GEORGIA TECH (1-1, 0-0 ACC) vs. EAST CAROLINA (2-1, 0-0 AAC)

GAME 3 • November 16, 2018 • 7:30 p.m. • McCamish Pavilion • Atlanta, Ga.

About Friday's Game

Georgia Tech continues its 104th season of basketball Friday night when the Yellow Jackets host East Carolina at 7:30 p.m. at McCamish Pavilion.

Tech (1-1), in its third season under head coach Josh Pastner, returns home after dropping a 66-53 decision at No. 5 Tennessee Tuesday night in Knoxville, following an 88-69 victory over Lamar in the season opener at home last Friday.

East Carolina (2-1), whose head coach Joe Dooley is in his first season of his second stint at the helm of the Pirates, ventures away from home for the first time this season. ECU has beaten Delaware State (81-56) and Lamar (84-78 in overtime), sandwiched around a 73-72 loss to James Madison in Greenville, N.C.

Friday's game will be streamed live on ACC Network Extra through the ESPN app. Radio coverage is provided on the Georgia Tech IMG Sports Network, airing in Atlanta on 680 AM and 93.7 FM the Fan. The Tech broadcast can also be heard on satellite radio (XM ch. 386, internet ch. 973).

as the Deep South Showcase, in which each team plays the other four. The Yellow Jackets finish out the event next week against UT Rio Grande Valley on Wednesday and Prairie View A&M on Friday.

- Crossing over - Tennessee was the first of three Southeastern Conference opponents on Georgia Tech's schedule this season. The Yellow Jackets visit Arkansas on Dec. 19 and host Georgia on Dec. 22. Those three SEC teams won a combined 67 games last season. Tennessee and Arkansas played in the NCAA Tournament.

- On the road - Tech plays away from home just three times before the January. Aside from Tuesday night's game at Tennessee, the Yellow Jackets visit Northwestern for the ACC/Big Ten Challenge on Nov. 28, followed by a trip to Miami to play St. John's in the Hoophall Miami Invitational.

- Tough slate - Eight opponents on Georgia Tech's schedule were ranked in the top 25 of the preseason AP and coaches polls, including No. 5 Tennessee and ACC foes Duke (4/3), Virginia (5/5), North Carolina (8/7), Virginia Tech (15/17), Syracuse (16/14), Florida State (17/15) and Clemson (22/23).

- Bank on it - James Banks, a 6-9 forward/center from Decatur, Ga., transferred to Tech in the summer following two seasons at Texas, was granted immediate eligibility by the NCAA on Tuesday and made his Tech debut in the game at Tennessee (five points, seven rebounds and a blocked shot in 16 minutes).

- Long bench - Tech has deployed 10 players for significant minutes (10 or more per game) in each of its two games so far. All 12 scholarship players saw action at Tennessee.

- Unlucky 13 - Tech was picked to finish 13th in the Atlantic Coast Conference this season in a vote of the ACC media, ahead of Pittsburgh and Wake Forest. The Yellow Jackets finished 13th last season.

- Seven - Number of freshmen and sophomores expected to play significant roles for the Yellow Jackets this season.

- Four - Number of eligible fifth-year (Brandon Alston, Abdoulaye Gueye) or fourth-year (Sylvester Ogbona, Shembari Phillips) student-athletes on Tech's roster this season.

- 569 - Career points for Brandon Alston, the most of any current Tech player. Shembari Phillips is next with 381, followed by Jose Alvarado with 325 and Abdoulaye Gueye with 221. Georgia Tech finished last season with a trio of 1,000-point career scorers on its roster for the first time since 1989.

Series vs. East Carolina

- Georgia Tech has won three of four games in the series with East Carolina, which dates back to the 1978-79 season.

- The teams actually played twice in 1978-79, when the Yellow Jackets were independent for one season in between their membership in the Metro Conference and the transition to the Atlantic Coast Conference. Tech lost at home and won in Greenville.

- Most recently, Tech defeated the Pirates at Alexander Memorial Coliseum in 1989 and 1994.

- Tech head coach Josh Pastner's Memphis teams went 9-3 against East Carolina when the Tigers were member of the American Athletic Conference.

- Tech is 63-56 against current membership of the American Athletic Conference. The Yellow Jackets most recently faced Houston in the first round of the 2017 post-season NIT and Tulane earlier that season, winning both games.

Last Game: Jackets Fall at #5 Tennessee

Senior Brandon Alston scored a team-high 16 points to lead Georgia Tech for the second straight game, but the Yellow Jackets struggled to gain traction offensively against a strong Tennessee defense, and fell to the No. 5-ranked Volunteers, 66-53, Tuesday night in a defensive battle at Thompson-Boling Arena.

