

Free Genealogy Websites

Family Search – The largest free genealogy website in the world.
<https://www.familysearch.org/>

National Archives – Federal military, census, immigration, land, naturalization records and more.
<https://www.archives.gov/>

FindAGrave – Over 170 million burial and cemetery records have been submitted to Find-A-Grave
<https://www.findagrave.com/>

USGenWeb – County and state resources, compiled and maintained by volunteers, the USGenWeb sites can provide historical information about places, local cemeteries, local birth, and death records, obituaries, and links to other genealogy resources related to the area and its people.
<https://www.usgenweb.org/>

DAR – The Daughter of the American Revolution website has a genealogy section with information on starting a family tree.
<https://www.dar.org/>

Library of Congress – Access free digitized images of newspapers, books, films, maps, personal narratives, photos, prints, and drawings
<https://www.loc.gov/>

Allen County Public Library – Located in Fort Wayne, Indiana, the Allen County Public Library has one of the largest genealogy collections in the United States.
<http://www.genealogycenter.org/>