COUNTY SEATS OF ILLINOIS, With Zip Code, and Court House Hours.

Our out-of-state members are starting to travel to the counties of their ancestors. Therefore, we are providing a listing of these for the benefit of those who also need mailing addresses when writing for birth, death and marriage certificates. (All are now $5.00 each under a new State Law.)

Let us again remind genealogists that you must have a card from an Illinois Genealogical Society in order to see the indexes of these vital records. This has been the Illinois State Law since 1973.

A ROSEBUD FOR THE LIVING

I would rather have a rosebud
While I am here to see,
Than have the costliest flowers
Placed on my grave for me.

I would rather have a rosebud
A tribute of today,
Than have the richest laurels
When I have passed away.

I would rather have a kindly smile
From hearts forever true,
Than tears around my lifeless form
When earth I've bade adieu.

I would rather have the kindest words
That can be said to me,
Than flattered when my heart is still,
And Life has ceased to be.

* * * * *

Then give me a rosebud sweet,
A rosebud pink or red;
I'd rather have just one today,
Than millions when I'm dead

--Henrietta Blair Heard.

This poem was found "among Mom's papers"
and sent on to us by John Strider.

What little treasures a careful family historian is liable to discover after his or her dear ones have passed on!
Several persons wrote about Peter Akers being called the "Boanerges of Methodism".
The reference is to Mark 3:17: "James the son of Zebedee and John the brother of James, were surnamed Boanerges, that is, sons of thunder." Otherwise it is defined as "a loud vociferous preacher or orator."

Dear Geneal Members and Friends:

"Now is the time for all good typewriters to come to the aid of their people." This letter to our readers is being typed on my new CANON TYPESTAR minature typewriter which weighs only 4 pounds, can be battery-operated, or used with an AC adapter for electricity. This would be a handy gadget to use in a library, or out in the cemetery to record tombstone readings, wouldn't it? With a little table and chair one person could sit and tyeupe while his/her teammates read the stones. This typewriter has a unique way to correct errors - before the line is printed. This comes with i-experience, which I obviously have not had as yet.

Since one can read old inscriptions better by standing quite a distaance away and using binoculars, a third person would be of great assistance in verifying dates, ages and epitaphs. To take time to record the latter would help researchers to identify family stones. (Be sure to have a piece of chalk along to mark X on stones already read.)

Your editor had an interesting experience on Memorial Day. Mr. & Mrs. Royal Hartenberger from Alexandria VA were in town looking for the graveo of his Revolutionary War ancestor, Arden Evans/Evens. Through the tombstone readings done by Bob Dalton, and the City Clerk's records which I had indexed, we were able to locate the Evens lot in Jacksonville East, Old Part. The V.F.W had put a flag by Mary Evens grave, instead of being ableto put it on Arden's because of the unreadability of the 1843 stone. With the binoculars Royal was able to verify Arden's broken obelisk. He has engaged Mr. Mahaney, Jacksonville Monument Co., to lay a new stone. Had we not pinpointed the exact spot, then the stone would probably have been placed on the wrong lot, as there are Evens burials on two adjoining lots. Any person who has Arden Evans/Evens as an ancestor can secure in-formation and addressesfrom our Society. There are several persons in DA R and SAR on this lineage, I amtold.

"Unaccustomed as I am" in writing for the public on my new Typestar, I prefer to finish this letter with my trusty old IBM. I did not correct the errors above because it would have been quite time-consuming. But the printing gives you an idea as to what can be accomplished, with practice, on these very interesting 4-pound typewriters. Trying to learn the proper use of all the new keys and buttons to press is a real chal-lenge to ones creativity. But it can be done with patience - and time. The latter element is my problem.

It was my pleasure to give the lecture on Heraldry before the new Christian County Genealogical Society on May 20th. This helps genealogists to understand the basics of a fascinating subject, for it is an art and a science with an entirely different lan-guage than the average family historian possesses without studying the subject.

I was invited to speak before the Peoria Genealogical Society recently on the cemetery laws and problems involved with the many abandoned family and neighborhood places of burial. There was a gentleman from the Lincoln Correctional facilities pre-sent who told us of their supervisory work with inmates by taking them to cemeteries for rehabilitation and study. In this way they teach geography, mathematics and many other related school subjects by reading tombstones, figuring ages of people, etc. They pay a certain wage for the work these students do, and have interested many of them to want to find employment as cemetery caretakers. We should have more young people being taught to respect cemetery stones, and interesting bits of history to be found there. Maybe they would not then be so prone to consider it a place in which to have a so-called "good time".

