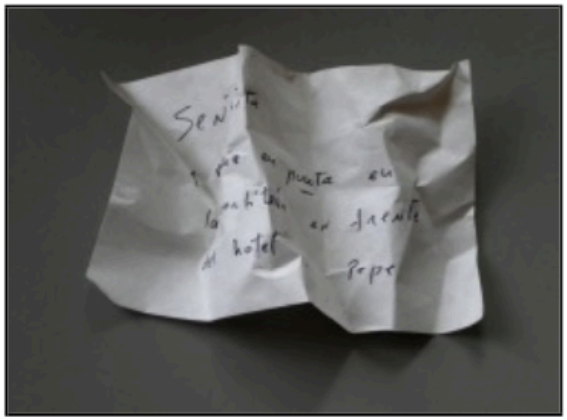
Love note from Pepe



Don't be late

The generally sleazy clientele was largely comprised of leering men who gawked at her as she entered and left the hotel, and who volunteered sexual advances whenever she cautiously darted across the cold cement tiles in the direction of the bathroom or the shower. One of them even slipped a little love note under her door, suggesting in a tone full of hopeful confidence a "one o'clock sharp" rendezvous in the cafeteria next door.