Tasting Notes

Very typical terroir of Assmannshausen: very fine, very elegant, very mineral and herbaceous, virtually a copy of the terroir of the world-famous Pinot Noir stronghold. Ripe blackberries, ripe sweet cherries, full-bodied and present on the palate, great finish with recognizable acidity. A local wine that lives up to its name.

Vineyard

The grapes for this wine grow on vines on the steep slopes of the Assmannshäuser vineyard sites, which are characterized by slate and Taunus quartzite.

Vinification

Our grapes are hand-picked and go through another selection process afterwards. Each parcel is vinified separately. Shortly before bottling we are assembling the cuvee. The 2020 vintage has been manufactured in barriques in our double stored cellar from 1792.

The Estate

When August Kessler took over his parent's establishment founded in 1924, he was only 19 years old. Back then, mainly bulk wine was produced and the area covered was not larger than 2,5 ha. Under August Kessler's guidance the estate has become one of the flagship ones of the Rheingau area. Down to the present day it has also acquired high international reputation. Today the vineyard estate contains 33 ha in some of the best Rheingau sites like: Assmannshäuser Höllenberg, Rüdesheimer Berg Schlossberg, Rüdesheimer Bischofsberg, Rüdesheimer Berg Roseneck and Lorchers Schlossberg. We produce 60 % Riesling and 40 % Pinot Noir. We are a member of the VDP and the German Barrique-Forum. Max Himstedt is the estate's most experienced and ambitious winemaker who pushes forward the production of world class wines. For a couple of years August Kessler and especially Max Himstedt have been joined by another ambitious and young oenologist: Simon Batarseh. Together with the first two mentioned and the whole team, Simon is going to lead the estate into the future. Thus, the course is set to keep producing quality wines at the highest stage.
