GEORGIA TECH 112
FLORIDA A&M 83

12-1-92 • Alexander Memorial Coliseum • Atlanta, Ga.
Travis Best led all scorers with 22 points, and the Yellow Jackets used a potent fast-break offense to down the Rattlers. Tech broke down the FAMU zone defense in the second half by easily getting the ball into Malcolm Mackey (20 points) and hitting eight three-point field goals (Best 4-for-6).

KENTUCKY 96
GEORGIA TECH 87

12-5-92 • Rupp Arena • Lexington, Ky.
Fifth-ranked Kentucky overcame a career-best 27 points from Travis Best and 24 from James Forrest to give coach Rick Pitino his 200th career victory. Tech trailed by as many as 13 points, but drew within five (79-74) on Martice Moore's jumper at 6:42 of the second half. From there, however, the Wildcats used their pressure defense to open fast break opportunities to pull away.

GEORGIA 67

12-16-92 • The Omni • Atlanta, Ga.
With Georgia Tech clinging to a four-point lead (63-59) at the 1:56 mark, the Yellow Jackets survived a pair of errant three-point attempts by Georgia and Travis Best canned one of his own to lift Tech to victory. Freshman Martice Moore (13 points) and sixth man Bryan Hill (11) gave the Jackets a much-needed lift by hitting nine of 15 shots.

WAKE FOREST 81
GEORGIA TECH 58

1-21-93 • Alexander Memorial Coliseum • Atlanta, Ga.
Georgia Tech lost its third straight game and suffered its worst loss at home since 1981. Wake Forest shot 75 percent (21-of-28) in the first half, opening a 28-point lead, while holding Tech to 8-of-31 (25.8 percent) shooting. Tech trailed just 16-12 after eight minutes, but the Demon Deacons went on a 27-4 run to put the game out of reach.

GEORGIA TECH 60

2-28-93 • Reynolds Coliseum • Raleigh, N.C.
As had been its pattern all season, just when the Yellow Jackets seemed to put it all together, they stumbled once again, this time at N.C. State. After Tech led 34-31 at the 15:41 mark of the second half, the Wolfpack went on a 23-5 run. Foul trouble forced Tech to stay in a zone, but Kevin Thompson beat it for 18 points while holding Malcolm Mackey to four.