Alston, who went 8-for-8 at the free throw line and 4-for-8 from the floor, was the only double-figure scorer for the Yellow Jackets (1-1), who shot 27.6 percent from the floor and hit just 3-of-19 from three-point range. The Volunteers (3-0) managed to hit just 39.6 percent from the floor, but took advantage of Tech's foul trouble to go 24-for-38 from the charity stripe.

Jose Alvarado (eight points) and Abdoulaye Gueye (seven points) both shot the ball well for Georgia Tech.

Team Notes

- Despite scoring just 53 points against Tennessee, eight different Georgia Tech players scored the Jackets' 16 field goals, and nine players made the scoring column.
- With James Banks' Georgia Tech debut after being granted immediate eligibility earlier in the day, all 12 Yellow Jacket scholarship players saw action against Tennessee. None played more than 30 minutes (Jose Alvarado).
- Tech struggled to make shots from the floor (27.6 percent overall, 3-of-19 on threes), but went 18-for-21 from the free throw line. The Jackets' 27.6-percent rate from the floor was its lowest under Josh Pastner (33.3 percent vs. Ohio on Nov. 18, 2016).
- Tech held Tennessee to 39.6 percent from the floor in the game, the second straight game the Jackets have limited their opponent to less than 40 percent. Tech is 25-8 when doing so under Josh Pastner. The last time the Yellow Jackets were held under 30 percent was Jan. 22, 215 (24.5 percent vs. Virginia).
- After hitting 12 of 30 three-point field goal attempts against Lamar, the Yellow Jackets hit just 3-for-19 against Tennessee.

- Tech has yielded nine three-point field goals in its first two games (32.1 percent). The Jackets allowed an average of 7.1 per game and a success rate of 37.9 percent last season.
- Conversely, Tech has attempted 49 threes (24.5 per game) and made 15 (7.5 per game), compared to averages of 15.3 attempts and 4.9 made per game in 2018-19.
- Defensively, Tech has forced 32 turnovers (16.0 per game) and taken 16 steals (8.0 per game). The Jackets forced an average of 12.6 turnovers per game last season and took 6.9 steals per game.
- Tech's bench outscored that of Tennessee (whose reserves played a total of 30 minutes), 34-4. Yellow Jacket reserves have scored 75 points in two games.
- Tech was whistled for 30 fouls in the Tennessee game, the most for a Yellow Jacket team under Josh Pastner.
- Tech is 2-6 vs. top-10 opponents under Josh Pastner, 5-11 vs. top-25 teams.

Individual Notes

- Brandon Alston led Tech in scoring for the second straight game, getting 16 points on 4-of-8 shooting from the floor and 8-for-8 from the foul line. He has reached double figures eight times in a Georgia Tech uniform, 18 times in his career.
- Alston did not make a three-point field goal in the game, and attempted only one, one game after hitting a career-high four three-point field goals (in five attempts).
- Alston is 10-for-18 from the floor and 9-of-12 from the free throw line in two games this season.
- James Banks, who transferred from Texas after last season, traveled to Knoxville in the afternoon after learning he had been granted immediate eligibility by the NCAA. He scored five points with seven rebounds and a blocked shot in 16 minutes before fouling out in his Tech debut.

Pastner's Key Metrics

- Assists to made field goals: Tech has assisted 64.6 percent of its field goals (31 of 48) for the season.
- Free throws made to opponents' attempts: Tech is 30-10 under Josh Pastner when attempting more free throws than the opponent. But the Jackets have sent their opponents to the line 71 times in two games (59.2 percent), compared to just

GAME 7

Georgia Tech 100, East Carolina 74

Dec. 3, 1994 • Alexander Memorial Col.

Georgia Tech's senior tandem of Travis Best and James Forrest combined to score 60 of the Yellow Jackets' 100 points as Tech raced past East Carolina at Alexander Memorial Coliseum.

Best, the point guard, and Forrest, a 6-8 forward, each connected in 12 of 18 shots from the floor, with Best pouring in six three-point field goals. Drew Barry dished out 10 assists to go with 3 points as head coach Bobby Cremins was able to empty his bench late in the game. Freshman forward Michael Maddox also reached double digits with 13 points.

- Turnovers: Tech has forced 32 turnovers (16.0 per game) and taken 16 steals (8.0 per game). The Jackets forced an average of 12.6 turnovers per game last season and took 6.9 steals per game.

- Guard rebounding: Tech's guards combined for 10 of Tech's 26 defensive rebounds against Tennessee, four of those by Brandon Alston.

