BOILERMAKERS SCORE 7 UNANSWERED TO OVERCOME 3-RUN DEFICIT, EVEN SERIES

• Jake Jarvis and Connor Caskenette connected for significant home runs to support an excellent combined outing on the mound from Kyle Iwinski and Aaron Suval, leading Purdue to a 7-3 comeback win vs. Nebraska on Friday at Alexander Field.

• The Boilermakers overcame a 3-0 deficit with their seven unanswered runs, snapping a season-long five-game losing streak. Unfortunately, Michigan State's win late Friday night vs. Indiana eliminated Purdue from Big Ten Tournament content. The Boilermakers would lose head-to-head tiebreakers with both Michigan State and Illinois. A potential three-way tiebreaker would also go against Purdue.

• Iwinski put together his fifth consecutive quality start at Alexander Field, working 6 2/3 innings of three-run ball while keeping the Huskers off the scoreboard after the fourth inning. Suval struck out six of the 10 batters he faced while recording the final seven outs of the game. His strikeout total was a season high and made him the fourth active Boilermaker with an outing in which he racked up at least five Ks while fanning at least half the batters he faced.

• Iwinski finished the home season with a 2.06 ERA, 0.88 WHIP and .214 batting average against in 35 innings at Alexander Field. He pitched at least six innings in all five of his starts. He was moved up a day in the rotation once Friday became a must-win game for Purdue.

• Jarvis went deep down the right field line to open the fourth inning, igniting the Boilermakers' comeback with his 10th home run of the season. Caskenette hit a two-out, two-run blast off the videoboard in the fifth inning to give Purdue its first lead.

• Couper Cornblum and CJ Valdez had multiple hits for the second day in a row, teaming up with Jarvis and Caskenette to make the top four in the Boilermakers' lineup a combined 7-for-12 with four RBI and four runs scored. Jake Parr, Cornblum and Caskenette all extended their long streaks. Parr has a team-best 26-game on-base streak. Cornblum has been on base in 19 consecutive games and hit safely in 12 straight at Alexander. Caskenette is riding an 18-game on-base streak at home.

• Jarvis tied Pual Toetz for the team lead in home runs. They've become the first set of Purdue teammates with 10 home runs apiece since Dan Black and Ryne White in 2008.
