- Record: 8-9
- First Game: 1893 – Won vs. Butler 96-0
- Last Game: 2006 – Won vs. Wisconsin 24-3
- In 1967: The consensus was that Purdue overlooked Oregon State for its Homecoming game. Six turnovers and suspect special teams play cost the Boilermakers in a 22-14 loss at Ross-Ade Stadium. It was a non-conference game, so all was not lost. The Boilermakers still were undefeated in the Big Ten Conference and had their sights set on the league championship.
- Noteworthy: On this date in 2000, Wisconsin attempted a 58-yard field goal on the opening possession of overtime. Redshirt freshman defensive tackle Craig Terrill blocked it, and the football was recovered by junior cornerback Ashante Woodyard, who raced 36 yards into the end zone to give the Boilermakers a remarkable 30-24 victory at Camp Randall Stadium in Madison. Wisconsin led 17-14 in the third quarter when senior quarterback Drew Brees connected with sophomore wide receiver Seth Morales on a 78-yard bomb that pushed Purdue in front 21-17. On that play, Brees became the Big Ten Conference career passing yards leader, overtaking Chuck Long of Iowa (1981-85). The win was the Boilermakers' sixth of the season, qualifying them for their fourth bowl berth in as many seasons under head coach Joe Tiller. More importantly, it put them in the driver's seat for the Big Ten championship and Rose Bowl berth, which became their ultimate destination.

JOE TILLER: 1942-2017

- Joe Tiller, one of the most beloved and popular figures in Purdue Athletics history, passed away Sept. 30 at the age of 74 in Buffalo, Wyoming.
- Tiller served as the Boilermakers' head football coach from 1997 to 2008. The winningest coach in school history, he posted an 87-62 record, including 53-43 in Big Ten Conference games.

Tiller's 149 games coached are the most in Purdue annals.

- Prior to Tiller's hiring in November of 1996, Purdue football had played in a total of five bowl games. In the preceding 15 years, the Boilermakers managed merely a 54-107-5 record.
- Tiller introduced the spread offense to Purdue, featuring three, four, even five wide receivers and forcing defenses to cover the field from sideline to sideline. It was a radical change from the smash-mouth Big Ten style and, in the basketball-crazed state of Indiana, was dubbed affectionately "basketball on grass."
- The result was 10 bowl games, including the 2001 Rose Bowl, an average of more than seven wins per season and a Big Ten championship in 2000.
- Tiller coached 53 Purdue players who went on to the National Football League, six All-Americans and two Academic All-Americans.
- Tiller was recognized as the 1997 Big Ten and national Coach of the Year.
- In addition to the Rose Bowl, the Boilermakers played in the 1997 Alamo, 1998 Alamo, 2000 Outback, 2001 Sun, 2002 Sun, 2004 Capital One, 2004 Sun, 2006 Champs Sports and 2007 Motor City bowls.

HONORING BOB DEMOSS

- Throughout the 2017 season, the Boilermakers are honoring Bob DeMoss, the patriarch of the Cradle of Quarterbacks and a member of the Purdue Intercollegiate Athletics Hall of Game with a helmet sticker and a flag atop section 101 of Ross-Ade Stadium. DeMoss, a former Boilermaker quarterback and head coach, passed away July 23 at age 90.

- DeMoss initially gained fame as a freshman at Purdue in 1945. He helped the Boilermakers win their first four games and move into the national rankings at No. 9. Their next opponent was fourth-ranked Ohio State on Oct. 20 in Columbus. Purdue raced to a 28-0 lead and went on to an improbable 35-13 victory before 73,585 fans, the most ever to watch the Boilermakers at that time.
- DeMoss went on to be Purdue's primary quarterback through 1948, passing for 2,759 yards and 23 touchdowns during his career, and then played professionally with the New York Bulldogs in 1949.
- DeMoss subsequently embarked on a 42-year tenure at Purdue as an assistant coach (1950-69), head coach (1970-72) and assistant athletics director (1973-92). Along the way, he recruited and developed many members of the Cradle - Dale Samuels, Len Dawson, Bob Griese, Mike Phipps and Gary Danielson - earning fame as a "quarterback architect."
- DeMoss was the last quarterback to coach the Boilermaker until head coach Jeff Brohm.

