Call for Playwrights/Screenwriters/Creative Writers:

Sound the Alarm: Music/Theatre (STA) is looking for exciting and diverse voices for our inaugural 5-episode series of audio-dramas that will feature 5 independent stories by 5 unique writers with 5 different casts and designers.

Particulars:

- Artists must be legally able work in Canada.
- It is a priority of STA to create a platform of artists and cultural voices that represent our diverse communities. We will be prioritizing writers from marginalized communities, including Indigenous artists, people of colour, and diverse gender identifications.
- Depending on the scripts chosen, we will ensure cultural protocols are integrated as well as including additional creative team members (such as designers and casts) that align with the cultural narrative of each particular script.
- This contract will be paid a flat fee of $2000.

Each episode and script will:

- Have its own playwright, director and cast.
- Will be a unique story told by a Canadian writer
- Merge sound design, text-based performance, and music to create a compelling story and audio narrative that ‘sounds an alarm’ on our environmental and sociological challenges and its effects on human experience.
- Be 25 minutes in length
- Be an audio-drama (no visual mediums integrated)
- Be developed in collaboration with a dramaturg who will support all drafts for the purposes of consistency in style, quality and messaging.
- Be aimed to adult audiences and cannot include profanity, overtly sexual, or violent/hateful content or themes.
- Include elements of sound/music to help shape and inform the narrative.
 - Our goal is to create a unique immersive audio listening experience. Depending on how each story progresses, we would like to incorporate binaural sound techniques to aid in this immersive goal. This is however, not a requirement and is dependent on the artistic needs of each story itself. For a better understanding of what binaural recording is, take a look at this video, and it is suggested you wear your earphones.

Timeline:

- We will be accepting submissions on an ongoing bases.
- We will be looking to add episodes to the series over time, so please feel free to contact us with any questions.

Submission needs:

Please submit via admin@soundthealarm.ca:

- your resume
- samples of existing work
- a one-two page story pitch that:
 - speaks to the series focus which is to ‘sound an alarm’ on our environmental and sociological challenges and its effects on human experience.
 - lays out the themes you wish to explore and how they relate to the ‘alarm’ of the series.
 - includes a statement indicating how you cultural and personally identify (such as race, religion, gender, sexual orientation, or however else you feel comfortable stating and publicly speaking to)
