Emissions target

CHARLOTTE VARCOE
charlotte.varcoe@tbwtoday.com.au

THE District Council of Grant is making moves towards reaching net-zero emissions targets under a Local Government Association program.

Council is the only one in the Limestone Coast to take up the program and is one of 15 from across the state.

Officially launched in January following expressions of interest last year, the Local Government Net Zero Accelerate Program aims to support the councils to "identify and report" on emission profiles, act on areas for emissions reduction and establish their own emissions reduction strategies.

The association-led trial is the first of its kind in South Australia and is supported by a $120,000 grant from the Department for Environment and Water.

While several workshops facilitated by Adelaide-based firm Dsquared Consulting have already taken place, council is expected to have its own specialised carbon emissions profile and best practice guide.

District Council of Grant environmental and health team leader Aaron Price said the Local Government Association initiative was a great opportunity for council.

"I imagine there should be some learnings out of it that we can share with our neighbours and other like-sized councils and regional councils," Mr Price said.

"We are in the preliminary phase in terms of working with the consultant who has given us a spreadsheet to start mapping through all of our energy uses."

He said this included machinery, plant telecommunications, waste management and waste streams as well as fuel usage.

"We will collate all that data and go back through the consultant and late in the year we are hoping to get an understanding of our emission sources and a draft emissions summary report specifically for our council," Mr Price said.

Audits for aged care

melanie.riley@tbwtoday.com.au

SAFETY IN CARE: Safety audits will be rolled out in aged care facilities across South Australia soon.

Picture: FILE

AUDITS will soon be conducted in residential aged care facilities across South Australia, in a bid to reduce the risk of injury to residents and staff.

With manual handling of people continuing to be a significant issue in the aged care industry, inspectors from SafeWork SA will start compliance checks in private and state-run residential aged care facilities throughout metropolitan and regional SA.

From 2019 to 2023, ReturnToWork SA received an average of 733 claims per year within residential care services, in particular aged care residential services.

Resthaven Mount Gambier manager Belle Kerr said they were committed to keeping everyone safe and free from harm.

"Resthaven is committed to providing a safe and healthy workplace for the staff, volunteers, visitors, clients and residents of Resthaven Mount Gambier," she said.

"Their safety is our utmost priority. It is important to us as we are aware we owe a duty of care to our site community.

"We keep them safe by ensuring that Resthaven Mount Gambier allows appropriate equipment and safety mechanisms to assist staff with their tasks."

Minister for Industrial Relations and Public Sector Kyam Maher said the checks were an important move to ensure the safety of aged care facility staff and residents.

"Residential aged care workers play a vital role in our community and it's important to protect them from injury,"

"Workers need the right skills, processes and equipment to move residents safely.

"The campaign will also help protect aged care facility residents who are particularly vulnerable."

There will be a focus on equipment and other techniques used by staff to move residents with limited mobility from one location to another.

This could include transferring residents from a bed to a chair or bath, from a wheelchair to a toilet, or repositioning them in their bed.

Education, operational guides and checklists will be provided by SafeWork SA inspectors, to ensure staff follow correct procedures.

In an instance an aged care facility is deemed non-compliant, an inspector will attempt to remedy the issue on-site, and if it can't be addressed at the time, a compliance notice may be issued.

Equipment commonly used to move residents in aged care facilities include ceiling hoists, patient lifters, stretchers, wheelchairs and slide sheets.

The campaign will be long term, and will look at appropriate training of staff, accessible and adequately maintained equipment and facilities adequately controlling risks associated with hazardous manual tasks.

HONOURED: The plaque in honour of Andreas Kappler was unveiled in March.

Pastor honoured

A bronze plaque has been unveiled in Mount Gambier/ Berrin in honour of the only Wendish Lutheran pastor to emigrate to Australia, Andreas Kappler.

Pastor Kappler (1802-1877) and his family emigrated to Australia from Weissenberg, Upper Lusatia, Saxony (now in Germany), in 1848.

An independent Lutheran pastor, Kappler ministered in South Australia and Victoria before serving as the first pastor at St Martin's Lutheran Church from 1860 until his death in 1877.

Dr Edward Wehl, who conducted a medical practice and had other business interests in Mount Gambier/ Berrin, gave land at Claraville on which a manse and church were built.

Pastor Kappler was highly respected by the sizeable German Lutheran community in the Mount Gambier/ Berrin district.

Three years before his death he also began conducting services at Millicent.

The plaque, located on Pastor Kappler's grave at the Lake Terrace Cemetery, was jointly funded by the Wendish Heritage Society Australia, the Wend/ Sorb Society of South Australia and St Martin's Lutheran Church. Representatives from each group spoke at the unveiling ceremony held in March.

Greetings were read by Domowina-Association of Lusatian Sorbs chairman David Statnik, Shores of Hope: Wends Go Overseas author Trudla Malinkowa and Pastor Kappler's great-great-grandson Peter Johnson.

On Pastor Kappler's plaque is a blessing written in the Wendish language, which reads Njech spi w Božim m?rje! and translates as May he sleep in God's peace! These are likely the only Wendish words in public in Australia.

The Wends are a Slavic minority group in Germany with their own distinctive language, culture and customs.

Between 1848 and 1860 around 2000 Wends migrated to Australia and settled in South Australia, western Victoria and southern New South Wales.

Students proud to learn on Country

MORE than 200 students from across the Limestone Coast explored the coastal landscape recently.

Students walked an 8.5km loop around Lake Bonney as part of the Limestone Coast Landscape Board's March in May event.

The landscape board and students were out on Country with native plants and animals while increasing students' awareness of responsible land management.

During the walk students enjoyed hearing about the exhaustive journeys of the region's shorebirds and discovered the six seasons of First Nations culture.

They also learnt about the critical landscape activity of removing weeds.

Limestone Coast Landscape Board landscape officer Jarryd Lee reinforced the importance of weed removal from the local landscape and its correlation to maintaining habitat and reducing the pressures on farming productivity.

"Students engaged with various weed species and developed a deeper understanding of ecological balance in our region," Mr Lee said.

"By learning the difference between native and introduced plant species, students expanded their knowledge and developed a sense of responsibility towards preserving local biodiversity."

GREAT PARTICIPATION: Tension Woods College students enjoyed the program.

Limestone Coast Landscape Board education coordinator Damien Bickley said providing hands-on educational experiences in our local landscape was about getting students out on Country in our local area to explore and interact with nature.

"When sharing this newfound awareness with their community and family, it helps to reinforce the need to maintain a healthy environment," Mr Bickley said.

The annual March in May event for Year 5 and 6 students is a collaborative event taking students on a journey of nature discovery at Canunda National Park.

Council reaching for net zero

CHARLOTTE VARCOE

THE District Council of Grant is making moves towards reaching net-zero emissions targets under a Local Government Association program. Council is the only one in the Limestone Coast to take up the program and is one of 15 from across the state.

While several workshops facilitated by Adelaide-based firm Dsquared Consulting have already taken place, council is expected to have its own specialised carbon emissions profile and best practice guide.

District Council of Grant environmental and health team leader Aaron Price said the Local Government Association initiative was a great opportunity for council.

"I imagine there should be some learnings out of it that we can share with our neighbours and other like-sized councils and regional councils," Mr Price said.

"We are in the preliminary phase in terms of working with the consultant who has given us a spreadsheet to start mapping through all of our energy uses."

"We will collate all that data and go back through the consultant and late in the year we are hoping to get an understanding of our emission sources and a draft emissions summary report specifically for our council," Mr Price said.

"The fact there might be some federal and state funding opportunities down the track - depending on what is realised in the study - is a good opportunity."

He said council would not often get data such as this and labelled it as a "good learning curve" for all.

"I presume in time we will need to be doing this sort of recording anyway so why not be on the front foot and help us handle this and let it guide us on how to compile the data," Mr Price said.

"We record on all sorts of other means in terms of licensing and other government requirements but we pull the information together in the same manner so there has been a good collaborative effort."

He said being a part of the program was exciting and gave council a bit of a "lead role".