Storylines for 2018-19

- The upward progress of the program is evident in the development of its 2017-18 freshman class, each of whom received significant playing time last season and made significant contributions on the ACC level. Though not highly-rated in terms of rankings, the four-man class has a wide range of skills and is ripe for development into consistent conference-level performers over the next couple of years.

a. Point guard Jose Alvarado started every game and showed durability and toughness by averaging more than 38 minutes in ACC games until suffering a dislocated elbow Feb. 11

b. Off-guard Curtis Haywood II was developing into a significant shooting threat and excellent defender before suffering stress reaction in his shin and missing the final month

c. Forwards Evan Cole and Moses Wright, both under-the-radar signees, exceeded expectations for their first year when forced into action due to injuries over the final month of the season. With added strength and development this off-season, can be counted on to be in the frontcourt rotation and make significant contributions at both ends of the floor.

- Coach Pastner, his staff and the student-athletes in the program have carried over a solid, sustainable culture of accountability and dependability from the previous coaching staff which enabled the team to overcome a number of key injuries last season and continue to work hard and remain focused on the court and in the weight room.

- Pastner replaced two assistant coaches - Tavaras Hardy and Darryl LaBarrie - over the last year. Hardy was named head coach at Loyola of Maryland in late March, while LaBarrie resigned during the season. Anthony Wilkins, an Atlanta native, joined the staff after five seasons at Tulane, and Julian Swartz was elevated from his position as director of recruiting and compliance.

- Tech has added a three-man recruiting class ranked No. 46 in the country according to 247Sports, including consensus four-star guard Michael Devoe and three-star forwards Khalid Moore and Kristian Sjolund, and true to staff's objectives, the class has varied skill sets and are expected to develop into significant contributors next season and beyond (building through multiple quality recruiting classes)

- Another addition to the roster this season - 6-3 guard Shembari Phillips, a high-major conference player who sat out the 2017-18 season as a transfer from Tennessee. Has the size and varied skill set necessary to compete in the ACC (6.2 ppg, 3.1 rpg, 37.5 pct. 3s in 2016-17). He has two years of eligibility.

- Georgia Tech also accepted transfer James Banks, a 6-9, 243-pound frontcourt player from Decatur, Ga., ranked as high as No. 49 among high school seniors in the class of 2016. He was granted immediate eligibility by the NCAA on Nov. 13 and has two seasons of eligibility at Tech.

- Tech returns six players who received significant playing time in 2017-18 - 15 or more minutes per ACC game - and combined to start 91 games overall. They accounted for more than 53 percent of total minutes played and 43 percent of Tech's scoring. Five of those players have two or more years of eligibility remaining.

- Tech has a young roster this season - three freshmen, four sophomores, three juniors and two seniors among scholarship players returning or incoming - but the process of getting old and staying old and building a sustainable winning program is ongoing.

- Player development successes over the past two seasons include Josh Okogie, Ben Lammers and Tadic Jackson, who maximized their skill sets under the current coaching staff, doubling their scoring and rebounding averages over their first two seasons. Okogie went from being ranked the 11th in the state as a HS senior to a first-round NBA draft pick. Last season, 6-9 forward Abdoulaye Gueye developed into an ACC-level contributor, making a similar leap from the non-conference season to conference play. Graduate transfer Brandon Alston, who has a year of eligibility remaining, had similar statistical numbers on the ACC level this season as he compiled in two seasons at Lehigh and was fundamentally sound in his ballhandling and defense.

- With the addition of Phillips and the arrival of Devoe and Moore, as well as the return of Alston and sophomores Alvarado and Haywood, and Tech is deep and talented across the perimeter and wings. Tech has Gueye, rising junior Sylvester Ogbonda and Banks to rotate through the post, with Cole and Wright rotating in the big forward position. This gives Pastner the option of playing a bigger lineup when necessary.

- Tech has won 34 games overall and 14 ACC games in Josh Pastner's first two seasons, on par or better than the first two years of each of Josh Pastner's predecessors in the ACC era. For comparison, Buzz Williams won 12 ACC games in his first two years at Virginia Tech, same with Tony Bennett at Virginia. Leonard Hamilton and Mike Krzyzewski each won 10. Pastner has won 14.

- Head coach Josh Pastner's Georgia Tech teams are 5-11 against top-25 teams (5-4 at home). The Jackets knocked off No. 15 Miami and No. 25 Notre Dame last January as part of a 3-1 ACC start.

- Tech has sold out eight games at McCamish Pavilion over the past two seasons, including a facility-record five games in 2017-18. Tech's 29 homecourt wins over the past two seasons are more than any two-year period in the Jackets' ACC era except the 2015-16 and 2016-17 seasons combined (31). That's 43 home wins over the past three seasons, more than 14 per season.

Tip-Ins on 2017-18 Season

• Georgia Tech posted a 13-19 overall record in its second season under head coach Josh Pastner, and finished 13th in the ACC standings at 6-12.

• Sophomore guard Josh Okogie was voted to the All-Atlantic Coast Conference third team, while senior center Ben Lammers made the ACC All-Defensive team for the second straight year.

