

Research and Facts About Marriage

The vigilance-fear-startle system

In general, males have a greater adrenal and cardiovascular responses to acoustical startle (heart rate and vasoconstrictive response) than females.

Commonly, women's startle response is accompanied mainly by fear, whereas for men it is accompanied by anger and contempt.