"We are privy to this and we would be able to share and support something first in the region," Mr Price said.

"We are at the tail end of finalising the data and fielding any calls or queries from the consultant and so in terms of how the information is packaged up and making sure it is in working form for them.

"Once they are satisfied that it covers all of our sites and different areas of operation we will wrap up that part."

A further report is expected to come back to council later in the year.

Children's book dives into Pleistocene era

SOPHIE CONLON
sophie.conlon@tbwtoday.com.au

FORMER Limestone Coast resident, author and citizen scientist Bronwyn Saunders will be delivering a reading of her first book Diprotodon: A Megafauna Journey this weekend.

The children's picture book follows a young diprotodon, the largest marsupial that ever lived, as he finds his way in the world.

Exploring the megafauna that existed in the Pleistocene era, some of which were local to Naracoorte Cave area, the book highlights the challenges the diprotodon faces from the environment and other animals.

The book was published in October 2023, but Ms Saunders said it had been years in the making.

"I'm the kid from Kalangadoo, that's what I tell everyone," she said.

"I used to go to the Naracoorte Caves annually and see the stalactites and stalagmites."

It was not until after Ms Saunders finished school that the Victoria Fossil Cave- which had 3000 tonnes of sediment and bones leading to the discovery of megafauna in the region- was discovered and in 2007 she visited.

"That's when I discovered megafauna and fell in love with the diprotodon and that's how the book started," she said.

"I enjoy saying it took a year to write and research, five years to get a contract and three birthdays for it to come out."

Ms Saunders, who now lives in Canberra, said she was looking forward to coming home for the event.

"It's awesome to be able to share this book with everyone and I am so glad that I am able to come and do this," she said.

"It is so important because I grew up not knowing about megafauna and I think everyone should know because they are awesome.

"There are all these new discoveries and it is a wonderful time to be alive, to have access to this information and feed it to children and watch them go 'wow that diprotodon is 2700 kilos' and try and get their heads around how long ago it was."

Library acting manager Sally Mann said she was excited to host the event.

"We are excited to host Bronwyn for the local release of her picture book which allows children and families to learn about the fascinating world of the megafauna," she said.

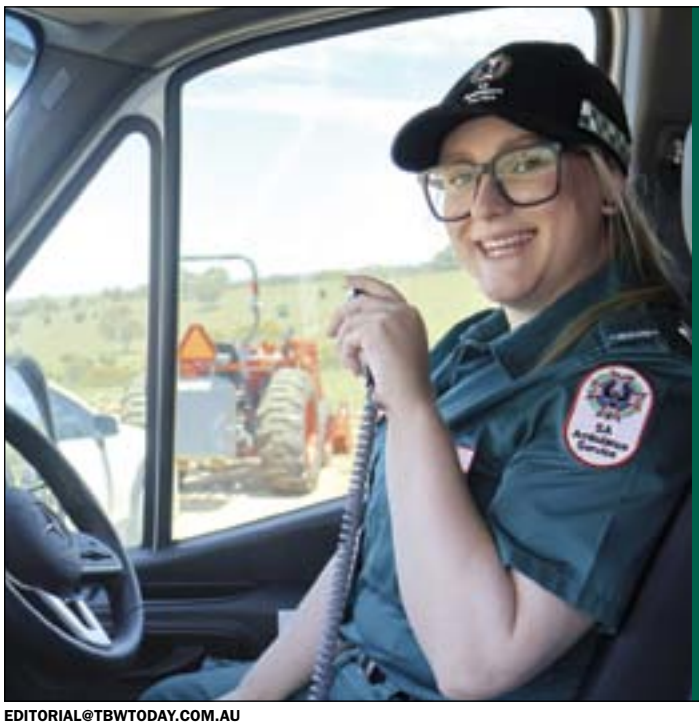

"Published by CSIRO this is a highly engaging book which combines realistic illustrations with reliable scientific knowledge, one which children of all ages can enjoy."

The event is family friendly featuring a book reading followed by an activity for children.

Copies of the book will be available for sale and signing.

The event will be held at the Mount Gambier Library on Sunday, June 9, at 11am.

Bookings are required, contact the library on 8721 2540 or book online.

Compton CFS raising funds

A Mount Gambier/Berrin Country Fire Service (CFS) brigade is firing up the barbies, in an effort to raise thousands of dollars for charity.

The Compton CFS are taking part in the Melbourne Firefighters Stair Climb for the eighth year.

The brigade was named as the third highest fundraiser last year, raising $19,160, but this year, they are aiming for $30,000.

Funds raised will go towards Lifeline, the Peter MacCallum Cancer Foundation and 000 Foundation.

On the calendar are dinners, barbecues and raffles, as well as the collection of used car batteries.

At the time of writing, the Compton Brigade was top of the fundraising leader board with more than $7000 raised, and around four months left to go.

Brigade leader Chelsea Gordon said they had been well supported so far, with many local businesses and individuals digging deep to support them.

"I think raising money for mental health and cancer, whether it's one or the other, you're always going to know someone who struggled with either," she said.

"So I think people are more willing to donate or buy raffle tickets and businesses are willing to donate because they've been affected by cancer or mental health.

"Obviously being firefighters, we experienced both.

"I think it's good to fundraise for things like that because obviously people step up and are more willing to help out."

Batteries can be dropped off to South West Freight for a bulk lot, otherwise individual batteries can be dropped at Mount Gambier Mechanical.

While the fundraising is the main part, the biggest challenge is yet to come - the climb itself.

The event will see the team climb 28 floors while wearing 25 kilograms of turnout gear and breathing apparatus.

Team member Renee Ackerley said the team had been training in preparation, which had been tough but it was bringing the team closer.

"We've been training now for six weeks," he said.

"Every Sunday we get together and train, all this is about strength building and bonding and building a brigade that's got a good heart and a good core.

"Now it's not just the fundraising - once the stair climbs down, you've still got that strength of your core to go with what you do as a volunteer."

Ms Gordon agreed, and said the brigade was more like a family.

"There's a lot of banter in the team, which is good," she said.

"Obviously, we respond to all sorts of jobs, so it's nice, like Renee said, to have the bonding.

"We're not just responders, we're a family here.

"Not just on the truck but obviously outside of CFS, all these guys are my close friends."

$13,000 shatters previous fundraising record

TYLER REDWAY
tyler.redway@tbwtoday.com.au

THIS year's Mount Gambier/Berrin Biggest Morning Tea has managed to serve up a record-breaking final figure of more than $13,000 in donations going towards cancer research.

The Biggest Morning Tea is an annual event hosted by the Cancer Council which aims to raise funds for regional patients who are either unable to stay or travel to the city for treatment.

The Mount Gambier/Berrin Biggest Morning Tea raised a grand total of $13,304.45 from the event, which was held at the Blue Lake Golf Club on Friday, May 24.

Biggest Morning Tea host Karen Petersen said it was "overwhelming" to be able to raise such a large sum for the Cancer Council.

"We thought the cost of living might have affected us," Ms Petersen said.

"I don't like using these words but money is tight and I guess it goes to show cancer is still out there in the community and sadly I think a lot of people are affected by it, whether it be having lost someone or going through treatment.

"I think people understand this and I think it is very important to raise money for regional patients who have to travel to Adelaide for treatment."

Ms Petersen said the addition of Cancer Council guest speaker Elysia Flavel was a first for the locally organised event.

"I think it gives people a bit of an insight into where the money goes, why we do the Biggest Morning Tea and why it has been going on Australia-wide for the last 31 years," she said.

"The generosity from the community and the ladies in the room was simply amazing.

"I have had so much feedback and it has all been positive, it was just great for everyone to come together to support the curb so hopefully we can kick cancer to the curb."

Ms Petersen said it was important for community members affected by cancer to have an event which brought them together occasionally.

"I think these events definitely raise awareness and put it out into the community," Ms Petersen said.

"It is a pretty harrowing experience and it has a financial impact as well as an emotional one too, so if we can help them by raising this money so they can stay at these facilities then I think it does help.