• Okogie entered the NBA Draft following the season and was selected 20th overall by the Minnesota Timberwolves. The 6-4 guard became Tech's 19th first-round selection.

• Pastner earned the 200th head coaching victory of his career against NC State and finished his ninth season as a head coach with a 201-108 record.

• Tech played the last seven games without freshman point guard Jose Alvarado, who dislocated his elbow in a fall during the first half of the Yellow Jackets loss to Duke on Feb. 11, and the last 11 games without freshman guard Curtis Haywood II, who was diagnosed with a stress reaction in his right leg following the Jackets' Jan. 31 game against Syracuse. Haywood had also missed six games earlier in the season with a shin injury.

• Okogie's 18.2 points-per-game average was the highest for a Tech player since the 1997-98 season, when Matt Harpring averaged 21.6, and the highest for a Tech sophomore since Harpring averaged 18.6 in 1995-96.

• Okogie became the sixth player in Tech history to reach 1,000 career points during his sophomore season. He finished the year with 1,033 points, fifth-most for a Tech player through his sophomore season.

• Tech finished the season with three 1,000-point scorers on its roster at the same time - Tadic Jackson (1,136), Ben Lammers (1,055), Josh Okogie (1,033) - for the first time since 1989 (Tom Hammonds, Brian Oliver, Dennis Scott) and for the third time in its ACC history (Bruce Dalrymple, Mark Price, John Salley in 1986).

• Tech improved to 7-10 all-time in the ACC-Big Ten Challenge when the Jackets defeated pre-season top-25 Northwestern at home in November.

• Twelve of the teams on Georgia Tech's 2017-18 schedule made the NCAA Tournament field, and 15 earned a spot in a post-season tournament.

• Tech has sold out eight games over the past two seasons, including a McCamish Pavilion record five games in 2017-18. Tech's 29 homecourt wins over the past two seasons is more than any two-year period in the Jackets' ACC era except the 2015-16 and 2016-17 seasons combined (31). That's 43 home wins over the past three seasons.

• Tech had its full roster to practice only for seven games last season. Injuries or other absences have forced Tech players to miss 46 games cumulatively this season. Freshman Jose Alvarado and Curtis Haywood II both suffered season-ending injuries, Alvarado on Feb. 11 early in Tech's game against Duke, and Haywood prior to the Jackets' Jan. 31 game against Syracuse. Tech used eight different starting lineups last season.

• Tech's playing rotation featured four freshmen and a first-year graduate transfer who combined to start 68 games and log 43 percent of the Yellow Jackets' total minutes.

Okogie Drafted 20th by Minnesota

Georgia Tech sophomore Josh Okogie became the first Yellow Jacket in seven years to be selected in the first round of the National Basketball Association Draft when the Minnesota Timberwolves tabbed him with the No. 20 overall pick.

The 6-4 guard was the Yellow Jackets' 19th first-round draft pick all-time and their first since Iman Shumpert was selected 17th overall by the New York Knicks in 2011.

Okogie earned third-team all-Atlantic Coast Conference honors as a sophomore in 2017-18 after ranking fourth in the conference in scoring with 18.2 points per game. He was a member of the ACC's all-freshman team in 2016-17 and finished his two-year collegiate career with a 16.9-point scoring average. He scored 1,033 points in 61 games at Tech, becoming one of only eight Yellow Jackets to ever surpass the 1,000-point mark in just two seasons.

He was Georgia Tech's 12th all-time early entry in the NBA Draft and cemented his status as a likely first-round pick with an outstanding performance at the NBA Combine in May.

Three for 1,000

Georgia Tech finished last season with a trio of 1,000-point career scorers on its roster for the first time since 1989, and for just the third time in the Yellow Jackets' ACC history.

Sophomore Josh Okogie became the latest to reach the milestone with his 22-point game March 3 against Wake Forest, making him the 46th player to do so at 1,033 points. Senior center Ben Lammers finished his career with 1,055 points (42nd place), and senior guard Tadic Jackson ended up with 1,136 career points (36th place).

Three 1,000-point scorers on same team

1985-86: Bruce Dalrymple (Jr.), Mark Price (Sr.), John Salley (Sr.)

1988-89: Tom Hammonds (Sr.), Brian Oliver (Jr.), Dennis Scott (So.)

2017-18: Ben Lammers (Sr.), Tadic Jackson (Sr.), Josh Okogie (So.)

Okogie, Lammers Capture ACC Honors

Ben Lammers and Josh Okogie have both captured Atlantic Coast Conference honors during Josh Pastner's tenure as Georgia Tech head coach.

Josh Okogie, a 6-4 guard, was named to the All-Atlantic Coast Conference third team last season, and 6-10 senior center Ben Lammers earned a spot on the ACC's All-Defensive team for the second straight year in voting announced Sunday by the conference office.

