Abstract Textures 1.3 is the third completed piece for the series of textile artworks, Abstract Textures. This series is where I first began to experiment using a "paint with dye" format. I used foam brushes to create my canvas for textural hand stitching.

These abstract, whole cloth pieces are then densely hand quilted to add visual as well as physical texture using a swirled or wave-like design. This stitched design creates movement and flow into and out of the artwork.

Each artwork is designed to be hung in either a vertical or horizontal orientation which gives it great versatility in display options as well as changes the dynamic of the piece each time it is rotated. The back of the artwork shows the incorporated hanging system that just needs the accompanying wood slat inserted and it is ready to hang from any gallery system or with just two nails.