"Sadly some people don't have family staying in places like Adelaide or the cost of fuel to get there is too high so it just helps if they can stay in those facilities."

Ms Petersen thanked her fellow Biggest Morning Tea committee members as well as the businesses who contributed to the events with additional donations.

Stay safe this long weekend

MOTORISTS are being urged to drive safely ahead of what may be a wet and foggy King's Birthday weekend – with 184 casualty crashes occurring over the June long weekend between 2018 and 2022.

In the five-year period to 2022, there were four fatal crashes, 34 serious injury crashes and another 146 minor injury crashes over the winter long weekend.

Preliminary crash data from 2023 shows there were no fatalities over the June long weekend last year – the first fatality-free King's Birthday weekend since 2020.

RAA senior manager safety and infrastructure Charles Mountain urged motorists to drive safely in potentially wet and foggy conditions this weekend.

"Our regional roads and highways are set to be busy this long weekend with people heading away," he said.

"As this is our only winter long weekend, drivers should keep in mind the increased risks of winter driving – especially with rain and morning fog on the forecast for many areas of the state.

"The most common types of casualty crashes over the June long weekend are rear end and hit fixed object crashes – which is consistent with common crash types when roads are wet.

Mr Mountain had some important tips to help keep drivers safe.

"To prevent these types of crashes, check your tyres have the minimum tread of 1.5mm before setting off and make sure to leave a gap of at least three seconds between you and the vehicle in front," he said.

"We also see an alarming spike in roll over casualty crashes over this long weekend – there were 21 roll overs in the five-year period which could highlight the risk of excessive speed or distraction.

"If you're driving through fog, slow down and turn on your fog lights or low beam headlights – not your high beams which can blind other drivers.

He encouraged people to be extra alert to the presence of pedestrians or cyclists, who may be harder to see at this time of year.

"Remember the Fatal 5 causes of road trauma – distraction, excessive speed, driving under the influence, not wearing a seatbelt and dangerous road user behaviour – to ensure you don't let safety take a holiday this long weekend," he said.

On top of this RAA fuel expert Mark Borlace encouraged drivers to fill up their tanks if they saw a low fuel price ahead of the long weekend.

"Thousands of drivers will be looking to fuel up ahead of the long weekend – and every dollar counts in household budgets right now," he said.

"ULP prices have been at the bottom of the cycle for a few days, so motorists are running out of time to fill the tank at those low prices."

Mr Borlace encouraged using fuel price comparison apps to get the best price.

"If you need to fill up a 65-litre tank before the weekend, it would mean a saving of around $26 if you compare prices and find a cheap option," he said.

"And if you miss out, check the ULP price at your destination because it's likely to be cheaper in the regions this weekend."

Casterton musters the kelpies

MELANIE RILEY

KELPIE MUSTER: Casterton is preparing for the annual Australian Kelpie Muster. Picture: AIDAN CURTIS

CASTERTON will welcome a crowd of people and working dogs from across the country this weekend for the 28th annual Australian Kelpie Muster.

Casterton Kelpie Association president Karen Stephens said after putting a hold on the event for 2020 and 2021, they are back into the swing of things and she was looking forward to another successful year.

"We're really excited to be able to hold it again - it's always great," Mrs Stephens said.

"It's a free, family fun festival on Saturday and the association is so grateful to our sponsors that we're able to keep it free for families to come and enjoy the day.

"It'll be great fun and excitement - there's plenty of food stalls, there's all the local traders.

"Everybody is geared up, all of our community groups are volunteering. It'll be a fabulous day."

The street parade will begin at 10am, which Mrs Stephens said is always a lot of fun.

"It's full of colour and vibrance, kids, horses, motorbikes and drag cars - you name it, it's in there," she said.

Following the parade is the famous triathlon - the Kelpie dash, high jump and hill climb - which begins from 11am.

Tegan Eagle, who has been a competitor for many years, is this year in the running for an induction into the hall of fame.

"This would be her second kelpie that goes into the hall of fame and she actually holds the world record high jump at 2.951 metres with her previous hall-of-famer Bailey," Mrs Stephens said.

"She's trained Cooper over the last few years, so she's potentially going to be another hall-of-famer this year, unless someone knocks her off."

On Sunday, the 28th Premier Working Dog Auction kicks off, which Mrs Stephens said has been a huge success in previous years.

"This year we will turn over a total combined value of $4 million of dogs sold since the first auction," she said.

"What's incredible is that we hit that record back at the end of 2020, so in the last three years we've turned over a million dollars worth of dogs for our vendors.

"I think that just shows the importance of working dogs to our farming community."

The day will start with a live demonstration of the working dogs available for auction, which kicks off at 9.30am at Island Park, and will run through to 2.30pm.

Following the demonstrations, the auction will begin at 3pm and will also be live streamed on AuctionsPlus.

"We have bidders from around the world - it's not just a local event," Mrs Stephens said.

"We have breeders that will come from here in Victoria, South Australia, New South Wales, Tasmania and Queensland - they come from all over."

Mrs Stephens said the auction will include a good variety of dogs, and in a good price range.

"The auction has a dog for everybody - we sell young pups, started dogs, right through to fully trained dogs," she said.

"There really is something for everyone."

The Australian Kelpie Muster will kick off on Saturday, June 8.

Landholders called to eradicate invasive pest

LANDHOLDERS are being urged to be on the lookout for declared weed gorse by the Limestone Coast Landscape Board.

The board has stated there have been a small number of isolated infestations across the lower Limestone Coast and keeping on top of the gorse infestations was "imperative" to prevent new incursions of the invasive weed.

Gorse is a declared weed under the Landscape South Australia Act 2019, and landholders are responsible for the control of the invasive weed on their property.

As part of the focus on the weed, landscape officers for the board will continue to work with landholders who have previously been involved in gorse control programs.

This is to ensure infestations have been contained.

Limestone Coast Landscape Board team leader of southern operations Lizzie Doyle said to support this the board was encouraging all landholders and the wider community to "be vigilant" and look out for gorse and their properties.

This includes becoming familiar with what it looks like and where it grows.

"Once established in an area, gorse can be costly to control," Ms Doyle said.

"Identifying and managing the weed is critical to protecting our regions agricultural industries and environment from its impacts."

Gorse's spiny thickets are unpalatable to livestock and the weed competes with pasture and can easily take over paddocks.

It can also displace native vegetation and grow large thickets which harbour pest animals such as rabbits and foxes.

Producing a large number of seeds that can remain viable in soil for over 25 years, managing gorse can be a challenging and time consuming task.

"The revisiting of gorse infestation sites by Landscape Officers complements the control efforts already undertaken by the Limestone Coast Landscape Board to control the weed on roadsides," said Ms Doyle.

"Collaboration with affected landholders is key to preventing gorse spreading across the lower Limestone Coast.

"Our Landscape Officers are here to support landholders to identify and manage gorse infestations on their property, we encourage landholders to reach out to our Landscape Officers for advice."

She said everyone had a role to play in protecting the region from the impacts of gorse.

Timber sales felling away

CHARLOTTE VARCOE
charlotte.varcoe@tbwtoday.com.au

DOMESTIC timber sales have fallen by more than 500,000 cubic metres from its peak, prompting Member for Barker Tony Pasin to call for Green Triangle Forestry timber to be included in the federal housing policy.

Mr Pasin said data from the Australian Forest Products Association and Master Builders Australia showed the decline in domestic timber sales, with the member stating the industry was "ready and willing" to meet demands for timber required to increase the housing supply.

South Australian Forestry Production Association (SAFPA) chief executive Nathan Paine said it had been well noted there had been a decline in new building approvals after the former government's Home Builder program, which brought forward "significant demand", ceased.

Mr Paine said it also resulted in supply constraints particularly during the Covid-19 pandemic.

"The great news in South Australia is the state government is responding to this by providing increased stimulus through stamp duty relief for first home buyers purchasing new homes, as well as supercharging a social and affordable housing program," Mr Paine said.

"These programs will have a positive impact, and while we are pleased that the South Australian Government has implemented a policy to preference South Australian timber manufacturers in government projects, we look forward to implementing mass engineered timber products in multi-level buildings."

