Diana, an Orange County real estate agent who recently worked with Revive, had a listing that she knew would be a difficult sell. The home had been partially remodeled... but the sellers had run out of money during the remodel and hadn't gotten to the floors. The flooring was a hodge-podge of green carpet, tile and old laminate. The agent worked tirelessly marketing the property and holding open houses, but buyers just couldn't see past the floors. She used the Revive platform to find a flooring contractor, got a competitive bid, had the work completed and within a day of going back on the market she got a close to full-price offer and closed the deal. It was a complete success!
