

Indy Fused Glass
PARTICIPANT
Release of Claims- Read It Carefully Before Signing

In consideration for the Indy Fused Glass studio (the "IFG") granting to me the permission to take part in any activity, glasswork or otherwise within the studio, use of the equipment for that class, I hereby release discharge, waive and agree to hold harmless the IFG and all its present, past or future officers, directors, employees, studio helpers, successors and assigns claims of property theft or damage, personal injury, death, or disability from or as a result of my participation or attendance in the IFG.

I agree only to use the equipment, machinery or engage in a process that I have been instructed on, and been approved to use in the safe and proper use of from the studio instructor. I agree that I will not use any equipment, machinery or take place in any process without an instructor or monitor present unless given permission to do so by the class instructor. I agree to return any and all equipment I use to its rightful place in good working condition.

I have carefully read the foregoing agreement, including the terms of the release. I understand and accept each of the terms set forth above and will abide by them. I further acknowledge that I am participating at my own risk.
