SSI 2024 Room Breakdown

WELCOME MESSAGE FROM THE CHAIR

Welcome Social Services Institute Participants,

The 2024 Social Services Institute, a significant event sponsored in partnership with the NC Association of County Directors of Social Services, NC Department of Health and Human Services, and NC Association of Boards of Social Services, is finally here! This year, we are thrilled to announce the renovation of Hickory's state-of-the-art convention center, adding a new level of excitement to the Institute. We are incredibly fortunate to have a long-lasting, ongoing relationship with the Hickory Metro Convention Center, and we are excited that their investment in this center is allowing us to expand further and grow the Social Services Institute.

The theme for the 2024 Institute is "The Power of Partnership." Partnership is a word familiar to all of us. We talk about partnerships with the various departments and divisions at the state level that we rely on and intersect with daily to do our work, administer services and programs, and serve children, families, and adults. We use partnership to describe our county relationships with departments such as Finance, Personnel, Sheriff, Register of Deeds, and many more. The partnership brings forth moments of challenges and opportunity as we work with families who are navigating through substance use, lack of financial security or job training, living independently in the community of their choice, securing stable housing for their family, or finally finding that quality childcare program they had been searching months to find.

The partnership has become increasingly important as we lean into integrated care models that put social workers, eligibility workers, and all who support their work at the forefront of ensuring people have the opportunity to live their healthiest lives. Whether you are ensuring FNS benefits are delivered timely and accurately so people can eat, or that individuals have access to medical care, transportation, and medications when they need it through Medicaid, or working to protect from abuse, neglect, dependency, or exploitation, thank you. In reviewing many definitions of partnership as I thought about this year's Institute message, I began to think about the Power of Partnership as a great honor. You see, the partnership is about people working collaboratively to address something they have in common – a situation, goal, or outcome – and when groups come together to address issues affecting the well-being of others, we have a powerful vehicle for bringing about good change. In return, that promises to improve the health and well-being of a community and its members.

Many partners in social services have served for many years, and in keeping with our tradition, we will celebrate those staff who have dedicated their careers to serving others through our county social service programs. If you can thank any one of them personally while you are here, please do. If you are new to social services, seek the opportunity to talk with one of them. Ask them to share about their commitment to this work and their partnerships along the way. They are sure to have amazing stories to tell. You are the promise of both today's and tomorrow's partnerships. I challenge each of us to use this Social Services Institute to network and build relationships with colleagues across the state. This SSI offers workshops and networking opportunities to enhance our knowledge, share our ideas, and grow relationships – all resulting from improving the many partnerships we have and need to do our work. You make a difference in the lives of many North Carolina residents each day!

With gratitude,

Ashley Lantz

4.	NC Dept of Insurance/SHIIP/NCSMP	Leveraging SHIIP and NCSMP in Local Communities	Learn about the SHIIP network's unique approach to meeting the needs of the senior and disabled populations in our state and how local SHIIP coordinating sites support and empower the rapidly growing dual-eligible population with their Medicare options, questions, and concerns. We will also discuss how SHIIP educates individuals about Medicare Fraud through our North Carolina Senior Medicare Patrol Program. Target audience: Line Staff Directors; Leadership/Management; Board Members	Stephanie Bias Lauren Heavner	Conover 1
5.	Customer Services	When under pressure, are you smoothing a path or building a wall?	We are here to help! It's a phrase you have probably said more than you can count. But are you there to help? There are times when providing excellent customer service is as easy as a smooth walk on the beach, but other times when that interaction is just plain hard. Every time you approach a customer, you have a choice: are you going to build an impenetrable wall that prevents you from solving the issue, or are you going to build a path that allows for smooth problem resolution? Join us as we explore the principles of non-Newtonian fluids and how they can help us help others. Target audience: Line Staff, Supervisors, Clerical Staff, Program Managers	Carla West Verna Donnelly	Hickory 4
6.	Exemplar Human Services	Customer Activities and Services Portal (CASPR)	The workshop will give attendees a live Customer Activities and Services Portal (CASPR) demonstration. 1.	Power of Partnership. Tri-County Collaboration (Dare, Forsyth, Rutherford Counties)	Dare: County Partnerships to Build Medicaid Processing Capacity Forsyth: Service Integration During a Crisis Rutherford: The Power of Collaboration	Dare County and Currituck County partnered to train new Income Maintenance Caseworkers in Medicaid. After completing the once-a-month, four-week training program, new staff returned to their assigned supervisor and began working on new Medicaid cases. Forsyth: During times of crisis, effective service integration and strong partnerships with community organizations are essential to provide comprehensive support to those in need. Forsyth County is committed to ensuring a seamless and coordinated response by leveraging the strengths of various community partners and integrating services to address the multifaceted needs of our residents. Rutherford: Participants will uncover innovative strategies and best practices for leveraging the power of collaboration, effectively maximizing resources, and enhancing service delivery in communities facing budgetary constraints and limited resources. Target audience: All attendees	Dare: Willier Spence, Amanda Dexter, Brittany Canter, Sondraya Norman Forsyth: Shantele Williams, Kimberly Chase Rutherford: Dee Hunt, Kandi Bridges	Catawba 4
2.	Child Welfare	Regional Director Support: A New Level of Support	In 2017, with the passage of Rylan’s Law, the state created Regional Director positions for each of the seven regions. The purpose of the regional directors was to add a layer of support to County Social Service agencies to help facilitate improved outcomes within Social Services, focused on the local DSS Director. This presentation will give participants an update on the development of the regional director program, establish goals and objectives, and set forth a vision for how regional director support can help drive data-driven strategies and increased performance management. Targeted Audience: DSS Directors, DSS Deputy Directors, DSS Program Managers, DSS Supervisors, State DHHS staff	Ben Rose Brenda Brown	Hickory 1
3.	Medicaid Compliance	“(TEAM) Together Everyone Achieves More: The Team-Based Approach to Root Cause Analysis”	“The Team-Based Approach to Root Cause Analysis” is a presentation that provides an in-depth exploration of the process of identifying the root cause of an adverse finding	Emily Clark, Medicaid Eligibility Audit Manager	Hickory 2

			and implementing internal control measures to mitigate the risk of recurrence. The presentation material will highlight various means of identifying a root cause and establishing an internal control process. This session will provide participants with the process and practices needed to improve and achieve accurate results. Target Audience: DSS Directors, Program Managers, Supervisors, Lead Workers, Line Staff
