Indonesia, Pacific Islands and Singapore

Dr. Alexander Mawyer

Dr. Ehito Kimura

Participants from various professional and academic disciplines who joined the 30th Annual Asia Today Series, Spring 2016

The 30th “Asia Today” Series took place on May 7, 14, and 21, 2016, with talks focusing on the increasingly endangered languages of the Pacific Islands, as well as the histories and modern circumstances of the nations of Indonesia and Singapore.

On May 7, in a lecture titled “Oceanic Tongues: Assessing and Documenting Language Vitality in the Contemporary Pacific,” Dr. Alexander Mawyer addressed the story of language shift and change in Pacific Island history. He used poetic language and the language of local ecological knowledge to illustrate modern issues of identity, mobility, politics, and globalization. The audience responded positively to this talk, appreciating the “rich information” and “nice illustrations.”

In the following two lectures, Dr. Ehito Kimura spent one morning delivering the lecture “Unity in Diversity,” talking about Indonesia. Explaining that it is one of the world’s most diverse countries, he described how the government and the nation’s politics have affected everyday Indonesians. On the final day of the Series, in “Singapore: Development vs. Democracy,” Dr. Kimura spent the morning discussing the trade-offs Singapore has made between politics and business in its search for wealth and freedom. His talks were well received, with audience members commenting on the in-depth information and interesting perspectives.

Hearty Mahalo to Members of CAPE Friends/Korea

CAPE Friends/Korea at luncheon meeting held in April in Seoul.

A luncheon meeting was hosted by Dr. Jai-Ho Yoo, CAPE President, on April 13, 2016, at Xingkai Chinese Restaurant in Seoul, Korea, to thank the members of CAPE Friends/Korea for their support over the past three decades. The lunch this year was especially meaningful as it marked the close of the chapter of the past 30 years, and sought to open a new chapter for a new generation of CAPE friends to come.

CAPE Friends/Korea bid Mahalo to the members of the original chapter and welcomed the new members who will carry it on, perhaps for another 30 years. Nearly 35 years ago, in 1982, Dr. Mo-Im Kim began her term as the first president and paved a solid foundation of CAPE Friends/Korea. Mr. Young-Tae Kim took over in 1987, and has served as its second president to this day. His ceaseless energy and support played a vital role in raising funds for the CAPE Home, and he continued in his support regardless of his own business challenges.

Following a lunch and warm exchange of aloha and fond memories of CAPE's development, the program began with remarks by CAPE President Jai-Ho

Yoo welcoming and thanking the guests for their warm support of CAPE, both financially and morally, since its inception. He expressed his deep gratitude to the members, who helped CAPE become what it is today, and whose support never wavered even during adverse economic times such as the IMF crisis in the late 20th century.

Dr. Yoo's remarks preceded a talk by Mr. Young-Tae Kim, Chairman of Daesung Group, who spoke of his long personal friendship with Dr. Yoo, starting in the early 1970s. His connection with CAPE began in the early 1980s, and came about because he admired CAPE's goals of cross-cultural exchange between people in Asia and the Pacific regions via professional and academic collaboration, interchange and cooperative study and research. Mr. Kim enjoyed being a part of the CAPE community because it greatly assisted participants in achieving their academic goals. He closed with a few words on his friendship with Dr. Yoo and other members, and the hope that his contributions helped pave the way for the next era of CAPE.

Although this is a time of celebration for CAPE, we would like to take this opportunity to remember our wonderful friend and member of CAPE Friends/Korea, the Honorable Speaker Mansup Lee, who passed away on December 14, 2015.

Our sincerest Mahalo to retiring members, and a warm welcome to the members of the New Chapter! We wish to give special thanks to Mr. Young-Tae Kim, Dr. Mo-Im Kim, Mr. Chul-Woo Yang, Dr. Myung-Seok Park, Dr. Nahm-Sheik Park, Dr. Susie Kim, Dr. Choon-Hak Cho, Dr. Euisook Kim, Dr. Hyun-Wook Kim, and Mr. Seung-Hwan Choi. Aloha & Mahalo!

Mahalo Certificates were awarded to the following members:

Mr. Young-Tae Kim, Dr. Mo-Im Kim, Mr. Chul-Woo Yang, Dr. Nahm-Sheik Park, Dr. Myeong-Seok Park, Dr. Susie Kim, Dr. Choon-Hak Cho, Dr. Euisook Kim, Dr. Sung-Chul Yang, Mr. Seok-Soon Yoon, Dr. Kyung-Ja Park, Dr. In-Sook Kim, Mr. Seung-Hwan Choi, Dr. Hyun-Uk Kim, Dr. Sung-Kyu Cho, and Dr. Sung-Hoon Kim.

events around Angkor Wat.

