

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Dennis William Hauck is an author and researcher in consciousness studies. His work focuses on the nature of consciousness and the subtle interactions between mind and matter. Hauck attempts to merge various philosophical and scientific traditions into a broader science of consciousness and has contributed to many related areas, including alchemy and the history of science, psychology, and the serious study of exceptional human experiences.

Hauck has published over a dozen books, including The Monad Manifesto: Merging Science and Spirituality (2022), Alchemy: Energize Your Life by Freeing Your Mind (2021), Spiritual Alchemy: Metamorphoses of Body, Mind, and Soul (2017), Sorcerer's Stone: A Beginner's Guide to Alchemy (2013), The Complete Idiot's Guide to Alchemy (2008), and The Emerald Tablet: Alchemy for Personal Transformation (1999).

He has written over 40 articles in both popular magazines and academic journals and has been interviewed on nearly 200 broadcast programs, including "NPR's Morning Edition," "CBS This Morning," "Extra," "Geraldo," "America's Talking," "Sally Jessy Raphael," "CNN Reports," and "The O'Reilly Factor."

Hauck also contributed to a number of anthologies, including Ceremonial Magick: A Comprehensive Guide to the Western Mystery Tradition (2020), Get the Picture: Conscious Creation Goes to the Movies (2007), Nine Windows to Wholeness: Jungian Sandplay (2002), Magic of Our Universe (1999), and Awaken to a Dream (1991).
