January 2019

Respect yourself.
Respect others.
Respect this place.

Dear A+ Families,

We kicked off the 2018-19 school year with a #dreambigfinishstrong theme. Collectively, as a team, we have diligently worked to meet the needs of our students academically, socially, and emotionally through many of the changes we have made to structures and routines in our building. Thus far, we have focused on #dreambig with our goal setting efforts, Recess for All, WIN time, collaboration, and of course, our commitment to arts embedded learning. All these elements have contributed to student growth.

As we approach the 2nd Semester, I want to encourage our team to continue to #dreambig, as well as, #finishstrong. Our work here will not be complete until we cross the finish line on May 21st. Until then, we encourage you to read with your student(s) on a regular basis, work on fact fluency using dice and/or cards, write a letter to a family member, have conversation about college and career aspirations, enjoy the arts, and most of all – be supportive of your students' hopes and dreams.

Together, we will, #dreambigfinishstrong!

Regards,
Mrs. McDaniel

“See Something, Say Something” and “StandUp!”

by Dr. Brian Maher, Superintendent

The start of a new year is always a good time to reflect on the past and renew our commitments for the future. For many adults, those commitments might be to a healthier lifestyle, stronger relationships, or a better work/life balance. For students, those commitments might be to improve attendance, nudge up a grade in one of their most challenging courses, or simply to spread more kindness in the hallways and classrooms of their schools.

May I also suggest that the start of a new year is also a great time to renew our commitment to school safety and to the wellness of our students and staff? Following several large-scale incidents, the Office of Homeland Security adopted the slogan “See Something, Say Something.” It is a simple, but memorable phrase that we are called to remember when something we see or hear makes us uneasy. It is a reminder that each of us plays an important part in the prevention of things that can easily sidetrack students and take them down paths that rarely lead to successful completion of high school – things like drugs, alcohol, gun violence, bullying, and so much more.

Without a doubt, the “See Something, Say Something” slogan has resulted in the early intervention of hundreds of potential safety concerns in the Sioux Falls School District over the past several years. Students, staff and parents are reporting conversations they’ve heard, social media posts they’ve seen, and sometimes just “hunches” they get when something doesn’t seem right.

Your schools – along with the help of our School Resource Officers provided by the City of Sioux Falls – extensively investigate each concern. Staff spends a considerable amount of time each day building positive relationships with students so that when a concern arises, there is trust and understanding. In addition, the Sioux Falls School District also joined Project StandUp for School Safety – a statewide online tip tool where concerns can be reported either anonymously or by leaving your name.

Even with these actions, this is work we cannot do alone. We need parents, students, and every member of our community to step up to play a role in prevention. By working together, we can be more successful at keeping our students safe.

2nd and 3rd Grade Winter Concert

True Colors

Dear 2nd and 3rd Grade Parents and Students,

Hello from the music room! Our concert will soon be here, and this letter will hopefully answer questions you may have regarding the big event! Our concert is scheduled for Tuesday, January 29th, with a matinee at 8:30am that morning and a 7:00pm evening performance.

This concert is for all second and third graders. Since the theme of the concert is TRUE COLORS, students are encouraged to wear brightly colored clothing without writing or pictures on it. The brighter the better—some examples might be: red pants, with a bright blue shirt and an orange scarf, or a yellow skirt, with a green top, and purple leggings! Make those colors wild! Polka dots, stripes, etc. are fine, again, just no pictures or writing. The night of the concert the students should report to the band room NO LATER THAN 6:45pm. Please have students leave their coats with you BEFORE reporting to the band room. That way they can be dismissed right from the gym after the concert.

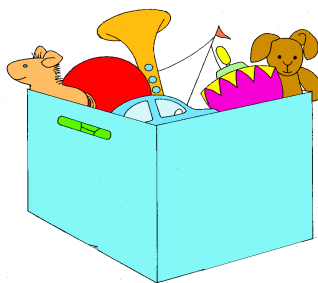

If you have any questions or concerns, please feel free to contact me at 367-6160 or email me at Laura.Tjaden@k12.sd.us Thank you for encouraging your child to participate in the arts! See you on January 29th!

Sincerely,

Mrs. Laura

Attention EFA+ Families!

Isabelle Huffman, a fourth grader at EFA+ is organizing a toy drive for Sanford Children's Hospital. She is asking EFA+ families to please consider donating toys that are new or gently used and in good working condition. Some suggestions are board games, baby toys, dolls, barbies, and stuffed animals.

There will be bins placed throughout the school for items to be placed in. Items will be collected from January 14th until January 24th. Isabelle hopes to collect a total of 300 toys! Let's help her reach her goal while helping children at Sanford Children's!

When was the last time you talked with your child about what they do on their devices? Have you screened the games they play online? Have you looked at the apps they are using? Although we want to give our children privacy, it is important that parents screen what children are doing online and on their devices. Unfortunately, our children are exposed to content that is not appropriate for their age and developmental level, therefore cannot appropriately navigate.

Youtube has become a popular pastime for kids. They often watch videos of other people playing video games, listen and view music videos, and follow Youtube stars. You may be aware of one Youtube star Logan Paul who recently made the news because he posted an inappropriate video that exposed a lot of young children to the reality of suicide. Logan has apologized for the video, but the impact of his actions can not be taken back. There have also been Youtube stars that do dangerous stunts to get views, and people get seriously hurt. The trouble with Youtube stars is it's reality and children don't always view it that way. Since this content is on a screen they don't see it as real and view it as fantasy. They don't understand that it's real people getting injured. At times children will mimic what they see on the screen because to them it's fantasy and no one really got hurt, they view it as fake.

