

There once were two lads named perk and penalty. perk was always happy and well, perky. penalty was always grumpy and unhappy. one fine day, perk asked why penalty was always so grumpy. "well, I don't know actually". said penalty. "well then, lets find out!" said perk. they thought of some ideas but never thought of a good one. then perk thought of an idea. "hey penalty". said perk, "what?" said penalty. "why dont we go to "the one who knows all". said perk. "where is he?" said penalty. "he's in the mountain of everdew." "carry me." said penalty. "no, walk yourself." they went up, and up the mountain. they finally found an iron door. "okay, i think were here". said perk. "but it has a combination lock". said penalty. "WHY DO YOU ALWAYS HAVE TO BE A DOWNER?!?! said perk. " hey, hey, thats what we're finding out. said penalty. okay, thanks. perk said. okay, so what can be the combination lock. said penalty. uuuuuuhhhhhhhh.... try 12345. said perk. okay. said penalty. nothing. said. penalty. "uhhhh try- hey wait, whats that slip of paper." said perk. "it says BOFFO" said penalty. "but the lock is in numbers." said penalty. "OOH! maybe its in numbers! try 80440." said perk. "okay." said penalty. "it unlocked!" said penalty. "lets go inside" said perk. when they got inside, they found "the one who knows all". they asked him why penalty is so grumpy and he awnsered: that is your choice to be grumpy.