The Christ of Christmas (p. 32)

JAMES MONTGOMERY BOICE

The Christmas story evokes many touching images. Halos, fresh hay, shepherds carrying newborn lambs, and young motherhood in blue homespun. It's enough to bring tears to the eyes of Christmastime churchgoers.

But the Christmas story is more than sentimental—it is powerful. It deals with real people, it involves pain, and it is one of the most strikingly unusual stories in all history.

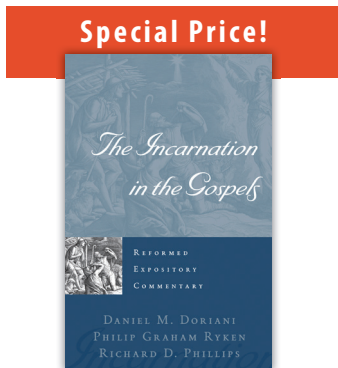

Above all, its main emphasis is not on the infancy of Jesus but on the deity of Jesus—and why that deity took the form of an infant. It's a story that still has deep meaning today.

"For those who wish to celebrate the birth of Christ in a thoughtful and festive way, James Boice has written an excellent guide. The perfect way to reflect on the true meaning behind the historic birth of Jesus Christ!"

Big Beliefs!

Small Devotionals Introducing Your Family to Big Truths

EDITED BY DAVID R. HELM

It is a wonderful privilege to watch children start to grasp the precious truths of Scripture. Parents may hope to see this in a family devotion time, only to become overwhelmed and exhausted by the daily difficulties involved. We need help! Recognizing this, Pastor David Helm has written a devotional expressly intended to enable parents to succeed and children to grow in grace and knowledge. Three weekly readings accompanied by suggested Scripture passages introduce and simply explain thirty-three key theological concepts found in the Westminster Confession of Faith (included in its entirety, in modern English). Questions following each reading will help you start a conversation about what you have learned each day. This nonthreatening, encouraging devotional will make a comprehensive beginning to your child's understanding of Christianity's big beliefs.

Outstanding Features

- Helps parents to establish meaningful family devotion times throughout the week.
- Explains in accessible ways thirty-three key theological concepts of the Christian faith.
- Provides conversation starters for hesitant parents to encourage discussion and apply the lessons.

Endorsements

"Big Beliefs is a great book, and here's why: (1) it's faithful, telling children the truth about God, his Word, and what his people must believe; (2) it's substantive, not dumbing down doctrine to present it to children; (3) it's realistic, providing language, illustrations, and lesson length that will work for real families who have real children. When parents want to teach their children the main points of a classic confession such as the Westminster Confession of Faith (as all parents should), they will find a great resource in Big Beliefs."

The Revolt

A Novel in Wycliffe's England

DOUGLAS BOND

As a secretary at the battle of Crécy, Hugh West'all has come close to death. But when he meets John Wycliffe, he embraces a mission even more exciting—and just as dangerous: translating the Bible into English, the language of the common people. Hugh's work helps him to understand the Gospel even as a corrupt and decadent church plots to choke Wycliffe's translation—and silence him forever.

Douglas Bond is the author of a number of books of historical fiction and biography. He and his wife have two daughters and four sons. Bond is an elder in the Presbyterian Church of America, a teacher, a conference speaker, and a leader of church history tours. Visit his website at www.bondbooks.net.

Outstanding Features

- Weaves its plot around the unusual formative college years of a significant figure of church history.
- Explores Wycliffe's story through two very different characters—a bookish scholar and a commoner—providing contrasting, yet relatable, viewpoints.
- Includes well-researched and gripping action scenes for historical fiction readers interested in battles.