Children also watch fan videos of characters from video games; one to be on the watch for is Mr. Bendy. Mr. Bendy is a character in a horror video game. You can google him and find videos of him dancing and singing, and although it looks cute and innocent, this character is actually singing about killing and stabbing people for revenge. Heavy exposure to violent media can lead to desensitization. Children may not feel shock or distress at scenes of cruelty or violence when there is an overexposure to this content. Five Nights at Freddy's although may seem milder is still a horror game. Five Nights at Freddy's utilizes jumpscare and tension in replace of blood and guts. This makes the content too intense for young children.

A way to combat this if your children are watching this kind of Youtube content is to talk about the reality of the choices being made. If your child is watching fan videos involving characters from horror video games explain to them that in reality these actions would have serious consequences. In the end, take time to explain to your child the difference between reality and fantasy.

EUGENE FIELD SCIENCE FAIR

Dear Eugene Field Families:

The Eugene Field PTA will hold our annual Science Fair on February 26 at 6:30 p.m. WE WILL DISTRIBUTE SIGN-UP FORMS IN LATE JANUARY. For any students that would like to begin to explore project ideas or start on a project that requires more time, we would like to provide some early general information and tips/hints

First, the general information:

- All students in grades K-5 are invited and encouraged to participate. Each student can participate as an individual or as a 2- person team. All participants will receive a certificate and ribbon.
- We will again formally participate in the Washington Pavilion Science Fair Showcase this year. This means that we will be submitting applications on behalf of the first-prize winners for 3rd, 4th and 5th grade. The Washington Pavilion Science Fair Showcase will be held on Saturday, May 11.
- The Eugene Field Science Fair is a showcase for students that would like to explore and share their interest in science. We will also judge and select 1st, 2nd, and 3rd place winners for grades 3rd – 5th only. Students from grades 3rd to 5th can elect not to be judged.
- Students can showcase and present a research project, an investigation, or an experiment, but only experiments are eligible for judging.

- Research: A research project primarily involves library or online research. The student(s) identifies a topic of interest and gathers as much information about the topic as possible. The information is organized on a presentation board.

Example: The explosive effect of combining baking soda and vinegar.

- Experiment: An experiment is a process that is used to test the validity of a hypothesis (a researched “guess” or prediction) that helps you find an answer to your scientific question. A student needs to state the question, a hypothesis, conduct a test or series of tests, gather data, present data and draw a conclusion.

Example: (Question) Will adding other substances like salt or water increase or decrease the effect of combining baking soda and vinegar? (Hypothesis) Adding salt or water will decrease the explosive effect of combining baking soda and vinegar. (Test) Conduct tests with the various combinations. (Data) Record what happens with each combination. (Results) Organize pictures, photos or charts that show your analysis of data. (Conclusion) Was your hypothesis correct? Describe what you learned and why you think your tests turned out the way that they did.

- Invention: An invention project requires that a student(s) develop a unique way to accomplish a task.

Example: I will build something that will use the explosive effect of combining baking soda and vinegar to “motor” a model car.

Second, some tips and hints:

- Where do I find an idea for a project?
 - Choose a topic that you find interesting! If you have a science question, and you really, really want to know the answer – you are on the right track! Love Star Wars? Explore project ideas about lights and lasers. Love creepy crawlies? Look for projects that grow mold or bacteria (safely). Love art? Look for projects that involve combining or splitting color. Computer searches or visits to the library can generate endless ideas!
 - Use online science fair tools! Two great sources that can provide some inspiration (and steps) include www.sciencebuddies.org and www.education.com/science-fair.
- Where can I find materials and supplies?
 - For the experiment: Many experiments can be conducted using materials that you already have at home. If not, we may be able to help you borrow materials that you need or borrow access to equipment through various supporters of our young scientists. Please email Helen at Helen.koliner@gmail.com if you would like to explore a “borrow” option.

SD Prairie Books!

October 2018

Dear Parents / Guardians,

The South Dakota Children's Book Awards encourage students in grades K-5 to read and vote for their favorite books of the year. This year three children's choice award categories are offered for different grade levels. The Prairie Bud Award is designed for students in grades K-1. This award encourages students to read and vote for their favorite books from a list of ten nominated titles. The awards are sponsored by the South Dakota Library Association, and titles are selected for their quality and potential popularity with children by South Dakota librarians and educators.

Your child can vote for the SD Children's Book Awards at school, online at home, or in any of the Siouxland Public Libraries for any book they have read or have had read to them from their grade level list. We will read some of the books in school as well as vote in school during the final weeks of March 2019. An award is given to the top book receiving the most votes from students throughout all of South Dakota. The reading of Prairie Book nominees officially begins in the fall with each new school year. However, if your child has previously read a book, it will count for this purpose. Participating in this process will help expose your child to a broad range of books, authors, genres, etc.!

Each of the books will be available for check out from our school library and any of the Siouxland public libraries. A special thank you to our PTA for assistance in providing multiple copies of each title this year! Please, encourage your child to help select the best children's books of the year in South Dakota by reading Prairie Award Books.
