News, Notes & Numbers

- ⇒ The Atlanta Vibe won their sixth match in a row with a sweep of Columbus on March 23. The streak is the third-longest in PVF history and the second-longest this season, behind Orlando's record nine-game run (Feb. 2-March 9). - ⇒ Atlanta's seven-game win streak also extended an impressive streak in the month of March for the Vibe. Over the PVF's first two seasons, Atlanta is 13-2 in March, which is the most wins in any month by a PVF team. Atlanta was 7-1 in March 2024, which included a five-match winning streak. The Vibe are 6-1 so far in March 2025, which includes their current six-game run.

PVF Championship Seeding Policies & Procedures

If, following the completion of regular season play, there are ties among the teams in the standings, the following tiebreakers shall be used to determine playoff seeding and/or postseason participation.

The teams with the highest winning percentages will be seeded one through four. If there are any ties among the teams with the four highest winning percentages, the following tiebreakers should be utilized to break all ties:

1. Match points totals. Teams will be assigned point totals during the regular season based on the scores of each match. Points are assigned as follows:
  - a. 3 points for winning a match by the score of 3-0 or 3-1
  - b. 2 points for winning a match by the score of 3-2
  - c. 1 point for losing a match by the score of 2-3
2. Head-to-head results for all matches played amongst the tied teams
3. Sets ratio [Sets won divided by sets lost] for regular season matches only
4. Points ratio [Points won divided by points lost] for regular season matches only
5. Coin toss

In the event the tiebreakers are reduced to a coin toss, each team involved would be permitted to have a representative as part of the coin toss process, which will be held in person with league representatives or via video meeting in a timely manner the same day as the last regular season match is final.

If more than two teams have the same exact winning percentage after the regular season, the tiebreakers shall be used until one team is eliminated, at which point the tiebreaker between the remaining teams reverts to the first tiebreaker and the process continues until one team remains. If one team wins a multiple-team tiebreaker and is seeded, the remaining teams with an identical winning percentage go through the tiebreakers in a similar fashion until there is a single winner among the tied teams.

Team Shondell Wins Inaugural PVF All-Star Match

The inaugural Pro Volleyball Federation All-Star Match lived up to its billing, and then some. In front of a thrilled capacity crowd of 6,943 on Saturday at Fishers Event Center in Fishers, Indiana. The Team Shondell All-Stars, coached by Purdue University volleyball coach Dave Shondell, defeated Team Collier coached by Georgia Tech's Michelle Collier by a total point score of 58-47.

But the magnitude of the event reached far beyond the final score. The All-Star Match was the first women's pro volleyball match to be shown on a traditional American over-the-air network with PVF broadcast partner CBS. Those tuning in and in the stands were treated to a high-intensity match highlighting the extreme athleticism of the players competing.

"The level of play today, I thought was remarkable," winning coach Shondell said. "For them to go out and play with the intensity and focus and the cohesion, it was just fun to be a part of. It was just a thrill."

While the match was played in a traditional three-set format on the home court of the Indy Ignite, the winning team was determined by overall points. After winning the first sets 25-22 and 25-20, Team Shondell needed only to reach eight points in the third set to clinch the victory. That came when Shondell's squad took an 8-5 lead to make the final score 58-47. The teams completed the third set anyway, with Team Shondell securing the sweep with a 15-10 triumph.

While the competitive spirit was high between the two teams, so was the level of enjoyment. "It's really fun to play with people you typically play across the net from," Team Collier libero Morgan Hentz of the Atlanta Vibe said. "Just such a high level of play and high level of talent, it's been a blast. I'm really happy to get to do something like this and showcase our sport to the world, especially young, aspiring volleyball players. We didn't have this growing up and get to see it, so we're glad to have that first meeting to showcase our sport."

And that, after all, was the primary reason for this first of an expected many PVF All-Star Matches, to present the energy, athleticism and excitement of women's volleyball to an eager, growing audience.

"That's why this is so important," Team Shondell setter Alisha Childress of the Vegas Thrill said. "It's why having a league here in the U.S. is so important, it's why treating the league with the utmost respect and having an All-Star game and getting it on a major broadcast station on CBS [is important]."

"We want to continue this not just this year, but for years and years to come. We feel that energy; we can feel that that's what we're doing here. We're older and we're playing, and to see the younger generation get to look up to us, it's our responsibility but it's one we take very seriously to make sure they see volleyball at a high level all the way."
