Jeff Zinn

On the match

"I thought it was a good college match. I wish it was outside, Mother Nature didn't help us. I think they are a better indoor court team than us. We battled hard, give them all the credit, they played well. We played really well at certain points, and they played really well in certain positions. Having four match points in doubles and losing really takes the wind out of your sails. [However], I thought we came back in singles and played really well. Good for them, they have some good fighters, veteran guys on their team that know how to win. We are a little young still, but I am really proud of my team. They played really well."

On the match

"It was a really tough match. We somehow squeaked the doubles out which really helped. Last time they beat us pretty bad in doubles, so that was the factor today. Our team has to win that doubles point. They played really well and were outplaying us, but we got through it. Our guys were able to settle down after that and played very well."

Adam Steinberg

On the comeback in doubles after being down three match points

"We were down forty-love there and that was unbelievable, especially being indoors. In college tennis you see all kinds of crazy things all the time. Those guys are fighters, and they needed that. They weren't playing their best and got through it."