Two speakers will introduce the second featured nation, the Philippines. First, Dr. Leticia Pagkalinawan will direct a fun lesson in Filipino, introducing some basic vocabulary and then some songs and games to make it all more enjoyable. Next Dr. Ricardo Trimillos, UH Professor Emeritus of Asian studies as well as ethnomusicology, will discuss how language, music, and performance all come together to build a sense of identity for the people of the Philippines.

Finally, take a virtual tour of Sri Lanka, as Dr. Wimal Dissanayake, the author of over 60 books in both English and Sinhalese, talks about the intertwined nature of culture and nationhood, and how the two phenomena are linked in a feedback loop where each informs and nurtures the other.

We invite you to come and experience the world as these expert and enthusiastic speakers bring it to our own doorstep here in Honolulu!

114th Workshop for Asian-Pacific Teachers of English

(Dec 27, 2015 – Jan 23, 2016)

English teachers in the 114th Workshop for Asian-Pacific Teachers of English with, Dr. Richard Day, Ms. Angela Haeusler, Dr. Christina Higgins, Mr. Myron Monte, and Dr. Richard Schmidt, January 2016.

Ten secondary school teachers of English came from Jeonbuk Province to learn about foreign language pedagogy, visit local schools, polish their English skills, and enjoy the Hawaiian sunshine. They were sponsored by the Jeonbuk Office of Education.

During their four weeks in Honolulu, the teachers visited Niu Valley Middle School and Stevenson Middle School. We thank Principals Mr. Sean Tajima and Ms. Linell Dilwith, as well as their schools' Coordinators, Ms. Kimberly Nicely and Mr. Leonard Padayhag.

As always, our teacher-students attended lectures on theory and practices by UH faculty, including Dr. Graham Crookes, Dr. Richard Day, Dr. Elizabeth Gilliland, Dr. Christina Higgins, Dr. Sandra McKay, Dr. Hanh Thi Nguyen, and Dr. Richard Schmidt. Teaching techniques and culture classes were led by instructors Ms. Angela Haeusler and Ms. Eriza Bareng respectively.

115th Workshop for Asian-Pacific Teachers of English

(Jan 22 – Feb 18, 2016)

English Teachers in the 115th Workshop for Asian-Pacific Teachers of English with, Dr. Richard Day, Mr. Kenton Harsch, Mr. Christopher Hunter, Dr. Sandra McKay, Mr. Myron Monte, Dr. Richard Schmidt, and Dr. Nicole Ziegler, February 2016.

A second group of thirteen secondary school teachers, supported by Sookmyung Women's University, came from Seoul for the month of February. They visited Kalakaua Middle School and Washington Middle School. As always, this would not be possible without the hospitality of these schools' leadership teams, including KMS Principal Ms. Lorelei Aiwohi, KMS Vice Principal Ms. Natalie Mun-Takata, and WMS Principal Mr. Michael Harano.

Their pedagogical theory and practice sessions were led, as before, by faculty from UH. We are ever grateful to the hard work of Dr. Graham Crookes, Dr. Richard Day, Mr. Kenton Harsch, Dr. Christina Higgins, Dr. Sandra McKay, Dr. Hanh Thi Nguyen, Dr. Richard Schmidt, and Dr. Nicole Ziegler. In addition, Mr. Christopher Hunter provided culture classes and Mr. Myron Monte gave a special session.

116th Workshop for Asian-Pacific Teachers of English

(Jan 4 – 19, 2016)

English Teachers in the 116th Workshop for Asian-Pacific Teachers of English, with Dr. Richard Day, Dr. Christina Higgins, Mr. Myron Monte, and Dr. Richard Schmidt, January 2016.

CAPE annually hosts future teachers of English for a teacher-training workshop. For two weeks in January, fifteen graduate students from the International Graduate School of English joined us, under the guidance of Mr. Luke Jones. They attended lectures on teaching theory and practice by Dr. Graham Crookes, Dr. Richard Day, Dr. Betsy Gilliland, Dr. Christina Higgins, Dr. Hanh Thi Nguyen, Dr. Richard Schmidt, and Dr. Nicole Ziegler. Their program included a visit to Jarrett Middle School and Punahou School. We thank JMS Principal Mr. Reid Kuba, JMS Coordinator Ms. Melissa Higa, and Punahou's Wo International Center Director Mr. Chai Reddy for their generous hospitality in welcoming our students.

117th Workshop for Asian-Pacific Teachers of English

(Jan 27 – Feb 18, 2016)

A third month-long workshop for secondary teachers of English saw eighteen teachers hosted by the Kwangju Office of Education studying English, pedagogy, and Hawai'i's cultural and natural beauty. They were accompanied by Ms. Suyeon

English Teachers in the 117th Workshop for Asian-Pacific Teachers of English, with Mr. Kenton Harsch, Dr. Sandra McKay and Dr. Nicole Ziegler, February 2016.