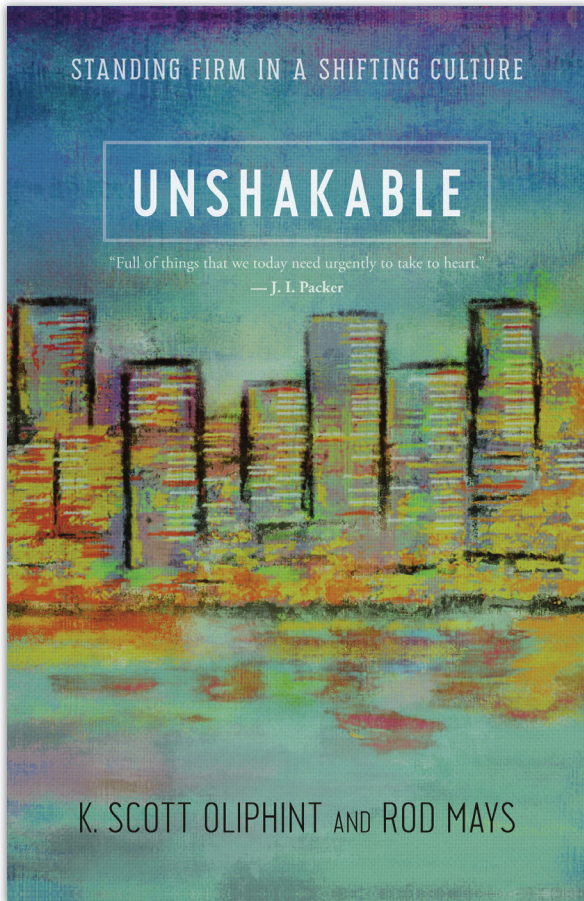

Endorsement

"The gilded histories often fail to note how extraordinary times invade ordinary lives. Douglas Bond paints the days of John Wycliffe in full color, showing that the Morningstar rose over filthy streets and jaded lives—and brought real hope to hearts in bondage."

—Jeremiah W. Montgomery, Pastor of Resurrection Orthodox Presbyterian Church, State College, Pennsylvania; Author of The Dark Harvest trilogy

"In The Revolt, Douglas Bond uses his unique writing style to produce a highly readable imagining of the travails of John Wycliffe, the 14th century 'heretic' who dared to make the eternal truths of the Bible accessible to the marginalized people group of his day: English peasants. This vivid and exciting narrative reminds us of the very real challenges to Bible translation over the centuries, and of the importance in carrying out the work he started."

Standing Firm in a Shifting Culture

K. SCOTT OLIPHINT & ROD MAYS

In today's society, many teeter on the shaky ground of relativistic postmodernism. In contrast, Christians stand firmly on objective truth, clinging to a lasting treasure that cannot fade or disappoint. Rod Mays and K. Scott Oliphint delve into John Newton's great hymn "Glorious Things of Thee Are Spoken"—and into the gospel truth of Scripture behind it—showing how it brings timeless, biblical answers to issues that daily press us in our Christian walk. Includes discussion questions. Previously published by Crossway as Things That Cannot Be Shaken.

K. Scott Oliphint (MAR, ThM, PhD, Westminster Theological Seminary) is professor of apologetics and systematic theology at Westminster Seminary, Philadelphia. He has written numerous journal articles in the field of apologetics and is a world authority on the works of Cornelius Van Til. Among his many books are The Battle Belongs to the Lord and Reasons for Faith.

Rod Mays is executive pastor at Mitchell Road Presbyterian Church in Greenville and serves as an adjunct professor of practical theology at Reformed Theological Seminary, Charlotte. He was previously the national coordinator of Reformed University Fellowship (RUF).

Resolving Conflict

How to Make, Disturb, and Keep Peace

LOU PRIOLO

Often Christians try to avoid conflict—but many of the Bible’s interpersonal exhortations make conflict a necessity. Lou Priolo takes us through the biblical principles of conflict resolution, showing us what we need before, during, and after conflict. He also shares practical steps and advice, including specific talking points to help resolve conflict and journaling ideas for learning from it.

Lou Priolo is the founder and president of Competent to Counsel International and is an instructor with Birmingham Theological Seminary. He has been a full-time biblical counselor since 1985 and is a fellow of the Association of Certified Biblical Counselors. Lou lives in Birmingham, Alabama, with his wife, Kim, and his daughters, Sophia and Gabriella.

John Bunyan and the Grace of Fearing God

JOEL R. BEEKE AND PAUL M. SMALLEY

What brings out the best in believers? Living in tumultuous times, John Bunyan struggled with doubt, guilt, fear, and despair, terrified by biblical descriptions of God’s wrath. But he changed dramatically when he discovered and embraced a Christ-trusting, godly fear of the Lord. Joel Beeke and Paul Smalley explore Bunyan’s writings on this surprising “grace of fear,” showing its necessity and positive transforming power.

Joel R. Beeke is president of Puritan Reformed Theological Seminary, where he also serves as professor of systematic theology and homiletics. He is a pastor of the Heritage Netherlands Reformed Congregations in Grand Rapids, Michigan.

Paul Smalley is a member of Grace Immanuel Reformed Baptist Church. He served as a pastor for twelve years, and presently works as a teaching assistant to Dr. Joel Beeke at Puritan Reformed Theological Seminary

Endorsements

“Israelite midwives exhibited it, the psalms are full of it, wisdom requires it, Jesus emphasized it, the apostles encouraged it—and yet few things are more feared in contemporary Christianity than . . . the fear of God. In this timely book, Joel Beeke and Paul Smalley show how, in contrast, it was the heartbeat of John Bunyan, one of the most loved and admired of all Christians, and the author of the all-time best selling Christian book. Here is proof—if any is needed—to confirm C. H. Spurgeon’s famous comment on Bunyan: ‘Prick him anywhere—his blood is Bibles, the very essence of the Bible flows from him.’ Read these pages and you will learn the truth that: ‘They love thee little, if at all, Who do not fear thee much; If love is thine attraction, Lord, Fear is thy very touch.’”

