Ronak is interested in business marketing/strategy, politics, public service, and foreign languages.

Interested in traveling the world and learning more about different cultures and societies, Ronak enjoys learning foreign languages. He uses his knowledge of foreign languages for the better of his community. This is why Ronak became the co-founder of Aprendalo.org, an online ESL tutoring service that caters to those who want to learn English but simply lack the means to pay for ESL lessons.

As the leader of Spanish Club and Democratic Society, Ronak enjoys being a student leader and organizer who comes up with fresh, new, innovative ways to tackle everyday problems. His podcasts and newspaper articles reflect his interest in politics, world cultures, and optimism for structural change.
