FAQs

What is a fractional share?

A fractional share is less than one share.

Are there any tax obligations?

The recipient does not need to pay tax at the time of redeeming the Gift Card. As fractional shares are an investment product, tax may apply to your investment with Upstreet upon sale.

Can I give a gift card to someone under 18?

Yes. You can send a gift card to someone under the age of 18. If a person under the age of 18 receives a Gift Card, we require their guardian to redeem the gift card on their behalf. The guardian must also be an Australian resident for tax purposes. The under 18 year old receiver will then be able to view their gift(s) in a special part of the guardian's account.

Can I send a gift to someone living overseas?

Yes, however, in order to redeem a Gift Card, a recipient must be an Australian resident for tax purposes.

Can the recipient withdraw the fractional shares?

Yes, the recipient may sell their fractional shares through Upstreet by emailing support@upstreet.co. Limitations apply. See the PDS <https://www.upstreet.co/product-disclosure-statement> for more details.

Is there a limit to the value and number of gift cards which can be redeemed by a person?

Yes. There is a limit of $1,000 for each individual gift card. A person is limited to redeeming a maximum of $10,000 in any three (3) months. If this limit is exceeded, the Gift Card will not be able to be redeemed and the user must wait until they will be over the time limit.

What is the expiry date of my gift card?

All Gift Cards expire 36 months (i.e. 3 years) from the date of purchase if the gift cards are not redeemed. See our terms and conditions for more information.