Giving several lectures on the history of the flags of the U.S. has also been my pleasure in recent weeks, with several more scheduled. Through the new book "Betsy Ross--The Griscom Legacy" by Drs. Yarrington and Timmons, I was able to locate one of her great-great-great-grandsons and his mother in Eldon, Missouri. I spent a pleasant evening visiting with them. [Too soon the end of the page.]

Love to all,

Florence Hutchison

This article is edited from pages 34-36 of the book Know Your Ancestors by Ethel W. Williams, PH.D, Charles E. Tuttle Company, Rutland, Vermont 1969.

The time element, in several generations past, needs some explicit explanation for genealogists so that they will understand when and why the calendars of the past changed, and in which countries at a given time. The Williams book has the best chart on this problem to be found anywhere.

A year in time has been measured by the number of days, hours, minutes, and seconds required for the earth to make one complete revolution around the sun. In order to conform to the "sun's time", Julius Caesar in 45 B.C. decreed that the Roman calendar year should be 365 days and 6 hours, with one day added to February every fourth year. This was known as the Julian Calendar, and continued in use until the fall of the Roman Empire, in 1582. The first day of their calendar had always been March 21st.

In 1582, the Roman calendar was proved defective by exactly 10 days, as the vernal equinox fell on the eleventh day instead of the twenty-first of March. To correct this error, Pope Gregory XII, in 1582, abolished the Julian calendar. By his edict, October fifth was reckoned to be October fifteenth, thus compensating for the ten days gained by the sun over the worldly calendars of men. He abolished the Julian calendar in all Catholic countries and introduced the Gregorian calendar.

In order for genealogists to understand the time element at any given period of time, they should know when various countries adopted this Gregorian calendar. This involves a double-dating period of history between 1582-1752, due to the conflict between the historical calendar by which the first day of the year fell upon January first, and the ecclesiastical calendar which recognized March twenty-fifth as the first day of the year.

Therefore, double dating is used only between January first and March twenty-first in the intervening years from 1582 to 1752. These date apply only to England and its British possessions, including the colonists in the American hemisphere. All dates prior to 1752 are called Old Style (O.S.). After January 1, 1752 dates of birth, marriage, death, etc. are called New Style (N.S.).

George Washington was actually born February 11 in 1732 (O.S.), but February 22, 1732 (N.S.). Betsy (Griscom) Ross, our famous maker of the first stars and stripes was born on the day that the Gregorian calendar came into use--January 1, 1752 (N.S.). That was the first time that January 1st was designated the first day of the new year. But the 11 days of excess sun time was not removed from 1752 until September 3 which next day became September 14th. This created much consternation in English-speaking countries, and indeed, there were riots in England demanding their old calendar back.

That time and place are two most important factors in family history research cannot be reiterated too frequently, or emphasized too strongly. Genealogists should always have them stated, or leave a space for their insertion at a later date when the knowledge is gained, for every individual they list on a lineage chart. Even if a pedigree blank does not list a "w" or "wh" for the where, a careful historian will automatically include the required data for others to see.

Changes in time and place often paralleled each other, and changes in political divisions of land left their imprint upon historical geography. A farm of an ancestor may have been in a stable area, but because of county line changes, may have been, at one time or another, in any one of two or three counties, or even states. This is particularly true in the areas we now know as Pennsylvania, Maryland and West Virginia, which are closely conjoined at one point on the maps. Carefully study maps, atlases and gazeteers for different periods of time.

Following is a chart of changes from the Julian Calendar 45 B.C.-1582 to the Gregorian Calendar of 1582. The official changes were made at the Vernal Equinox time when it was exactly a certain number of days even with sun time, as it crossed the equator and started moving northward.

Other interesting notes: The Julian calendar, according to the Book of United States Facts, 1983, is still in use by Eastern Orthodox churches.

Every fourth year is a leap year unless it is a century year like 1700 or 1800. Century years can be leap years only when they are divisible by 400 (e.g., 1600.) This rule eliminates three leap years in four centuries, making the calendar sufficiently correct with sun time for all ordinary purposes. The average Gregorian year is about 26 seconds longer than the earth's orbital period, but will need 3,323 years to build up to a single day!