He said he was also hopeful the government's stamp duty stimulus package announced as part of this week's state budget would also drive a "new demand" for timber.

In order to further sustain timber sales, Mr Paine said SAFPA was focused on ensuring there were enough trees being planted to meet future fibre requirements.

"We also acknowledge the work of the federal minister for agriculture, fisheries and forestry Murray Watt, not just for his financial support to get more trees in the ground but also for the recent removal of the regulatory hurdle known as the Water Rule," Mr Paine said.

"This rule directly impeded the industry's ability to get more trees in the ground so the work by Minister Watt with his state counterparts, including Deputy Premier Susan Close and Minister for Forest Industries Clare Scriven, has removed a major barrier to planting more trees.

"As a nation we need to make sure that we are planting enough trees to give us sovereign fibre capacity, and the work of the federal and state governments are directly delivering in this space."

Mr Paine said he was confident as SAFPA moved towards decarbonising the economy - especially within construction - there would be a greater focus on the use of timber in the built environment.

"While we have no supply problem now, in decades down the track we will if we don't plant more trees in the short term," he said.

"SAFPA is currently working with Minister Scriven through the Forest Industries Advisory Council to prepare a State of the Forests Report to understand our future supply of timber products against forecast demand to better assess our ability to grow and process our domestic fibre needs.

"Importantly, we need to recognise our role in not just supplying to the domestic market, but indeed the nation, as our state processes 35 per cent of the nations housing timbers, about a quarter of the nation's particle board, 48 per cent of the nation's fibre for packaging and 60 per cent of Australia's agricultural timbers."

Mr Paine said South Australian grown and processed timber remained the "backbone" of the state's new housing construction and with the move into mass engineered cross-laminated timber and glue-laminated timber, the products being used were being done so in new and innovative ways.

"This will incorporate timber into multi-story buildings," Mr Paine said.

"The simple reality is that timber is the ultimate renewable and the only building product that can achieve a positive carbon outcome, with every cubic meter of finished softwood products sequestering a new 718kg of co2e so by building with timber people are not just getting a more sustainable house but supporting local jobs."

Quilt fundraiser all for a good RDA cause

FESTIVAL OF QUILTS: Riding for the Disabled fundraising organiser Natalie Zwar welcomes the quilt festivial initiative.

QUILT enthusiasts will rejoice at the Anglican Church next month as part of a fundraiser for Riding for the Disabled Mount Gambier.

The not-for-profit organisation aims to raise funds for further repairs to its fencing by hosting a Festival of Quilts.

Event organiser Natalie Zwar said she came up with the idea after seeing something similar overseas.

"I thought it would be a good thing to do here as we need to raise about $15,000 for the repairs and tidy a few things up," Ms Zwar said.

"Although we are not expecting to raise that much through this event, it will be a start."

She said having the Festival of Quilts was a "different way" of raising money.

"Some quilts may or may not be on sale and the funds raised will be split 50-50 between us and the church," Ms Zwar said.

"Riding for the Disabled have also increased their clientele from about 12 to 50 due to having an employed coach.

"It has made it so worth it because we have one of the best facilities here and we are very fortunate."

She said the employed coach loved what she did for the organisation and was "very eager" which allowed for more sessions.

The Festival of Quilts fundraiser will be held at the Mount Gambier Anglican Church from July 4 until July 6 from 10am until 3pm with a $5 entry fee.

Our vital industries

WHAT is great about living in the District Council of Grant? For me it has been about the opportunities it has given me, we have some of the most amazing resources in our region.

I feel very privileged that I have worked on some fabulous projects and alongside of some of the most inspiring farmers who have achieved much for our local Primary Industries.

As I sit here writing this and finally hearing rain on the roof after having one of the driest periods on record, I want to share the importance of agriculture, forestry and fishing to our community.

We often talk about our wonderful communities but not the reason we have our communities.

If we go back and look at history, we would understand most of these communities started around an industry associated with either agriculture, forestry or fishing. An example is the small milk and cheese factories that dotted the landscape in our district.

These industries brought the schools, the halls, CFS sheds etc. and we cannot underestimate the importance of these industries to our future, they feed, clothe and house us all!

Take for instance the Mount Gambier and District Saleyards at Glenburnie, a facility that Council proudly owns and operates.

These saleyards are vital for our producers in our council area, they produce around $150m annually with stock numbers throughput currently higher than the 5-year average.

It is in difficult years like this that we see the true benefit of the saleyards, that meeting place for farmers to get off the farm and "catchup for a yarn".

Elected Members and the Saleyards Strategy Committee have been working towards the Mount Gambier Districts Livestock Exchange 2030 Transformation Project over the past four years.

LOVING IT: Kylie Boston said she felt very privileged to do some fabulous projects alongside of inspiring farmers.

Picture: FILE

We were disappointed to learn our project was overlooked for funding in the recent federal government Growing Regions Fund.

This project was important for the saleyards to remain sustainable and world class for future generations. Our saleyards are an excellent example of how council infrastructure provides a necessary service to our local community but without upgraded assets in place, such a service may be in jeopardy. The importance of this project was recognised locally with financial support from the City of Mount Gambier and the importance at a state level with bipartisan financial support of the State Labor Government, and we were also recognised as one of the top projects for Regional Development South Australia Infrastructure Prioritisation. I therefore do not understand how something of this nature cannot be of importance to the federal government.

Council will re-evaluate this project and I can assure our community that the District Council of Grant Elected Members remain passionate about the future of the saleyards and will continue to fully support agriculture, forestry and fishing in our community.

Mayor Kylie Boston

DEAR Editor,

Limestone Coast readers may have noticed a series of policy decisions made by the Albanese Labor Government since being elected two years ago that highlight their disdain for our regions.

From banning live sheep exports to removing water for irrigation in the Murray Darling Basin, it's blindingly clear that Labor doesn't value the economic and social contribution that our regional communities make to the nation.

Even Labor's centrepiece regional grant program, 'Growing Regions' is falling short of delivering for the regions.

Despite being assessed as eligible and suitable by both the Regional Development Department and a multi-party Parliamentary panel, over 300 applications for funding, projects such as the Mount Gambier and Districts Saleyards re-development, were denied the funding.

Disappointingly, only two-thirds of the funding promised for Round One of the Growing Regions program was actually allocated meaning $93.4 million remains in Treasury coffers in Canberra not funding projects in our regions powering our regional economies.

The fact that the Minister rejected an application for $7 million to fund vital upgrades at the Mount Gambier saleyards is quite simply insulting.

With drought gripping and interest rates biting, now more than ever our farmers need support. As a community, we need to stand with our farmers and show support for the Mount Gambier and Districts Saleyards project.

That's why I've joined forces with the Mount Gambier Combined Agents to ask the community to sign a petition calling on the federal government to commit the necessary funding to support our farmers and save our saleyards.

Readers can sign the 'Support Our Farmers, Save Our Saleyards' petition at www.research.net/r/LWWVRP6

Win for home-buyers

STAMP duty for first time homebuyers has been abolished.

The state government made the announcement earlier this week in an effort to "further boost housing supply" and help more people into home ownership.

It is part of the 2024-2025 state budget which was handed down in Adelaide yesterday.

A first homebuyer who purchases a new dwelling broadly in line with the median house price of $750,000 will receive beenfit of more than $50,000 including the First Home Owner Grant of $15,000.

The stamp duty exemption will be available to all frist home buyers who buy a new house, an off-the-plan apartment, a house and land package or vacant land to build a new home.

STAMP DUTY ABOLISHED: The state government has announced stamp duty will be abolished for first home buyers.

Future city vision in sight

MEMBERS of the community from different walks of life have come together to develop a draft community vision for Mount Gambier/Berrin.

The community panel - composed of 28 local people - has developed a vision of the city's future for the next 11 years labelled Mount Gambier 2035.

The Mount Gambier 2035 project is currently in phase three of five with the first phase occurring late last year.

It involved canvassing the broader community to hear about what local people value, what the city wanted to be known for and what could be done in the next decade.