Lammers was the ACC's Defensive Player of the Year in 2017 and made the All-ACC second team, while Okogie earned a spot on the All-Freshman team.

Wire-to-Wire

Head coach Josh Pastner is not shy about his philosophy of playing a short bench, reminiscent of the way Bobby Cremins coached the Yellow Jackets over his 19 seasons.

Josh Okogie played 92.3 percent of possible minutes in ACC games, while Ben Lammers played 90.2 percent. Jose Alvarado had played 96.7 percent of possible ACC minutes prior to his injury.

Lammers ranked No. 1 among centers nationally in minutes per game. Alvarado had ranked fifth among freshmen nationally in percentage of minutes played and minutes per game before the Duke game.

The threesome had 20 complete games combined in 2017-18 (eight for Alvarado, six for Lammers, five for Okogie), and Tadic Jackson joined the group by playing 40 minutes at Clemson. Tech had at least one player play the full 40 in 12 of 19 ACC games (regular season plus tournament).

NOTE: Between the Cremins era and the arrival of Pastner, only one Georgia Tech player played every minute of a game, regulation or overtime, and that was Marcus Georges-Hunt on Feb. 20, 2016, in a win over Notre Dame at home. In the final 15 seasons of Cremins' tenure (1985-86 through 1999-2000), a total of 196 players logged a 40-minute game.

Assisted Living

Georgia Tech coach Josh Pastner preached and prodded his Yellow Jackets on ball and player movement from the first time he got his team on the practice court. His primary measuring stick on how well the Jackets perform offensively is their ratio of assists to made field goals.

In Pastner's first season, the Yellow Jackets ranked 13th nationally, according to KenPom.com, in highest percentage of assists to made field goals at 62.6 percent, the team's highest rate since the 2000-01 season. Tech's number was 63.2 percent in ACC games. Pastner's nightly goal is 60 percent.

Tech did not perform as well in that department in 2017-18, assisting on 54.6 of its made field goals overall, 53.9 against ACC teams, and missing Pastner's 60-percent bar 14 times. Tech remained above the national average (52.5 pct.) in that category.

Tech's top assists-to-made field goals ratios: 1987-88 - 68.3; 1988-89 - 65.9; 1986-87 - 65.8; 1992-93 - 65.0; 1985-86 - 64.8; 2000-01 - 62.9; 1999-00 - 62.9; 2016-17 - 62.6

Guard Your Yard

Due to its ability to play different schemes and keep opponents off balance, Georgia Tech has been able to rely on its defense to win games over Josh Pastner's first two seasons at Georgia Tech.

The Yellow Jackets held all but five opponents under their season scoring average last season, many of them significantly lower. At 67.3 points allowed per game, Tech ranked fourth in the ACC and No. 57 nationally in scoring defense.

• Most significant among the opponents Tech held well below their averages were UCLA (82.6 ppg, 63 vs. Tech), Northwestern (74.0 ppg, 51 vs. Tech), Bethune-Cookman (78.9 ppg, 62 vs. Tech), North Texas (78.4 ppg, 49 vs. Tech), Wofford (77.0 ppg, 63 vs. Tech), Notre Dame (79.8 ppg, 68 and 53 in two games vs. Tech), Miami (74.9 ppg, 54 vs. Tech), Yale (77.4 ppg, 60 vs. Tech) and Syracuse (70.0 ppg, 51 vs. Tech). Even Duke, which led the ACC in scoring average at 89.1, scored 80 against Tech.

• In terms of adjusted offensive efficiency, Tech ranked No. 6 in the ACC in points per 100 possessions against the conference (104.8), No. 61 nationally in all games (98.9).

• Tech's strengths lay in two-point field goal defense

(19th at 45.4 pct.), block percentage (15th) and steal percentage (44th).

In 2016-17, Tech ranked No. 6 nationally in adjusted defensive efficiency (91.0 points allowed per 100 possessions). Tech ranked fourth in the conference in scoring defense (66.8 ppg) and No. 1 in FG percentage defense (39.8 pct.).

A.D. is No Lie

Georgia Tech got a big lift from an unlikely source once ACC play began last season, junior forward Abdoulaye Gueye (pronounced "AB-doo-lie GAY"). During the month of January and into February, the Yellow Jackets saw the 6-9 junior become a legitimate offensive force, and not just a disruptor on defense and on the boards.

Known as "A.D." to his teammates and coaches, the likeable Gueye took advantage of a much-improved hook shot to average 6.5 points (50 percent from the floor) and 4.5 rebounds in in ACC games. He has come off the bench in Tech's last four games in favor of freshman Moses Wright after starting 15 straight games.

