

Age Friendly Fairfax

Building a healthy and livable community for all!

A Fresh Start for January

Hello everyone,

As the New Year rolls in, here's hoping we bring the peace, joy and good will of the holidays with us into 2019! It's the perfect time to set intentions, write resolutions and put plans in place—on Jan 25th, we'll share scenarios we do and don't want to happen as we look ahead and plan for healthy aging in place. Hope to see you at one of our social or educational events this year!

The Age Friendly Fairfax Task Force: Jody Timms, Barbara Coler, David Weinsoff, Francie Bedinger, Anne Mannes, Kelsey Fernandez and Jackie Engstrom.

Aging in Fairfax, everybody's doing it!

Age Friendly Fairfax Forum

January 25th

1 to 2pm

Fairfax Library, 2097 Sir Francis Drake Blvd.

"Aging in Place with Grace"

Have you thought about your most, and least, preferred scenarios for how you'd like your later years to unfold? What would best support your health and personal care, finances, transportation needs, and living situation, etc. Thinking and planning ahead will help you control or manage the choices and decisions you do have as you age.

Upcoming Forums...

February 22: "Fire, Ambulance and Police Services" Handling medical or disaster emergencies when you are overwhelmed or possibly ill can be a real challenge. Come hear from trusted first responders on when it's appropriate (and why) to call 911, and what to expect. If an evacuation is needed due to a disaster (a fast moving fire for instance), how would you be notified and how can you be ready to go if that is mandated.

March 22: "Are My Ducks in a Row?Part One: Wills and Trusts" You've heard it's important to have a will or a trust. What are these documents and why do they matter? Join us for a discussion of legal documents to express your wishes for how your finances will be handled if you become ill or after your death. Planning now can give you peace of mind and avoid hassle, heartache and costs later. Come learn basics of estate planning from local attorney, Lisa Fialco.

March 29:"Resources for Veterans" Veteran volunteer, Mark Seely, will be available to meet with veterans and their families to discuss such issues as health, disability compensation, vocational rehabilitation and employment, education and training and VA life insurance. (1-4 pm)

Fairfax Recreation

Free classes for older adults such as beginners yoga, painting, singing, etc.