The second phase explored key themes which emerged as part of the community consultation and involved targeted conversations and interviews with several different community groups and individuals.

The independent community panel was established to draft a community vision during the third phase of the project.

City of Mount Gambier manager strategic projects Tegan McPherson said 44 community members were initially selected for the panel and made up a representative sample of the community.

"These individuals really brought their diverse experience, ideas and life experience to the table to review and reflect on a lot of information and feedback provided by our community," Ms McPherson said.

Three sessions were then held across May this year to draft a community vision statement to 2035 and define the "broad strategic priorities" which were required to achieve the vision.

The panel also drafted an identity narrative which summarises the stories, values and unique qualities of "what it means" to be from 'The Mount'.

City of Mount Gambier chief executive officer Sarah Philpott said a community vision was a collective agreement about what the community wanted to be in the future.

"This vision projects to 2035, and it's a shared commitment among everyone who lives, works, and enjoys our city," Ms Philpott said.

"While council are the custodians of this process, the community vision, the strategic priorities and the identity piece are about the community, not about council.

"It's about thinking about what kind of place do we want to be for the future and what do we love now, what do we enhance, what do we see for the longer term future of this community."

Elected members asked the panel to consider key elements which would inform the vision for Mount Gambier 2035, what should the strategic priorities for the community be and what the cultural identity of Mount Gambier/Berrin be described as.

The group was then split into three groups to "explore and address" the individual topics, the overarching vision, strategic priorities and cultural identity.

Experts were also engaged including Regional Australia Institute chief economist Doctor Kim Houghton, Brand Tasmania chief executive officer Todd Babiak and Urban Futurist Stephen Yarwood.

These experts provided participants with context to consider the "shape of regional cities" and how to think about identity.

Ms Philpott said the group's work had been impressive.

"I take my hat off to the commitment of the community members who have given of themselves in a way that I think is pretty impressive and is kind of bold, I think they are to be celebrated for that," Ms Philpott said.

Council has discussed the recommendations from the community panel at a workshop to inform a final draft of the community vision before it goes to the June council meeting to be endorsed for community consultation.

The final endorsement is expected next month before council considering its role in responding to the community vision with a strategic plan to be developed and adopted by November.

DAIRY INNOVATION: Dairy Innovation Day 2024 is coming this July. Picture: FILE

Dairy smarts

DAIRYSA Innovation Day is returning to Mount Gambier/Berrin.

The forum aims to bring farmers, industry members and service providers together to discuss innovation.

Keynote speakers and industry experts who will address the theme of innovation and a future in dairy will be in attendance.

DairySA will also host a pre-conference dinner for South Australia's young dairy farmers.

Following the conference, delegates can 'Gather and Graze' before an annual dining experience.

Guest speaker and industry advocate Big Farmer Andy will not only grace the stage on Innovation Day, but he will also join Young Dairy Network ticket holders for a social evening of networking and story sharing.

The pre-conference dinner will be held on Monday July 1, and Dairy Innovation Day will be held at The Barn Steakhouse on Tuesday July 2.

Registration is now open on Humanitix.

Demand for fodder still high

RAIN across four states has failed to dampen demand for fodder to feed drought affected livestock.

Rural Aid chief executive officer John Warlters said the sigh of relief from farmers who received rain in the past week was almost audible such was the desperation of some; none more so than producers in south-western West Australia where the region had experienced its driest conditions on record.

"This rain could not have come at a better time given the circumstances producers had in front of them," he said.

"But we don't expect the demand for fodder, or the challenge in sourcing it, to change in the short to medium term."

The challenge was still ahead of many farming families whose enterprises had received only light relief and where still hoping for more rain in coming weeks.

Large parts of Victoria remained especially dry – rainfall during autumn had been in the lowest 10 per cent of records for the south-west, and parts of the west, north-east and East Gippsland.

South Australia had enjoyed some relief with falls on average of between five to 15mm but remained parched.

"Rural Aid continues to be active right across the country at this time providing hay for livestock, drinking water, and financial relief," Mr Warlters said.

"Our counsellors are particularly active in providing one-on-one support, but are also attending a wide cross-section of industry events to ensure they are visible and easily accessible to anyone that wants to chat."

HAY DROP: Rural Aid has provided a series of hay drops over several weeks in South Australia.

Picture: SUPPLIED

In the past month, Rural Aid had coordinated 29 fodder drops across the country.

Western Australia

Rural Aid, funded in part by the WA government, had delivered stockfeed, hay, water tanks, emergency household drinking water and counselling support, including connecting with farmers and families in the south west at drought resilience events at Yornup and Manjimup.

South Australia

A series of hay drops over multiple weeks were scheduled, the most recent at Quorn on Monday, June 3.

Further drops at Quorn were planned for coming weeks pending further rain and continuing access to fodder.

Victoria/NSW

Rural Aid counsellors continued to provide wellbeing support while discussions with industry continued regarding how Rural Aid could best support farmers above and beyond its "traditional" service delivery.

Queensland

Producers impacted by bushfires in late 2023 across the Southern and Western Darling Downs were being supported with hay and counselling.

In addition, 30 volunteers recently spent a week working on nine properties in and around Tara.

Mr Warlters said Rural Aid relied heavily on community and corporate support to fund its activities and was encouraging tax-time donations to help sustain its efforts.

"With June 30 just around the corner now is an opportunity to make a tax-deductible donation in support of Rural Aid and 'our mates in the bush' – the farming families that need our help," he said.

SADA concern over starting price

THE South Australian Dairyfarmers Association has expressed concern at the possible impacts of the FY2024 milk prices released by all major milk processors.

While acknowledging not all local processors have adopted a price cut, SADA were concerned and disappointed that processors have chosen significant cuts for 2024/25.

The cost of production for farmers, including feed, labour, and equipment, has been rising steadily and has been budgeted by many as in excess of $8/kg for the coming year.

Maintaining a fair farmgate price ensures farmers can continue to produce high-quality milk without jeopardizing their livelihoods.

SADA president Robert Brokenshire said farmers were just starting to recover and still needed a sustainable profitable milk price.

"We're calling on processes to reassess their opening prices over the next couple of weeks realising that they don't have a business either if milk production is not available to them," he said.

"2024 has commenced as a more challenging year for dairy farmers.

"As with all in the sector, the impact of inflation on input prices has made the business environment more challenging.

He said this had been exacerbated by challenges in maintaining and developing the workforce.

"In recent weeks, the extended dry autumn has placed additional stress on dairy businesses across the state as the lack of rain and resultant poor growth of pastures has led to a greater reliance on conserved fodder together with an increase in feed costs."

SADA recognised the importance of fostering a collaborative approach.

By working together, farmers and processors can develop innovative solutions to enhance efficiency, reduce costs, and improve product value.

The Dairy Industry Code mandates that all medium to large dairy processing companies disclose their prices and contracts for the coming financial year by June 1 each year.

This requirement ensures transparency and allows stakeholders to review and compare pricing structures.

The ACCC oversees compliance with this code.

As June 1 fell on a weekend this year, announcements were required on June 3.

NARACOORTE CATTLE
Tuesday, June 4

Cattle numbers were back 238 head this week with 698 yarded, made up of 402 young cattle, 218 cows, 26 grown bulls and 52 open auction young cattle.

Quality was mixed with the ongoing cold and dry conditions a factor.

The usual buying group attended and operated in a firm to dearer market over most categories.

Young cattle sold to the trade 10c to 20c/kg dearer, with feeders paying similar levels.

Grown steers were 10c/kg easier on quality and with limited numbers on offer.

The grown heifers sold to 15c/kg dearer with several nice quality pens offered.

Cows sold to 15c/kg stronger, making to 272/kg.

Vealers and yearlings sold to the trade from 275c to 372c with feeders paying from 250c to 356c and from 185c to 240c/kg for plainer lots.

Feeders paid to 308c/kg for medium steers and heavy steers sold to the trade from 292c to 330c/kg.

Grown heifers sold from 244c to 265c for the medium weights and from 230c to 340c/kg for the heavy weights.