He scored in double figures in seven games in conference play, something completely unforeseen during the non-conference season. In the first 39 games of his career, covering two-plus seasons through the holiday break this year, Gueye had scored a total of 70 points, only once scoring more than six points in a game (13 vs. UT-Rio Grande Valley in November).

"We couldn't stop him at the beginning of the game. Probably were a little surprised at how good he was and how much they went to him, but he was very effective." - Clemson coach Brad Brownell after Gueye scored 14 points with eight boards against the Tigers

Tech's BFFs (Big Freshman Forwards)

Georgia Tech's four-man freshman class in 2017-18 was not highly rated in terms of stars, but head coach Josh Pastner viewed the group of Jose Alvarado, Curtis Haywood II, Evan Cole and Moses Wright as a solid foundation on which to build the Yellow Jackets' program.

With Alvarado and Haywood, the more highly-rated of the group, out for the season with injuries, the other two members of the class received an opportunity to grow. After Tech's Jan. 24 loss at Florida State, Pastner put Cole and Wright in a "red-shirt" program than entailed extra strength and conditioning sessions and extra skill work on the court in addition to the team's regular practices. It paid off for them and for the Jackets.

On Feb. 11 against Duke, when Pastner was unhappy with the performance of Tech seniors Tadic Jackson and Ben Lammers, he put Cole and Wright in the game for their first extended minutes of the ACC season, and they didn't disappoint.

In the second half of that game, the duo combined for 19 points, 12 rebounds, four assists and three blocks in 41 minutes as Tech pared a 26-point second-half deficit down to 11 in an 80-69 loss. As a result, Cole has started Tech's last five games, and Wright the last three.

"Very good basketball player, can score the basketball inside and out, athletic, runs the floor," NC State coach Kevin Keatts said of Cole. "He's going to be a very good basketball player in the ACC, and that means a lot because you're talking about a kid who was originally signed in the (Colonial Athletic Association)."

"He's a live body, long," Clemson coach Brad Brownell said of Wright. "As he continues to get stronger and grow into his body, he's going to be a good player. He's got some perimeter skills where he can put it on the ground once or twice

Alvarado Freshman Season Cut Short

Freshman point guard Jose Alvarado, recruited to Georgia Tech primarily for his winning attitude, toughness and grit, was given the green light by head coach Josh Pastner to handle the position, sink or swim, before his freshman season came to an abrupt end Feb. 11 against Duke. He dislocated his left elbow in a fall, and missed the rest of the season.

The Brooklyn native, the first Tech player from the New York area in nearly 20 years, was up to the task prior to his injury, averaging 12.6 points per game to rank second on the team, 3.9 rebounds and 3.3 assists with an assist/turnover ratio of 77/56. He also shot the ball well, making 45 percent of his shots from the floor, 37.4 percent from three-point distance, and 80.2 percent from the foul line on 80 attempts, second most on the team behind Josh Okogie, who led the ACC in that category.

Among ACC freshmen, he ranked fifth in scoring and fourth in assists, and was No. 4 overall in steals at the time of his injury.

Alvarado posted 16 double-figure scoring games, four times scoring 20 or more. And the 6-foot playmaker averaged more than 39 minutes per ACC game to rank among the league's top five, playing every minute eight times, including four consecutive games before Duke.

He was not the first Tech point guard to earn the starting job as a freshman and handle it well. He follows such Tech greats at Mark Price, Kenny Anderson, Travis Best, Stephon Marbury, Tony Akins and Jarrett Jack, as well as others who started at the position as freshmen without reaching their lofty accomplishments.

"I was really impressed with Alvarado first time seeing him live. His speed and quickness was really good and I thought he played the game with really good poise." - Clemson coach Brad Brownell

Winning Starts at Home

Georgia Tech and head coach Josh Pastner have made a priority of making McCamish Pavilion a real homecourt advantage for the program, and the Yellow Jackets made a good start on that by setting a program record for wins at home (17) in 2017-18, which included a 7-2 ACC record and two NIT victories.

Tech is 12-6 against ACC teams at home under Pastner, and that includes a 5-3 mark against ranked opponents.

The Jackets' 60-53 win over No. 25 Notre Dame on Jan. 10 was just the latest triumph in a list that includes eventual NCAA champion North Carolina (No. 9 at the time), No. 6 Florida State and No. 15 Notre Dame last season, as well as a 64-54 win over No. 15 Miami on Jan. 3 this season. Tech's only losses

Thin Gold Line

Some of Georgia Tech's most successful teams in the Atlantic Coast Conference era have had thin benches and a trio of players who averaged more than 35 minutes per game in ACC play, beginning with the Yellow Jackets' first ACC Championship team in 1985, dubbed the "Thin Gold Line."

Jackets' Signing Class Ranked No. 46

Georgia Tech's 2018 signing class was ranked No. 46 in the nation in a composite ranking published by 247Sports.

