

Purchases in La Paz

Spoon

She acquired a set of exquisite, tiny silver spoons she would serve with espresso back in Chicago (she later realized they were most likely designed for cocaine consumption); and another silver spoon, this one for her international collection.