Restockers and feeders paid from 188c to 304c/kg.

Heavy three and four score cows sold from 235c to 272c with plainer types selling from 150c to 236c/kg lwt.

Medium weights sold from 90c to 185c/kg.

Light cows sold to 100c/kg.

Heavy bulls sold from 190c to 222c.

To be slightly easier, with young bulls selling to feeders from 188c to 228c/kg.

NARACOORTE SHEEP AND LAMB
Tuesday, June 4

Both lamb and sheep numbers were back with 3,940 lambs and 1,161 sheep penned.

Quality was mixed with more clean up lots on offer with several pens of nice quality heavier lambs yarded.

The usual buying group attended and operated in a mostly dearer market.

Lighter weight lambs sold firm with the medium and heavy lambs selling from $5 to $10/head up on last week.

Medium and heavy trade weight lambs sold from $152 to $183 with the heavy lambs selling from $210 to $233/head.

Restockers were active and paid from $112 to a top of $190 with lighter weights selling from $14 to $87/head.

Merino lambs mostly sold from $87 to $138/head and ranged from 480c to 525c /kg cwt.

Medium and export weight dorper lambs sold from $124 to $170/head.

Hogetts sold from $85 to $110/head.

The smaller sheep offering was a mix of Merino and crossbred ewes with several pens of Merino wethers yarded.

Sheep sold to keen demand to be from firm to $5/head stronger.

Merino ewes sold to $110, Merino wethers sold to $120 and the crossbred ewes sold to $115/head.

Light weight lambs sold from $98 to $118/head to average 650c/kg cwt.

Light trade weight lambs sold from $128 to $148/head averaging 670c/kg cwt.

Crossbred ewes sold from $77 to $115/head.

Rams sold from $2 to $25/head.

Yarding: 909 Change: 72

MOUNT GAMBIER CATTLE
Wednesday, June 5

Numbers climbed a little at Mount Gambier as agents yarded 909 head of liveweight and open auction cattle.

There was a small field of regular buyers with not all of these being active over the pens.

Good quality was scarce as a large percentage of those on offer were showing signs of the poor season and were lacking both weight and conditioning.

More open auction calves came forward as producers continue to sell cow/calf units as we head into winter.

Despite this the better cattle still are selling well as the market sold to dearer rates.

Yearling steers to the trade lifted 18c to sell from 273c to 350c with similar heifers returning from 260c to 285c/kg.

Feeders operated from 200c to 311c on steers and from 205c to 289c/kg on the heifer portion.

Grown steers and bullocks also jumped in price as the trade were active from 301c to 357c with a lift of 25c to 30c while feeders operated from 287c to 354c/kg.

Grown heifers attracted the trade buyers from 248c to 301c with feeder support from 280c to 290c/kg.

Heavy cows also lifted 30c to sell from 230c to 268c with the lighter lots returning from 170c to 235c/kg.

Heavy bulls sold at 220c as lighter lots sold to 235c/kg.

Demand rises for goatmeat

AUSTRALIAN goatmeat is being well-received internationally, according to a new report.

The Meat and Livestock Australia's (MLA) 2024 Global Goat Snapshot has shown that Australian goatmeat production is soaring.

The 2024 Global Goat Snapshot analyses domestic production, supply volumes, pricing, export figures and market access conditions.

According to the report, Australia remained the world's largest goatmeat exporter, with 2023 also representing the second-highest volume of goatmeat exported ever.

This is partly due to lower prices for goatmeat which supported higher export volumes, although this affected the total export value in 2023, seeing it fall by 10 per cent compared to the record-high year of 2022.

The United States remained the largest market for Australian goatmeat, with volumes more than double those of the second-largest market, mainland China.

While goatmeat is a niche protein with low awareness among the general American public, demand is skewed to the large populations of several ethnic backgrounds including Caribbean and Asian populations and concentrated in specific cities as shown in the report.

Mainland China surged as the second largest market, followed by South Korea, which continued its rapid growth for the fourth consecutive year.

These markets continued to have a growing appetite for Australian goatmeat, which is a key consideration for MLA's International Markets teams.

While around 95 per cent of Australian goatmeat is exported, MLA's category and market insights analyst Emiliano Diaz said the domestic market also represents a significant market and opportunity, with specific consumer segments driving growth.

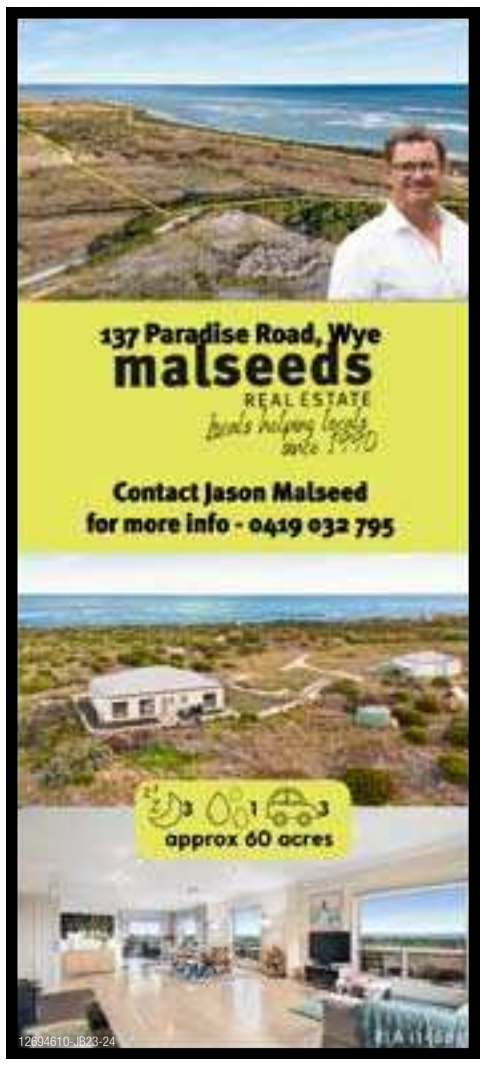

EXPORTS: While around 95 per cent of Australian goatmeat is exported, MLA's category and market insights analyst Emiliano Diaz said the domestic market also represents a significant market and opportunity, with specific consumer segments driving growth. Picture: FILE

"In early 2024 MLA launched the Goat Trail campaign, a consumer-focused campaign that aims to drive awareness of goatmeat on local menus and show consumers where to find and experience it in Sydney," Mr Diaz said.

"This initiative is capitalising on the opportunity for broader appeal and increased product availability and showcases the versatility and novelty of this underrated protein."

GLENBURNIE LIVESTOCK REPORT 5/6/2024

The hint of rain and smaller yarding across Southern markets all helped contribute to seeing strong prices across all processor categories this week at Glenburnie. Cattle purchased by the processors and feedlots were all dearer by at least 10-25c per kg. 909 cattle came forward this week, with a large percentage being splitter calves 2-8 weeks old. The continuing dry conditions making this a regular occurrence.

‘On the right track’

CHARLOTTE VARCOE
charlotte.varcoe@tbwtoday.com.au

MOUNT Gambier/Berrin based service delivery officer Alannah Green has made her second trip with the On the Right Track program.

Operated under the Department of Infrastructure and Transport, the program helps Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islanders who live in the Anangu Pitjantjatjara Yankunytjatjara (APY) and Maralinga Tjarutja (MT) Land get their driver’s licence.

Thirty Service SA staff travel with the program, making 32 trips a year in small convoys to the APY and MT Lands, Yalata, Coober Pedy, Oodnadatta, Marree, Leigh Creek, Copley, Nepabunna and Ceduna

The team visits communities in the lands regularly helping people understand how to obtain their driver’s licence, get it back if they have had one in the past, learn road rules, get driving lessons and practice as well as take the test for either a learners or provisional licence.

Ms Green said making the trip and being a part of the program was a “powerful reminder” of what customer service was all about.

“There were young kids coming in, maybe in their early 20s, who had been sitting on a learner’s permit for six years because it has taken them that long to be able to get their driving hours,” Ms Green said.