Tech signed a trio of high school prospects — 6-3 guard Michael Devoe of Orlando, Fla., 6-7 forward Khalid Moore of New York, N.Y., and 6-9 forward Kristian Sjolund of Kongsberg, Norway by way of Katy, Texas - to national letters-of-intent during the November signing period.

All three prospects are highly regarded for their talent level, versatility and upside as head coach Josh Pastner continued to build the Yellow Jackets' program.

Devoe, a four-star prospect, was ranked No. 62 in the Rivals 150, and No. 56 in the ESPN 100 (No. 15 point guard in the nation). He led Oak Ridge High School in Orlando, Fla., to a berth in the state quarterfinals as a junior before enrolling at Montverde Academy for his senior year, helping them to a national championship.

Moore was rated a 3-star prospect in the composite 247Sports ranking (No. 51 small forward, No. 5 in New York), as well as a 4-star prospect by ESPN (No. 42 small forward, No. 3 in New York). He attended the same high school that sent All-American Kenny Anderson to Georgia Tech in 1989, and he was a teammate of current Tech freshman Jose Alvarado on the New York Rens AAU team.

Sjolund was rated a 3-star prospect in the composite 247Sports ranking (No. 56 small forward, No. 18 in Texas), as well as a 4-star by ESPN (No. 36 small forward, No. 17 in Texas). He was born in the state of Washington but grew up in Norway, and has lived in the United States since 2014. He played for the

Media Guidelines

Georgia Tech's practices are closed to the public and the media, but coaches and student-athletes are made available prior to each game before one of the team's practices. Notices will be distributed weekly to confirm the schedule.

TV stations are allowed to shoot B-roll during the first 10 minutes of those practices.

Media are asked to notify Mike Stamus the day before of their need to attend and to make specific student-athlete requests.

Interview requests with student-athletes that need to be conducted at other times must be arranged through the Georgia Tech communications office at least 24 hours in advance. These interviews will be conducted at a time and place convenient to the student-athletes' availability and class schedule.

Media are asked not to contact student-athletes directly either by phone, e-mail, text or social media. They are instructed not to respond. Every effort will be made to make them available.

Interviewing Coach Pastner

Media wishing to speak with Coach Pastner at times other than scheduled media availabilities must notify Mike Stamus in the communications office in advance to make or confirm arrangements. He also is available each Monday on the ACC Teleconference (10:50 a.m.) beginning January 7.

Post-Game Protocol

Each head coach will hold a post-game press conference in the designated interview room (Shah Media Room at McCamish Pavilion).

Student-athletes requested by the media will be brought to the interview room following the coaches press conferences, when the team is at home, outside the team's locker room when the team is on the road.

Josh Pastner Radio Show

Head coach Josh Pastner's weekly radio show airs each Monday from 7-8 p.m. on "680 the Fan" and 93.7 FM, beginning Dec. 3.

ACC Coaches Weekly Teleconference

The 15 ACC head basketball coaches will be featured on nine Monday teleconferences during the 2018-19 season, beginning on Monday, January 7, and continuing through March 4. Each coach will have 10 minutes to make an opening statement and answer questions. There will be an instant replay of each teleconference on the Conference's internet site TheACC.com each Monday afternoon.

Georgia Tech head coach Josh Pastner will be on the teleconference at 10:50 a.m. each week.

Coaches that play on Monday in January and February are not required to participate in that day's call. Coach Pastner will be on every Monday at the same time. The teleconference schedule for each Monday will differ for the other 14 head coaches, depending on what teams play that Monday night.

Contact the ACC media relations office at 336-851-6062 for the call-in number and for questions on the schedule.

Shooting Stars Red AAU team. Sjolund played with Norway in the 2015 FIBA U16 European Championships, averaging 18.7 points and 5.9 rebounds a game. Then in 2017 he played in the U18 Nordic Championship and scored 7.2 points a game.

Tech's class rank doesn't account for transfers Shembari Phillips, a 6-3 guard, and James Banks, a 6-9 center.

Four Tech Alumni on NBA Rosters

Since 1982, Georgia Tech has produced 19 first-round NBA draft picks and 44 draft picks overall. A total of 38 Georgia Tech alumni have played in the NBA.

Four former Georgia Tech basketball stars were on NBA rosters at the start of the 2018-19 season, including guard Josh Okogie, who was drafted 20th overall by the Minnesota Timberwolves.

Iman Shumpert, a seven-year NBA veteran, played his third full season in Cleveland after helping the Cavaliers win the NBA championship in 2016, and was traded before the deadline to Sacramento.

Thaddeus Young, an 11-year NBA veteran, is now in his third season with the Indiana Pacers after playing seven seasons in Philadelphia, one in Minnesota and two in Brooklyn.