Sinclair B. Ferguson, *Dean, Doctor of Ministry program
Ligonier Academy of Biblical and Theological Studies*

“We have come to expect fine introductions to the Puritans from Joel Beeke, and this book does not disappoint. Here we get to see both the life and heart of John Bunyan, and through them we enjoy a rich, sensitive, and well-applied exposition of an important and much-neglected theme: the fear of the Lord. May God use this book to stir up a new generation of Bunyans who fear God and not man.”

Prophet, Priest, and King

The Roles of Christ in the Bible and Our Roles Today

RICHARD P. BELCHER JR.

Richard Belcher explores the Old Testament to define the basic functions of prophets, priests, and kings through an analysis of key texts. He then explains how these offices are fulfilled in Christ, understood in the context of his humiliation and exultation. A nuanced view of Christ's work through these offices points us to how the church, its leaders, and individual believers also fulfill these roles. Includes study questions.

Sons in the Son

The Riches and Reach of Adoption in Christ

DAVID B. GARNER

What does being adopted in God's Son really mean for Paul's conception of redemptive grace? Sons in the Son examines the function of this permeating familial concept in terms of Pauline thought: Christology, eschatology, union with Christ, and adoption's relationship to other benefits for believers. Drawing from a biblico-theological investigation of the adoption texts, Garner explores how adoption frames Pauline soteriology and defines the central familial context of redemption.

David B. Garner (BS, University of North Carolina; ThM, Dallas Theological Seminary; PhD, Westminster Theological Seminary) is Associate Professor of Systematic Theology at Westminster Theological Seminary and Pastor of Teaching at Proclamation Presbyterian Church (PCA) in Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania.

Endorsements

"The jazzy-looking, though admirably apt, title of Dr. Garner's treatise proclaims him to be following, indeed reinstating, John Calvin's exact insight into Paul's account of adoption as a central category in both Trinitarian Christology and covenantal soteriology. This is something that post-Puritan Reformed teaching for three centuries, strangely, has not always made fully clear, and it is high time that the record be set straight. Though at times heavy sledding (after all, a doctoral thesis went into its making), this book is a gem: a precious mind-clearing, heartwarming achievement that I cannot commend too highly."

—James I. Packer, Board of Governors Professor of Theology, Regent College

"Reading Sons in the Son is like putting on a new set of glasses that enables the reader to see the glistening beauty of God's grace of adoption throughout the entirety of his salvation plan. Garner clearly and convincingly traces the adoption of God anchored in his loving purposes from eternity past, enacted through the adoption of Israel, assured by the ascension of Jesus as the adopted Son of God in power, and anticipated by all sons who are joined to the Son. This book both challenged my mind and melted my heart."

—Nancy Guthrie, Bible teacher and author of the Seeing Jesus in the Old Testament series

"Sons in the Son is a scholarly, faithful exposition of the doctrine of adoption that demonstrates adoption's crucial character in the drama of redemption. It's a valuable resource for any Christian wanting to exult in God's purpose in making us sons and daughters and joint heirs with Christ."

Song of Songs

Reformed Expository Commentary series

IAIN M. DUGUID

Should we read Song of Songs as romantic poetry—or as an allegory? Should some people even read it at all? Pastor-scholar Iain Duguid steers a middle way between allegorical and literal approaches, and shows that this book's celebration of the love between a man and woman not only shapes Christians' thinking about human relationships but reveals the love that Christ has for his bride, the church.

Iain M. Duguid (PhD, University of Cambridge) is professor of Old Testament at Westminster Theological Seminary, Philadelphia. He has written numerous works of biblical exposition, including Esther & Ruth in the Reformed Expository Commentary series, Ezekiel in the NIV Application Commentary series, and Numbers in the Preaching the Word series.

Outstanding Features

- Steers a well-reasoned middle way through the different proposed interpretations of the text of Song of Songs.
- Addresses a wide audience in many stages of life, making this a warm, accessible companion for anyone who is devotionally reading or studying this book of the Bible.
- Applies pastoral truths gleaned from a theologically conservative and Christ-centered viewpoint.

Endorsements

"So is the Song of Songs really about sex or Jesus? Iain Duguid steers a wise and pastoral path between those simplistic choices. He demonstrates how this poetic book on the excellencies of human love is not merely a practical marriage guide nor an allegorical representation of the coming Christ. Rather, this book is the best song of all songs because it provides divinely inspired insights into the blessings and weaknesses of human love in order to point us toward the goodness and necessity of the grace of God, whose love is perfected in Christ alone."

Bryan Chapell, Pastor, Grace Presbyterian Church, Peoria, Illinois

"This book helps us. As a wise and seasoned pastor, Iain gently weeps with us in our broken search for false loves. Yet he strongly rouses our affections to the One whose love is true, satisfying, lasting, romantic, and alluring."