Jung and Mr. Jae Gwang Ban. They visited Farrington High School and the University Lab School, hosted warmly by Principals Mr. Alfredo Carganilla and Mr. Keoni Jeremiah. Their lectures on language education theory were given by UH faculty members Dr. Graham Crookes, Dr. Richard Day, Dr. Elizabeth Gilliland, Mr. Kenton Harsch, Dr. Sandra McKay, Dr. Hanh Thi Nguyen, Dr. Richard Schmidt, and Dr. Nicole Ziegler. The culture classes were taught by Ms. Eriza Bareng, and they enjoyed a special session with Mr. Myron Monte.

32nd Workshop for Elementary Teachers of English

(Jan 10 – Feb 5, 2016)

Participants in the 32nd Workshop for Elementary Teachers of English with, Mr. Myron Monte, Dr. Hanh Thi Nguyen, and Ms. Bonnie Sylwester, January 2016.

A group of twelve students came from Agyeongin National University of Education escorted by Ms. Hyejung Shin and Dr. Kitaek Kim. In addition to the culture and teaching techniques classes with Mr. Christopher Hunter and Ms. Bonnie Sylwester, they visited Kuhio Elementary School, Thomas Jefferson ES, and Waikiki ES. We thank Principal Lyn Kobayashi and Parent Facilitator Ms. Patricia Rodrigues, Principal Mr. Garret Zakahi, and Principal Ms. Bonnie Tabor, respectively, for their gracious welcome of our students. These student teachers also attended lectures delivered by UH faculty on the topics of pedagogy and language acquisition, given by Dr. Graham Crookes, Dr. Richard Day, Dr. Betsy Gilliland, Dr. Sandra McKay, Dr. Hanh Thi Nguyen, and Dr. Richard Schmidt.

33rd Workshop for Elementary Teachers of English

(Jan 22 – Feb 18, 2016)

English teachers in the 33rd Workshop for Elementary Teachers of English, with Dr. Richard Day, Ms. Angela Haeusler, Mr. Christopher Hunter, Dr. Sandra McKay, Mr. Myron Monte, and Dr. Richard Schmidt, February 2016.

In the second workshop for elementary school teachers, 21 teachers from Seoul, with the support of Sookmyung Women's University, attended lectures on pedagogy, English, and American culture. Their theory and practice sessions were taught by Dr. Graham Crookes, Dr. Richard Day, Dr. Elizabeth Gilliland, Dr. Christina Higgins, Dr. Sandra McKay, Dr. Hanh Thi Nguyen, and Dr. Richard Schmidt. The teaching techniques and culture classes were given by Ms. Angela Haeusler and Mr. Christopher Hunter.

The teacher students visited four schools in Honolulu. Principal Ms. Arnie Kikkawa welcomed them to Puuhale Elementary; Principal Ms. Cindy Yun-Kim and Second Grade teacher Ms. Sherry Takenishi hosted at Queen Kaahumanu ES; Director of Admissions Ms. Darian Tolentino was at the door at St. Francis School; and finally Principal Mr. Kapono Ciotto was ready at Waialae ES. We are deeply grateful to the generous hospitality from Honolulu's teaching ohana for our students.

69th International Program for College Nursing Students

(Jan 11 – 24, 2016)

CAPE's one-of-a-kind program in English and Hawaiian-American medical culture hosted a total of four groups of nursing students. The first group of twenty young women came for two weeks from Kyungnam University, chaperoned by Dr. Eun Suk Yun. In addition to their English and American culture class taught by Mr. Mark McGrath and Mr. Christopher Hunter, these student nurses also visited several of Honolulu's medical facilities. We and they thank Lydia Chock at Maluhia Hospital; Sai Chantavy and Cecile Morris at Maunalani Nursing & Rehab Center; Makana McClellan at Queen's Medical Center; Sherri Sommer-Candelario at Kapiolani Medical Center; Gayle Oshima at Kuakini Medical Center; and Sarah Kim at Straub Clinic & Hospital for allowing them to visit and observe their facilities.

In addition to ESL classes and site visits, these students also heard lectures on nursing issues given by UH faculty, including Dr. John Casken, Dr. Estelle Codier, Dr. Patricia Nishimoto, and Dr. Verna Hanashiro.

70th International Program for College Nursing Students

(Jan 18 – 30, 2016)

Participants in the 70th Program for College Nursing Students, with Dr. Verna Hanashiro and Dr. John Casken, January 2016.

A second group of eighteen nurses came from Chungang University, escorted by Dr. Kyungsook Park. They also visited Maluhia Hospital, Maunalani Nursing & Rehab Center, the Straub Clinic and Hospital, Kapiolani Medical Center for Women & Children, and the Kuakini Medical Center. In addition, they visited the Pali Momi Medical Center, hosted by Brigitte McKale. Once again we thank the staff and our students' hosts for their warm and generous welcome at these facilities.

