

TJO Director's Report-First Quarter (Jan-Mar) 2021

Staffing It is a pleasure to report that TJO is currently fully staffed at the time of this report.

Budget Accompanying this report is an attachment for year to date budget expenditures.

COVID-19 TJO field services are at full service, with the exception of trying to restrict Animal Control Officer's entry into residences. TJO Center is at full service, but is available by appointment only, seven days each week. With appreciation to Springfield's Health and Human Services department, TJO staff members were offered vaccines as first responders. The vast majority, 73%, accepted and received a series of two Moderna vaccinations. We continually re-evaluate our COVID guidelines to help ensure a healthy work place as well as meet public needs.

State of Veterinary Medicine in Community Since the start of the pandemic, veterinary appointments have become highly inaccessible, often booking out three months or more. It is even direr for those that do not have a previously established relationship with a vet, as clinics are typically not accepting new clients. Emergency clinics are often overwhelmed and often have a wait of 5-10 hours or more. This current state has had a significant impact on TJO, as pet owners who are desperate for help for their sick/injured pets, or even for those seeking vaccinations, are turning to TJO for assistance. Keeping up with this additional demand has proven to be heart wrenching and time consuming, and is not sustainable. We provide community medical assistance when resources allow, but are exploring ways to integrate a more formal and sustainable program.

Laptops Through the CARES act, TJO animal control officers each received a rugged laptop and vehicle mount. These will allow for adequate social distancing and enable ACOs to look up and enter records in real time both in the shelter and in the field.

Oxygen Chamber TJO received a gift of an oxygen chamber from supporters Tonya and Rich Plumb of East Longmeadow, in memory of their dog Lili who was adopted from TJO in 2010. This advanced piece of medical equipment will allow us to better treat animals who arrive in respiratory distress such as those who survived house fires.

Director on MAC Board of Directors Pam Peebles has joined the board of directors of MA Animal Coalition (MAC). MAC leads efforts in Massachusetts to reduce the number of homeless, neglected, displaced and abused companion animals by supporting constructive communication and strategic collaboration among members of the animal welfare community.

NACA Award The National Animal Control Association has recognized the Animal Control Officers Association of MA (ACOAM) as the outstanding state animal control association of the year for 2020. ACO Julie Sanborn serves as ACOAM's vice president of western MA and is a key part of their success.

Shelter Animals Count TJO now participates in a national initiative to record and track data regarding all animals coming into shelters and their ultimate dispositions.

Continuing Education Animal Control Officers and our veterinarian are mandated to earn continuing education credits each year. Accumulated CE credits are reported to the MA Department of Agricultural Resources. In the first quarter, TJO staff attended seminars and/or webinars on the topics of; Dangerous Dog Cases; Shelter Population Trends; Community Medicine and Outreach; Bird Housing and Care; Assessing Pain and Quality of Life in Shelter Animals; Improving Public Safety by Stopping Animal Cruelty; and many, many more.

Fear Free Certification All TJO staff have become Fear Free Certified Professionals. We will soon be declared a Fear Free Facility. Fear Free facilities work to eliminate fear, anxiety, and stress and create an experience that is better and safer for all involved, including pets, owners, and shelter staff and volunteers. This internationally acclaimed program helps ensure that every person within an organization is practicing a Fear Free model. Fear Free has become one of the single most transformative initiatives in the history of companion animal practice and sheltering.

Media Due to the pandemic, our several weekly television and radio spots were cancelled. Western MA News did stories with TJO on; dog theft (2); conflicts with wildlife; and a cat rescue in Springfield. WWLP did a story with TJO on conflicts with wildlife. WAMC radio interviewed the director on the pandemic's effect on shelters. TJO is very active on social media and this has proven to be extremely beneficial to reach a large audience during COVID. We have interactive Facebook and Instagram accounts. Facebook is our most active with over 43,000 followers.

Next Supervisory Board Meeting The next meeting of the supervisory board has not been scheduled. Meetings have been paused since February of 2020 due to the pandemic.
