

HAWK Headlines 1.1.625

Winter is a challenging time of year to stay motivated. With the extreme cold weather and dark mornings, it is easy to stay in bed! But, this is also an important time of year for our learners to be in school. This is a critical time of year where key content is presented and learners are absorbing information and skills they will be asked to show on upcoming state assessments. Though it might be challenging, we ask for your continued commitment to getting your learners to school. We appreciate your support!
