

Gary Palmer, CFI, CPL-SEL, IFR, AGI, IGI

With thousands of hours experience flying GA in the Southern California and southwest airspace, Gary is able to coach all levels of piloting.

His rental and club experience made him acutely aware of the cost and difficulty to build time and proficiency. Wanting more access to, and availability of, an airplane, his only option was to purchase his “amazing” 1975 Cessna Skyhawk 172M, Juliet.

As an advocate for all levels of pilot training, he has authored the Student Pilot Bill of Rights and spoken on that topic several times (here’s an interview Student Pilot Bill of Rights Podcast).

His class on Flying the LA Airspace presents pilots an assortment of local challenges. This helps pilots develop many necessary skills to handle the diversity of new airports.

Gary broad experience includes cybersecurity engineering and startup companies. He enjoys flying (of course), skiing, hiking and wine tasting.
