Hand Stitched Thread on Commercial Textile
*Sold on Commission (USA) ****
Budget: $40,000

This piece is unusual as I had constructed it in April of 2002. Other commission projects and exhibition work became my priority, so this piece languished in a pile of over a dozen pieces waiting to be hand quilted and completed for eighteen years. Clients visited my studio in late January 2020 to begin the commissioning process. Unlike other clients, they requested to see any artwork that I had that was not completed. They had seen all my completed artwork and commission work on my website but wanted to see what I wasn't sharing with the world. This piece was their selection, and the hand stitching began as my schedule permitted with a completion date of January 25, 2022.

This piece took over 1056 hours to complete; majority of the time was the hand quilting (963 hours). Rarely is a single commission piece the only artwork under construction in my studio, other commissions overlap along with new artwork for exhibits.
