The Frozen Logger

Beatles

Intro: C C C C

As I sat down one evening,
'Twas in a small cafe,
A forty year old waitress
To me these words did say:

I see that you are a logger
And not just a common bum
Cause nobody but a logger
Stirs coffee with his thumb

My lover he was a logger,
There's none like him today
If you poured whisky on it
He'd eat a bale of hay

He never shaved his whiskers
From off of his horny hide
He'd just drive them in with a hammer
And bite them off inside

My logger he came to see me
Upon one freezing day
He held me in a fond embrace
Which broke three vertebrae

He kissed me when we parted
So hard that he broke my jaw
I could not speak for to tell him
He forgot his mackinaw

The weather tried to freeze him
It did its very best
At a hundred degrees below zero
He buttoned up his vest

It froze clear through to China
It froze to the stars above
At a thousand degrees below zero
It froze my logger love

And so I lost my logger
And to this cafe I've come
And it's here I wait for someone
To stir coffee with his thumb
