Temporary Portable Sidewalk Sign

Design Goals

Imaginative and innovative sign designs are considered a community enhancement. Temporary Portable Sidewalk Signs, also known as Sandwich Board or A-frame Signs, (collectively "Signage") should be unique to Somerville, rather than generic, and should focus on identifying and locating businesses, promoting merchandise or services within, attracting customers, providing direction and information, and lending interest and liveliness to the streetscape. The goal is to avoid visual clutter by requiring consistency in the placement and design of signage.

The goal is to communicate effectively the message with the least amount of text and images, while attracting customers. Signage should provide information that is simple and legible, of a size and location that is attractive and, which complements and does not obscure the architecture of the building, and the quality of the downtown. Good Signage conveys a unique, positive, visual message about the community and what it offers, and promotes the economy. It should encourage downtown investment, new businesses, and vitality, while protecting downtown investment by ensuring that future downtown development will be held to the same high quality standard.

DOWNTOWN SOMERVILLE BUSINESS SIGNAGE

Everyone wants their business signs to stand out, so it's important to get things just right when designing your signage. After all - it's not just about making a great first impression - it's about making a lasting impression.

Follow these design tips to maximize your return on investment and get the positive attention your business deserves.

DESIGN TIPS TO GET YOUR BUSINESS SIGNS NOTICED

1. Be colorful

Never be afraid of color when it comes to your business signs. Nobody is remembered for being understated. Think about bold, contrasting colors to make people sit up and take notice.

2. Be succinct

Remember the less is more rule. An uncluttered sign will be more successful in the long run.

3. Be interesting

Great signage is about standing out, not trying to blend in with the surrounding environment. Make your business signage the most interesting thing around so that people see it even when they're not looking for it.

4. Be different

We all love something that brightens our day, so think about the entertainment value when it comes to your signs. A compelling or thought provoking message or graphic is going to get you noticed and have people keen to spread the word.

5. Be creative

Let your sign be a reflection of your enthusiasm and passion. Don't be afraid to try something new.