By giving this index of original land owners then an interested genealogist can write back to us for the information to be found in our files by giving the name/names desired. [See page 7 of the March issue of our Jacksonville IL Geneal Journal for sample of information given.]

As we have just passed over the Memorial weekend, many patriotic programs honoring servicemen has occurred throughout the nation. In some areas, as in Springfield, Illinois, scenes of Civil War battles were re-enacted. Paul Black wrote a letter to the Editor of the State Journal-Register, May 29: "... Seeing this made me realize all the more just how much suffering and want many of our people went through that we might have freedom. I know people of both sides--the "Blue" and the "Gray"--had great agony of both body and soul in that conflict. It makes me sad for them. . . . This portrayal of a little of our history was especially of interest for my grandfather, Rufus Elben, fought and was wounded in that war, having come 3 years earlier to this country as an Irish immigrant 18 years of age. He had the good fortune to survive the starvation and deprivation of the Georgia prison, Andersonville, and told mom many stories about this."

The following poem by Kate Putnam Osgood, source unknown, presents a vivid word picture of ancestral heroism and tragedy, titled THE MARCH OF COMPANY A:

"Forward, march!" was the captain's word,
And the tramp of a hundred men was heard.
As they formed into line, in morning gray,
Shoulder to shoulder went Company A.

Out of the shadow into the sun,
A hundred men that moved as one:
Out of the dawning into the day,
A glittering file went Company A.

Marching along to the rendezvous
By grassy meadows the road ran through
By springing cornfields and orchards gay,
Forward, forward, went Company A.

And the pink and white of the apple trees,
Falling fast on the fitful breeze,
Scattered its dewy, scented spray
Straight in the faces of Company A.

A breath like a sigh ran through the ranks
Treading those odorous blossom-banks,
For the orchard hillsides far away,
The northern hillsides of Company A.

Forward, march!--and the dream was sped;
Out of the pine wood straight ahead
Clattered a troop of the Southern gray
Face to face with Company A.

Forth with a flash in the Southern sun
A hundred bayonets leaped like one.
Sudden drum-beat and bugle-play
Sounded the charge for Company A.

Halt! What is here? A slumbering child,
Roused by the blast of the bugle wild,
Between the ranks of the blue and gray,
Right in the path of Company A.

Nothing knowing of North or South,
Her dimpled finger within her mouth,
Her gathered apron with blossoms gay,
She stared at the guns of Company A.

Straightway, set for a sign of truce,
Whitely a handkerchief fluttered loose,
As under the steel of the Southern gray
Galloped the captain of Company A.

To his saddle-bow he swung the child,
With a kiss on the baby lips that smiled,
While the boys in blue and the boys in gray
Cheered for the captain of Company A.

Forth from the ranks of his halted men,
While the wild hurrahs rang out again,
The Southern leader spurred his way
To meet the captain of Company A.

Out of the arms that held her safe
He took with a smile the little waif.
A grip of the hand 'twixt blue and gray,
And back rode the captain of Company A.

Up there, in the distant cottage door,
A mother, clasping her child once more,
Shuddered at sight of the smoke-cloud gray
Shrouding the path of Company A.

A little later, and all was done--
The battle over, the victory won.
Nothing left of the pitiless fray
That swept the ranks of Company A.

Nothing left--save the bloody stain
Darkening the orchard's rosy rain.
Dead the chief of the Southern gray,
And dead the captain of Company A.

Fallen together were the gray and blue,
Gone to their final rendezvous.
A grave to cover, a prayer to say,
And--"Forward, march!" went Company A.

* Have you ever wondered how many of
* your ancestors survived some war so
* that your Seed of Life was preserved?

From REPORT from the SECRETARY OF WAR, in obedience to Resolutions of the Senate passed on the 7th of June, 1832, in relation to the PENSION ESTABLISHMENT OF THE UNITED STATES. Washington: 1835, printed by Duff Green. Part II covers pages 67-152.

[Part I, pages 1-66 were published in our quarterly March 1982, Vol. X issue #1, giving rank, service and county in Kentucky in which a Revolutionary soldier then resided. This current index, however, will only be a name of the soldier for lack of space. A person suspecting that a name given is an ancestor may write to us for a copy of the page upon which the name is given. Please send long, or business-size SASE.