“To have an instructor to drive with, and to see them finally pass a test, was huge as it means they can go off and get their first job and start living life, something most young people take for granted.”

She said the communities were appreciative that the program could visit and they seemed “so much happier” knowing any fines or registration fees had been sorted out.

In late 2023, Ms Green was given the opportunity to travel with On the Right Track to Coober Pedy as part of the new initiative to invite a Service SA employee on Country with the team.

ON THE RIGHT TRACK: Service Delivery Officer Alannah Green, On the Right Track participant, Erin and Paula Clarke, motor driving instructor enjoy the program. Picture: SUPPLED

The trip enabled staff to explore how Service SA could support the program and help Aboriginal and non-Aboriginal people in remote regions to “overcome common barriers” to assessing services - such as not having photo to identification or a driver’s licence.

“Coober Pedy was my first time on Country and I could not wait to go back on the road with the team, this time to the APY Lands,” Ms Green said.

“Besides providing driving lessons and practical tests, the team delivers road safety education, child restraints and tow straps and helps with managing fines, proof of age and identity and other Service SA transactions.”

She said being born and raised on Boandik land and having lived in Mount Gambier/Berrin there was not a lot of education around the “true understanding” about the land.

“I think it is great to now see the education about Boandik land, the signage around our region and to see stories of our history,” Ms Green said.

“We live on beautiful country but it is nothing like the APY Lands, the land has never been mined, there is no construction, there are no high-rise buildings - it is untouched and there is nothing more beautiful than that.”

She said every community was different and at first she expected red dirt everywhere and for the land to be really dry.

“While there were areas like that, other communities were very green,” she said.

“It was surreal and it was amazing to see land for so long in front of you.

“To get from one community to the next, we might drive for two hours on an unsealed road and see nothing but country.”

She said she had come back feeling “refreshed” with the experience allowing her to put things into perspective.

“From a cultural perspective this was a special learning experience, the people we met taught me so much about their connection to Country and I also learned a lot from the driving instructors I travelled with who are hugely knowledgeable after being part of the program for many years,” Ms Green said.

“Seeing the impact the program has and the opportunities this presents was inspiring.

“There were many highlights, from helping people with small transactions, to seeing them achieve huge personal feats such as obtaining their learner’s permit or provisional licence.”

She said moving forward, she hoped to improve customer engagement for Aboriginal people in all settings.

Be mindful

AUTHOR, dietitian, and mindfulness practitioner Sallyanne Pisk will visit Mount Gambier Library to offer tips and strategies on how to make food and lifestyle choices to improve health and wellbeing this June. Participants will learn the secret to changing your eating habits for good, without the diet gimmicks. Ms Pisk is an accredited practising dietitian and mindfulness practitioner and combines a mindfulness-based approach with sound and practical nutrition and lifestyle advice.

“During my career as a dietitian and mindfulness practitioner I have heard the same thing several hundred times – ‘I know what to eat, but I just can’t stick to it,” she said.

“The aim of the talk is to share why diets don’t work and why it is not your fault.”

Library acting manager Sally Mann said they were excited to host the “worthwhile event”.

The free event will take place Wednesday, June 12, at 7pm and will include a supplied supper.

Bookings are required, contact Mount Gambier Library on 8721 2540 or book online.

The best medicine

Melissa Leong witnesses the life-saving work of healthcare professionals for SBS docuseries The Hospital: In the Deep End

South East Funeral Services are the longest established family-owned funeral home in Mt Gambier and surrounds.

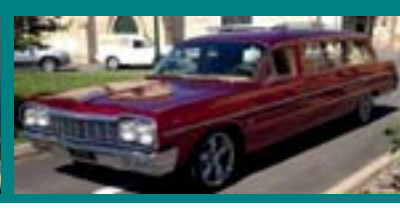

South East Funeral Services

Our professionalism is built on trust, dignity and compassion since 1971.

Mount Gambier Office: (08) 8725 4333 | Casterton Office: (03) 5581 2020

South East Funeral Services are the only provider in Mt Gambier, for your combined funeral service, wake and cremation needs.

Mel's medical marvel

Melissa Leong's new project, The Hospital: In the Deep End, might seem like an unusual next step for the devout foodie. But as she tells Siobhan Duck, filming the SBS docuseries was a profoundly personal and enlightening experience Doctor's orders: Samuel Johnson, Melissa Leong and Costa Georgiadis witness the goings on inside Sydney's St Vincent's Hospital.

MELISSA Leong relishes being thrown in the deep end. That's what drove her to take on the high-profile job of hosting MasterChef Australia in 2019. It was also the reason she left the cooking juggernaut last year.

Excited to start a new adventure, Leong was puzzled by the reaction to her departure from MasterChef.

"Different outlets chose to report on my change in career – or my expansion of my career – as a negative thing, because they really didn't understand who I am or what I'm capable of," she shrugs.

"I need to give myself the space to explore what I can do next. I am so grateful for every lesson I learned and everything that I gained from being on MasterChef, it was one of the great highlights of my life and my career. It will always be such a shining light in my life. But I am someone who thrives on momentum; who thrives in discomfort and learning from growth."

Leong certainly practices what she preaches. While hosting Dessert Masters is very much in step with what people know and love about her, two more recent roles have been a complete change of pace.

First there was her unexpected stint hosting an episode of UFC show Fight Week for Fox Sports and Kayo. Who knew Leong loved cage fighting as much as she adores food?

And now, Leong is broadening her horizons yet again with The Hospital: In the Deep End.

The three-part SBS factual series sees Leong, together with actor Samuel Johnson and gardening guru Costa Georgiadis, working alongside healthcare professionals in Sydney's St Vincent's Hospital.

"I'm a big believer in putting yourself outside of your comfort zone because I think that's where we grow the most," she explains.

"I think it's where we become more of ourselves. And so why not say yes to an opportunity like this, especially one involving Sam and Costa. I mean, what tremendous people to be going on this ride with."

Apart from offering a fresh test, this series was also personal for Leong.

"My mother has spent 54 years in the medical industry," Leong enthuses proudly.

"She just turned 70 and she's still working in the industry now. She refuses to retire.

"So, she actually started training become a nurse at 16 in Singapore and then eventually moved to Australia and became an RN [registered nurse] and then the nurse unit manager and now a hospital administrator."

Following in her mum's medical footsteps is Leong's brother, who graduated as a doctor last year.

"So, I'm the non-medical black sheep of the family," she laughs.

While Leong was growing up, her mother worked night shifts so that "there was always a parent around to take care of us".

A decade of those years was spent working in emergency where, Leong says her mum "would experience all kinds of crazy things because that department after dark is a very complex and intense place, as I now understand firsthand."

Although her mother has always shared stories about her work with Leong, the food writer was eager to better understand exactly "what my mother sacrificed or where she went at night when we were asleep as children".

Although she went into the experience with plenty of sage advice from family and friends, Leong says nothing prepared her for the sensory overload of a shift in the emergency department.

"It's always good to have context in the back of your head and hear anecdotal stories of things people go through," she says.

"I have friends who are in the medical profession as well. So, I do hear lots of different stories but it's a different thing entirely to witness it with your own eyes – especially in surgery or emergency where the 'bat phone' will ring, and you have someone rushed in who is in a life-threatening state.

> "IT'S A DIFFERENT THING ENTIRELY TO WITNESS IT WITH YOUR OWN EYES – ESPECIALLY IN SURGERY OR EMERGENCY

"People are so quick to figure out what's going on, in order to hopefully save this person's life."

Leong drew on the skills she has honed as a presenter and well-travelled food writer to stay centred in the chaos and focused on drawing stories from the people she met within the hospital.

It helped too, she says, to have Johnson and Georgiadis by her side. Like Leong, both Johnson and Georgiadis have deeply personal connections to the hospital, which have also sparked their curiosity about what goes on behind the scenes.

Georgiadis was the primary carer for his father until he passed away in St Vincent's palliative care ward. Johnson was by his sister Connie's side throughout her battle with breast cancer and then found himself relying on the public healthcare system to get him back on his eet after he was hit by a car three years ago.

