First Name: DavidLast Name: CurtisEmail Address: [REDACTED]Phone Number: [REDACTED]Subject: Please do not extend the eviction moratorium.Message: We worked our entire lives to own one single family home in San Rafael. Now someone is living in our home for free. We need this rental income to live. What are we supposed to live on? This is simply unconstitutional.

First Name: DavidLast Name: CurtisEmail Address: [REDACTED]Phone Number: [REDACTED]Subject: Please do not extend eviction moratoriumMessage: News that the eviction moratorium may be extended until September is devastating to us. We depend on rental income, we have been trying to hang on until July 1, now we may have to survive until September? This is unconstitutional. We worked our whole life to afford one single family home. The city council has no right to deprive us of an income.

Now someone is living in our home for free. We need this rental income to survive. What are we supposed to live on for another 3 months? This is simply unconstitutional. How is it possible for a government to deprive us of the income we need to survive? Our tenants make more money than we do, they are taking advantage of this law.

Subject: Eviction Moratorium law is being abused by our wealthy tenants.

Message: The eviction moratorium is based on income, so wealthy tenants with no income are gaming the system. How is remotely constitutional in a government based on private property rights, that we are denied income from the property we own. I am a liberal democrat, but this poorly written law is turning me into a republican. And separately, how can both of the following co-exist simultaneously: 1. Business cannot find workers to fill job openings. 2. Workers cannot pay rent because they have no job