The information on the page in the original printed booklet gives name, rank, description of service, commencement of pension and age, occasionally other data. From this one would be able to determine state that Revolutionary War soldier served in.

Mrs. Andrew Harris.

Illinois State Historical Society Journal, Vol.5, Oct 1912, No. 3

Pages 404 - 408 [Typed for quarterly by Mrs. E. R. Secrest]

It is a matter of interest that the original record book of the Berea Church of Christ, located in Morgan county, organized August 15, 1851, has been preserved. Mrs. Andrew Harris, of Alexander, Illinois, has carefully copied the record for the Journal. The church is located in range 8, township 16, Morgan county. The land upon which it is located was bought of Joel Robinson. The building was built by Joseph Black of Virginia, Illinois.

Its first pastor was the Rev. Charles Rowe, 1852. Other pastors in succession were, Rev. William R. Grant, Rev. Aquilla Sims, 1857; Rev. Allen H. Rice, 1862; Rev. B. W. Haley, 1866. While a regular pastor has not been employed during the intervening years, still services have been held, and upon its reorganization in 1904, a regular pastor was employed for two Sundays in each month.

Copied From The Original Book, Berea Church of Christ.

Morgan Schoolhouse No. 2, Aug. 15, 1851.

We, the body of Christ, agree to organizing ourselves after the primitive practice to watch over one another and admonish each other, for our good, to take the scriptures of the old and new testaments for our rule of faith and practice.

That for practice, the new is sufficient, but for faith both are required. To call ourselves by the name given to Christians in the primitive age by the Apostles—definitely called Christians—the followers of Christ. We agree to continue steadfastly in the Apostles doctrine, in fellowship, in breaking of bread and in prayers. Further as the primitive organizations were named according to locations so that they might be addressed or called upon by the traveling brethren, therefore we agree to be known as the Church of Christ on Indian Creek, meeting at Morgan Schoolhouse No. 2,

Indian Creek Church, August 15, 1852.

Berea Cemetery is adjacent to the church, alongside the highway between Alexander and Ashland, six miles from each community. In 1924 the present red brick church was erected. The cemetery appears to date as far back as 1825 when Amelia Robinson, age 6 months, was interred. [Our society has 6 pages of cemetery readings by Robert Dalton.]

Springfield's Public Library

Dear Florence,

We have received a number of requests for copies of obituaries after your announcement appeared in the society's Journal and we are happy that we have been able to help so many people. There is one slight problem and perhaps you can help me. Most patrons writing to us believe that the cost for each copy is 25¢ when it's actually 50¢. I wonder if you might announce this in your next issue? This will save a great deal of time and correspondence.

Thanks so much, and thanks too for your continued interest.

With every good wish,

Ed Russo

Did you know that Isaac Pitman drew the residence and farm scene pictures for the lithographs in the 1872 Plat Map of Morgan County, Illinois? This was found in a "No. 1 Journal of Charles Robert Morrison" written April 1, 1867-November 27, 1873. The copy is with R.R. Morrison, Springfield IL.

An Order Blank is to be inserted with your quarterly listing the Morgan, Scott, Macoupin and Menard County books published by Wanda W. Allers, Margaret S. Hohimer and Eileen L. Gochanour. We are eagerly looking forward to our copy of the 1860 Morgan Co. Census. This will be a great help in extending the services of our society to our many members and friends.

Should you lose sight of the order blank, write to Eileen Gochanour, 2317 N. 5th St. Springfield IL 62707 for a listing.

We, as well as many other genealogists, do not like continued articles in a quarterly, but sometimes space is limited. Rather than leave out the beginning of some record that may be very valuable to some researchers, perhaps it is wiser to start the series so that family historians may realize that another source of information exists which they did not know even existed.

Such is the case with the partial record printed in this June quarterly, by which some of the Confederate soldiers may be located, who died in the Alton Prison near us. The advantage to this is that the state for which the Civil War soldiers served is given. There is no other record available about these men in our society, nor our area. There is 14 pages altogether in this list. However, should any person wish to have the other 9 pages ahead of it being published next September, please send a $2.00 donation to our Society, and your Editor will photocopy them for you.

This procedure makes us lots of extra work, but we wish to dispense all records possible for the benefit of our readers, while yet we are able.
