

Scribble #2: Black Pathways (22" x 15.25"/ 56 x 38cm)
(c) 2009 Jean M. Judd/Artists Rights Society (ARS) New York
Hand Stitched Thread on Textile
Available for Purchase - $3,000

This art quilt is the second in the abstract series, Scribble. It is based on a drawing technique from my childhood utilizing crayons and a piece of paper. Commercial fabrics are used to construct this textile artwork. Hand appliquéd handmade bias tape is utilized to create the design.

The dense hand quilting gives the contemporary artwork visual texture and encourages the viewer want to reach out and touch the piece. The piece is designed to be displayed in any orientation changing the look of the design dramatically.

--Professional Artist Magazine, November 2012, page 32-35. Stretch Your Marketing: Three Artists Thinking Outside the Box by Renee Phillips. Features artwork Scribble #2: Black Pathways. The portion of the article about Jean M. Judd is concerning the Billboard Art Project in Detroit, Michigan in June of 2012.

--Artworks to be featured on the billboard from September 29 to October 26, 2012, on the Atlanta billboard include: Art Deco #1, Contaminated Water #6: Suspended Particles, Flaming Grapes, Fractured 'Gello #1, Rusted Grapes and Scribble #2: Black Pathways.

This billboard is located right behind a Citgo Station on Peachtree Road NE. The board faces north, so you will see it while driving southbound right around 2064 Peachtree Road NE. The images will change on the billboard every 6 to 10 seconds depending on the local department of motor vehicle regulations.

A few days before the exhibition starts on the electronic billboard, the names of the featured artists and their web sites will be available on line at this web site: <http://billboardartproject.org/cities/atlanta.html> The Billboard Art Project is a nonprofit organization that acquires digital billboards normally used for advertising and repurposes them as roadside galleries. Projects are held in cities all over the country and are open to all individuals and groups who are interested in participating.
