> LEARN

More than 200,000 members are in high school and college classrooms studying marketing, entrepreneurship, finance, hospitality and management.

DECA brings their learning to life by enabling them to apply their knowledge in realistic business scenarios. Top performing members from local and district qualifying rounds will travel to San Antonio to compete at DECA's state level of competition.

> PREPARE

While in San Antonio, DECA members will be given a case study that requires them as a team or individually to quickly solve a problem. DECA members participating in written events will prepare to deliver their presentations that they have been perfecting for nearly six months.

> PRESENT

Each DECA member will present their case study solutions, business plans or projects to judges in their respective areas of competition hoping to make a lasting impression. As a judge you will evaluate innovative ideas from forward-thinking DECA members while expanding your professional network and impacting the lives of our

> WIN

DECA members anxiously wait to hear if their name is called as a winner in their competitive event during our high-energy grand awards session.
