

One of Aprendalo's co-founders, Rhys Williams is an advanced language student with high-level proficiency in Spanish. He has taken multiple courses in the subject, including APs and worked with Ronak Shetty to develop the Aprendalo curriculum. While not a native Spanish speaker, he is continually refining his skills, which have yielded such honors from the National Spanish Examination and his school's Spanish Honor Society.