

REQUEST FOR PROPOSAL FOR BUILDING SERVICES

DEADLINE TO SUBMIT:
FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 8, 2024 AT 10:00 AM

INTRODUCTION

The City of New Buffalo invites interested parties to submit written proposals to provide contract, as-needed Building Official, Inspection and Plan Check services for the City of New Buffalo.

BACKGROUND

The City of New Buffalo is a city in southwest Berrien County in the U.S. state of Michigan which is located west of Kalamazoo, and northwest of South Bend, Indiana. In 2022, the population was 1,697 according to the census.

The city of New Buffalo came into being because of a violent October storm in 1834, when Captain Wessel D. Whittaker grounded his schooner Post Boy in the mouth of a small stream called State Creek near the present village of Grand Beach. The ship was destroyed, but Captain and crew survived the disaster and walked 15 miles south to Michigan City, to reach a settlement. There Whittaker hired a rig and headed north for St. Joseph to report the ship's loss to its underwriters. On his way up the coast, he was struck by advantages and beauty of the spot where the Galien River passed through Lake Potawatomi into Lake Michigan.

After completing his business in St. Joe and paying off his crew, he went by stagecoach to the land office in Kalamazoo, where he decided to acquire a large tract of land around the harbor mouth. He then returned home to Buffalo, New York, where he sold half interest to his employers, Jacob Barker and Nelson Willard for $13,000.00. They named their new city New Buffalo after their hometown of Buffalo, New York. On March 28, 1836, a year before Michigan became a state, the Village of New Buffalo was formed, and Alonzo Bennett became its first president.

The City has a council-manager form of government. A five-member City Council is the legislative and governing body of the City. All council members are elected at-large on a nonpartisan basis to serve four-year terms of office. The Mayor is selected, by the council, to serve in that capacity for two years. The City Manager is the chief administrative officer of the City and is appointed by the City Commission. All other administrative officers of the City are appointed by the City Manager except for the City Attorney, who is appointed by the City Council.

While the City is primarily built-out, there are many on-going projects, ranging from small residential additions to commercial tenant improvements to large-scale construction. Additionally, the City recently passed an ordinance allowing medicinal cannabis-related uses and building & safety services for these unique types of businesses may be necessary.