Derrick Favors has emerged as a key figure in his eighth season in Utah and re-signed with the team after becoming a free agent.

Arts and Letters

Beginning with Moe Miller and Lance Storrs in the summer of 2011, every four-year senior in the Georgia Tech program has graduated. Tech's 2018 seniors, Tadic Jackson and Ben Lammers, were both on track to complete their degree requirements in the spring (Jackson) and fall (Lammers) semesters.

Derek Craig and Nick Foreman received their Tech degrees in 2012, as did the 2013 senior class of Mfon Udofia, who finished his business administration degree work in the summer, and Pierre Jordan, who completed his Masters degree requirements in building construction in the spring. Brandon Reed graduated in the summer with his management degree before transferring back to Arkansas State to play his final year of basketball.

All three of Tech's four-year seniors in 2013-14 - Kammeon Holsey, Daniel Miller and Jason Morris - graduated that spring. Robert Sampson, the Jackets' only undergraduate scholarship senior in 2014-15, graduated in the spring.

From the 2015-16 squad, Marcus Georges-Hunt walked the stage at commencement in May, accomplishing the rare feat of graduating in four years. Point guard Travis Jorgenson, who elected not to use his final year of eligibility, will receive his degree in December.

From the 2016-17 team, Josh Heath, Corey Heyward (fifth-year because of an injury redshirt in 2012-13) and Quinton Stephens all graduated in May of 2017, while Rand Rowland finished his requirements and received his degree in December of 2016. Both graduate transfers, Kellen McCormick (summer of 2017) and Jordan Price (fall of 2017), received their Masters degrees.

Georges-Hunt and current senior Tadic Jackson have made the Academic All-ACC team twice, and the Yellow Jackets have had at least one player named to that team since it was instituted for the 2010-11 season.

Tech's men's basketball team has recorded the highest Academic Progress Report scores the last five years since the NCAA began tracking academic performance in 2004-05. The Jackets scored a perfect team single year APR score of 1000 three straight years from 2011-13.

Welcome to The Hank

Georgia Tech is playing its seventh season in McCamish Pavilion, which was for all intents and purposes, brand new when it opened for the 2012-13 season. The only physical elements of McCamish Pavilion that remain from the venerable Alexander Memorial Coliseum are the roof, which was re-covered, and the 32 steel ribs that support it.

The capacity of McCamish Pavilion is 8,600, including 1,665 seats in the new balcony level and 6,935 seats in the lower seating bowl. There are no suites, but there is a premium club area that seats 500. Alexander Memorial Coliseum seated 9,191 spectators in its final configuration.

The most impressive features of McCamish Pavilion are its grand entrance, which fronts 10th and Fowler Streets, the ability for patrons to view the court from the main concourse all the way around, and the theatrical lighting system, which concentrates light on the court while leaving the seating areas dark, modeled after the Staples Center in Los Angeles and Madison Square Garden in New York.

Tech played 55 seasons in Alexander Memorial Coliseum, compiling a record of 556-194 (.741). Miami was the last team to play Tech in Alexander Memorial Coliseum, a game Tech won, and was the first ACC team to play in McCamish Pavilion on Jan. 5, which Miami won. For the 2011-12 season, Tech played its home games at Philips Arena and the Arena at Gwinnett.

Tech's NCAA Tournament History

Georgia Tech played in the NCAA Tournament five times in 11 seasons under head coach Paul Hewitt and has played in the event 16 times in its history. Fifteen of those appearances have occurred from 1985 to the present.

Tech has a record of 23-16 in NCAA Tournament play, highlighted by its 2004 trip to the NCAA title game as well as a Final Four berth in 1990. The Yellow Jackets have reached the NCAA Sweet 16 seven times (1960, 1985, 1986, 1990, 1992, 1996, 2004).

The 2004 and 2005 appearances were the Yellow Jackets' first back-to-back appearances since Bobby Cremins led the Institute to the Big Dance nine straight years from 1985-93.

Georgia Tech has won at least one game in 11 of its 16 NCAA Tournament appearances.

Tech's ACC Tournament History

Georgia Tech has played in 39 ACC Tournaments, and has a 26-36 all-time record in the event. The Yellow Jackets have won three championships, in 1985 (Atlanta), 1990 (Charlotte) and 1993 (Charlotte).

Tech has been a runner-up four times (1986, 1996, 2005, 2010). The 1986, 1996 and 2010 runs to the finals occurred in Greensboro. Tech also made the finals in 2005 at the Verizon Center in Washington, D.C.

Tech was 0-2 in the ACC Tournament under coach Dwane Morrison, 15-16 under Bobby Cremins (including all three titles), 9-11 under Paul Hewitt (runner-up in 2005 and 2010), 2-5 under Brian Gregory, and 0-2 under Josh Pastner.