FOOTBALL PERFORMANCE COMPLEX

- The football performance complex, which is located adjacent to the north end of the Mollenkopf Athletic Center, was completed in August of 2017.
- The three-level structure - amassing 112,000 square feet - includes a locker room, team meeting room, position group meeting rooms, player development room, weight room, sports medicine and hydrotherapy area, nutrition station, and coaches' and support staff offices, as well as a grand entrance lobby showcasing the Boilermakers' history and tradition.
- The state-of-the-art complex has significantly enhanced the football student-athlete experience. In addition to the first-class amenities, having all of them located in one facility results in more efficient use of the student-athletes' time. Previously, football-related facilities were housed in multiple buildings.

- A $65 million project, the football performance complex was designed by Populous, while construction was managed by the Hunt Construction Group. The groundbreaking ceremony took place April 15, 2016 – with 11 Purdue Super Bowl champions in attendance – and construction took 16 months. The facility was dedicated Sept. 8, 2017.

Media Luncheon in Chicago over the summer.

- Blough was selected by the conference as the student-athlete keynote speaker for the luncheon and was given five minutes to talk about his platform as a student-athlete.
- Blough received a standing ovation after delivering a message about football teaching life. He mentioned how football challenges individuals to rise above adversity and work with the diversity within their communities or locker rooms.
- Blough also touched on his service trips to South Africa where he and teammates have worked at an orphanage.

LEGENDS RACE

- On Sept. 23, the first Purdue Football Legends Race took place.
- The Legends Race features likenesses of four Boilermaker greats – quarterbacks Drew Brees and Bob Griese, halfback Leroy Keyes, and defensive back Rod Woodson – and will occur at the end of the first quarter of all home games.
- Keyes came from behind to win in the inaugural race before Brees won during the Minnesota game.

BLOUGH'S SUMMER WITH THE MANNINGS

- Junior quarterback David Blough spent time this summer working at the Manning Passing Academy in Thibodaux, Louisiana. He was selected by a panel that included Archie Manning.
- At the camp, which was in its 22nd year, counselors worked extensively with the younger campers, from 1-on-1 instruction to teaching technique and fundamentals, to various other drills.
- Blough was among more than 25 other college quarterbacks, including Lamar Jackson of Louisville.
- In evening meetings, Blough and the other college quarterbacks were able to pick the Mannings' brains on everything from game preparation, film study, technique and more.

REMEMBER THE ALAMO

- Purdue celebrates the 20th anniversary of the 1997 Alamo Bowl championship team this year.
- Under first-year head coach Joe Tiller, the Boilermakers finished with a 9-3 record (6-2 in the Big Ten Conference – tied for second place), including a 33-20 victory over No. 24 Oklahoma State in the Alamo Bowl in San Antonio, and ranked No. 15 in the final Associated Press national poll. For a program that finished 3-8 in 1996, the six-game turnaround was the second-best in the country and in school history.
- After losing at Toledo in the season opener, Purdue reeled off six straight wins. The dream season started with a 28-17 upset of No. 12 Notre Dame at Ross-Ade Stadium on Sept. 13, which broke an 11-year losing streak to the Fighting Irish.
- The Boilermakers led the Big Ten in passing offense (285.2 yard per game) and total offense (a school-record 459.2 yards per game at that time).
- Tiller was named national coach of the year by both Football News and Kickoff magazines, Region 3 Coach of the Year (Big Ten, Mid-American Conference and Conference USA) by the American Football Coaches Association, and the Big Ten Dave McClain Coach of the Year.

BLOUGH ON MULTIPLE WATCH LISTS

- Blough was named the the Wuerffel watch list. The award, named after 1996 Heisman Trophy winning quarterback Danny Wuerffel, is presented annually to a player who best combines exemplary community service with athletic and academic achievement.
- Blough is also on the Johnny Unitas Golden Arm Award watch list.
- The Golden Arm Award is presented at the end of each football season and the winner is selected based on his accomplishments both on and off the field. Candidates must be a college senior or fourth-year junior on schedule to graduate with their class.
- Blough made the cut to the final 20, which was announced Oct. 11.

30-PLUS POINT ROAD WINS SINCE 1967