For this group, Mr. Mark McGrath and Ms. Anita Bruce taught the English and American culture classes, and once again Dr. John Casken, Dr. Estelle Codier, Dr. Patricia Nishimoto, and Dr. Verna Hanashiro spoke on nursing issues in special lectures.

71st International Program for College Nursing Students

(Jan 19 – Feb 1, 2016)

Twelve nursing students from Cha Medical University made up the third group of students here for the nursing workshop, accompanied by Ms. Kyung

Participants in the 71st Program for College Nursing Students, with Dr. John Casken, Dr. Verna Hanashiro, and Mrs. Aileen Moriwake, January 2016.

Hyun Lee. They visited Leahi Hospital, Maunalani Nursing & Rehab, and Queen's Medical Center. We thank their hosts and guides, Lydia Chock, Sai Chantavy, Cecile Morris, and Makana McClellan for their support in allowing this program to offer this popular activity. Mrs. Aileen Moriwake taught the class in Hawaiian and American culture; and Dr. John Casken, Dr. Estelle Codier, Dr. Patricia Nishimoto, and Dr. Verna Hanashiro lectured on nursing issues.

72nd International Program for College Nursing Students

(Feb 4 – 24, 2016)

Participants in the 72nd Program for College Nursing Students, with Ms. Anita Bruce and Mrs. Aileen Moriwake, February 2016.

The final group of nursing students, who remained for three weeks, consisted of sixteen students from Hallym University, and were chaperoned by Dr. Shin-Jeong Kim and Dr. Soon-Ok Yang. They, too, visited Leahi Hospital, Maluhia Hospital, Maunalani Nursing & Rehab Center, and Queen's Medical Center. We thank Lydia Chock, Sai Chantavy, Cecile Morris, and Makana McClellan for making these visits possible.

These nurses also studied English with Ms. Anita Bruce, and American/Hawaiian culture with Mrs. Aileen Moriwake. They heard special lectures on nursing issues delivered by Dr. John Casken, Dr. Estelle Codier, Dr. Patricia Nishimoto, and Dr. Verna Hanashiro, and a talk on Hawaii's past and present by Dr. Edward Shultz, all faculty at UH.

The 9th APC Leadership Luncheon

During the last five years, the DOE has faced national, state, and local politics, budget cuts or economic problems, and the complex issue of meeting student, teacher, and educational leader demands while still keeping the state's public schools running. Ms. Matayoshi will talk about navigating the push and pull of internal and external forces as she has served as Superintendent for the last several years.

Join us for lunch and insight into leadership at The Willows Restaurant, 901 Hausten Street, at 11:30 on November 29, 2016.

We will also continue our work towards obtaining sufficient funds to erect the planned CAPE Center on the site of the current CAPE home.

A Thread Which Passes Through All

By Mr. Hyun-Jung Kim, a participant in the 119th Workshop for
 Asian-Pacific Teachers of English
 (June 26 – July 23, 2016)

Today is the second day in Hawaii. I went to Waikiki Beach where I had a surfing lesson for one hour, then practiced by myself for another hour. The surfing instructor was quite old and looked bored when he taught us the very basic techniques. I understood his attitude because he might have conquered the wave when he was young. I guessed that teaching how to surf to beginners seemed to undermine his pride. His tanned face reminded me of Santiago in Ernest Hemingway's The Old Man and the Sea. Anyway, I had a hard time balancing myself on the surfboard at first. The instructor grabbed my board and pushed me to the shore. No sooner had he pushed me to the shore than I bent on my knees and plunged into the salty water. The water was so salty that I thought that I could eat a whole cow without any seasoning. I was quite disappointed but paddled toward him again as if I were an eaglet that failed to fly from a nest. He said, "Grab the wave and balance," when he pushed me back again. His voice suddenly sounded spiritual, reason of which I didn't know. I stood up and could go all the way to the shore. I went back to him, smiling with high spirits. He told me that I did a really great job. His compliment made me do it again. After I finished my first surfing lesson, I went to Ward Center with other surf challengers: Juhyun and Boyoung. We went to an Italian restaurant to eat some pizza and salad with beer. The man who waited our table seemed quite energetic but nervous because it was his fifth day of work in that restaurant. He didn't know how much a cup of beer was and asked the manager beside him. We finally succeeded in ordering our food and ate them all. When I paid for our bill, I complimented him on his kindness and enthusiasm in front of his manager. I saw his face turning bright in response to my unexpected praise. As I was leaving the restaurant, he said that he was really thankful for my comment and it really helped him. Every challenge is so hard for beginners to go through. However, there is one thread that can make even an elephant pass through the eye of a needle. It is a compliment with a sincere hope for others' success.
