

Frog and Toad
The Tough Hockey Game

The Tough Hockey Game
One cold day, Frog shouted, "Are you ready to go to practice?"
"What practice?" replied Toad.
"Hockey practice!" said Frog. "I forgot all about it! I need to get my stuff!" said Toad. Toad quickly got his stuff on. Frog said, "Let's take my car." They drove to the rink. When they got there, Toad realized he forgot his shoulder pads. They drove back home and got the pads. "We're going to be late!" yelled Frog. When they got back to the rink, practice had already ended. "Oh, no!" shouted Frog, "we're going to be in trouble." They drove back home. When they got there the coach called them. Coach yelled, "We need you at the game!" They had gotten confused and went to practice instead of the game! So, Frog and Toad put their stuff back on and drove to the right rink. "Where were you?" asked the coach. "We thought it was practice and we went to the practice rink," explained Frog. "Well get out there!" yelled the coach. They got on the ice. Frog got the puck and skated.

He shot the puck and... he missed! Frog said, "This is tough!" The other team got the puck and shot and scored! The coach yelled, "We need a goal!" Toad took the face off. He got the puck and skated to the net. He shot the puck and scored! "Yay!"

We're tied!" yelled Frog. At the next face off, Frog got the puck and skated as fast as he could to the net. He took the shot and... he scored. Toad screamed, "We won! Yay! We won!" "Nice job team!" yelled the coach and the whole team celebrated.