"Being next to Sam and Costa; two people who are known in Australia as being wholehearted beings and emotionally articulate, present people, I felt so lucky to be in their company," she enthuses. "I mean to be in the same conversation as these two tremendous human beings is something that I find quite humbling."

Leong's experiences on The Hospital haven't made her eager to retrain as a nurse. But she hasn't ruled out a complete career change in the future, smiling, "I think about the law a lot. And that may still be on the cards for me."

"What is life for if not for expanding our perspectives and our experiences?" she ponders.

"And not everything we attempt is going to be successful, but I'm a big believer (especially the older I get) that you learn more from failure than you do from succeeding.

"It all enriches the human experience. So, I'm collecting experiences, whether that's travel or work experiences or education and academics. It's all part of it.

"I want to live a life with no regrets in that regard."

PICK OF THE WEEK

Saturday
INSIDE OUT
Nine, 7.30pm, PG (2015)

This touching tale proves why the brilliant minds at Pixar (fond of releasing sequels to their hits – think Cars, Toy Story, Finding Nemo and as of June 13, Inside Out 2) should embrace new stories more often. Like all the animation studio's best work, Inside Out will appeal to kids and grown-ups alike. The film is set inside the mind of young girl Riley (voiced by Kaitlyn Dias), whose emotions – Joy, Anger, Fear, Sadness and Disgust (Amy Poehler, Lewis Black, Bill Hader, Phyllis Smith and Mindy Kaling) – are struggling to adjust after her family moves across the country. Joy, their leader, tries to keep the mood positive while things spiral into a bad place as Riley struggles to adjust to her new life. Pixar is back to its brilliant best with this charming, clever and heartfelt animation. ★★★★

Mind over matter: Eleven-year-old Riley (Kaitlyn Dias) and her larger-than-life emotions.

THE TIME TRAVELLER'S WIFE
Nine, Friday, 8.30pm, PG (2009)

This adaptation of Audrey Niffenegger's popular novel explores the idea that two people destined to be together will always find each other. Chicago librarian Henry DeTamble (Eric Bana) has a genetic disorder that causes him to involuntarily travel through time, but somehow manages to build a relationship with artist Clare Abshire (Rachel McAdams, pictured with Bana). Her fate is both lonely and wondrous – her lover can come to her and then be whisked away without notice. ★★★★

RIDE LIKE A GIRL
ABC Entertains, Friday, 8.30pm, PG (2019)

An incredible true Australian story of courage, determination and strength, this triumphant biopic captures how Michelle Payne overcame the odds to become the first female jockey to win the Melbourne Cup – and the nation's heart – with Prince of Penzance in 2015. A Discovery of Witches star Teresa Palmer imbues Payne with grit and gumption as she clashes with her racehorse trainer father Paddy (Sam Neill, pictured with Palmer) and fights for her place in the wider racing community. ★★★★

THE SECRETS WE KEEP
SBS World Movies, Saturday, 8.30pm, MA15+ (2020)

Life in 1950s America, replete with women in gorgeous dresses and vintage cars, looks lush, but there's an Hitchock-esque thriller about to bombard this American Dream. In a puzzle-like story, Noomi Rapace (pictured) plays Romanian-born housewife Maja. When she comes across a familiar man (The Killing's Joel Kinnaman), who brings back traumatic memories of the war, her husband Lewis (Chris Messina) is suddenly flung into her tragic story – and discovers a man tied up in their house. ★★★★

MAIGRET
SBS World Movies, Sunday, 8.30pm, M (2022)

Ensconced in shadows and the tender sadness of French icon Gérard Depardieu's (pictured) pipe-smoking detective, this adaptation of the classic mystery novels from Georges Simenon – akin to a French Sherlock Holmes – is film noir at its polished best. Glimmering with opulent, moody 1950s sets and gorgeous costumes, celebrated French director Patrice Leconte's (The Girl on the Bridge) slow-moving crime mystery centres on Maigret's investigation into a 20-year-old orphan's murder. ★★★

DEN OF THIEVES
9Go!, Monday, 8.30pm, MA15+ (2018)

An elite unit of the LA County Sheriff's Department and California's most successful bank robbery crew go head-to-head in this gritty crime saga. Gerard Butler is 'Big Nick' O'Brien, the hard-drinking leader of the 'good' guys, while Pablo Schreiber (pictured) is recently paroled Outlaws leader Ray Merrimen, who has an elaborate plan for a heist on the city's Federal Reserve. The tension between the pair threatens to explode at any moment and makes for a gripping battle. ★★★★

STAR TREK INTO DARKNESS
Nickelodeon, Tuesday, 8.30pm, M (2013)

In this 12th voyage of the beloved franchise, the visual splendour and dark tone are amped up for an action-packed thrill ride. In the second feature from J.J. Abrams (Star Wars: The Rise of Skywalker), Benedict Cumberbatch (pictured) joins the fantasy in a poignant portrayal of iconic villain Khan Noonien Singh. With an emphasis on style, this crowd-pleaser sees the action taking place during the Enterprise crew's younger years, with the fleet on a mission to seize a weapon of mass destruction. ★★★★

The Guide

HARD QUIZ KIDS
ABC Family, Saturday, 7.30pm

Cancel all your plans and stay in: there's something for the whole family to giggle about in this lively new spin-off series. After nine seasons of his deadpan, biting humour hosting Hard Quiz, it's the young ones' turn to show up grumpy Tom Gleeson (pictured, with contestant Aston) with their impressive wit and knowledge. Kids aged between 10 to 13 are quizzed on their favourite subjects in this warm-hearted show celebrating cleverness, where cheeky banter reigns supreme. "I don't hold back with these kids... but they are all obsessed with roasting these days, so they often gang up on me,' quips Gleeson. The comic has an extra twinkle in his eye in this family-friendly caper that holds onto the trademark quick-witted spark.

PICK OF THE WEEK

AUSTIN
ABC TV, Sunday, 8pm

There's a lot of love in and behind the scenes of this unique, delightful homegrown – yet decidedly international – series. Brimming with unexpected talent, filmed in Canberra and starring Love on the Spectrum's Michael Theo in his first acting gig, this warm tale of acceptance was created and written by British comedy stalwart Ben Miller (Death in Paradise) with a crew of top-notch writers including Aussie Adam Zwar (Wilfred). In the zany, awkward tale about family, Miller plays a beloved children's author married to an illustrator (Sally Phillips) when two incidents torpedo his idyllic life: a social media storm and the discovery of a grown-up son (Theo).

Plot twist: Author Julian (Ben Miller) is surprised by the existence of his adult son Austin (Michael Theo).

TINY BEAUTIFUL THINGS
SBS Viceland, Monday, 9.25pm

The magnetic Kathyrn Hahn, who has carved a career with complicated and diverse roles, lands a career-defining turn in this adaptation of Wild author Cheryl Strayed's much-loved book. Pull out a hanky and prepare for this whip-smart, poignant, darkly witty and a little raunchy drama. Hahn is flawless as writer Clare; she's pumping out advice in a self-help column while her own world crumbles amid her marriage breakdown and her teenage daughter's (Swift Street's Tanzyn Crawford, pictured, right, with Hahn) estrangement. Told through flashbacks to Clare's past with a stirring performance from Sarah Pidgeon as her young self, this tear-jerking eight-part series dazzles with a crisp, piquant script.

WHO DO YOU THINK YOU ARE?
SBS, Tuesday, 7.30pm

This dig into genealogy and the pivotal, surprising and stirring little nuggets that are dug up offers a compelling trip into the past. The fact that well-known faces sign up for this intimate trip brings an extra layer of intrigue. Following stars including actress Miranda Otto, chef Manu Feildel and writer Kathy Lette – and with The Castle's Stephen Curry and Back Roads' Heather Ewart's unique family trees still waiting to be (metaphorically) climbed – tonight it's Melissa Doyle's (pictured) luck to examine her family's past. The journalist and former Sunrise co-host delves into both sides of her family in an oceanic voyage that lands in New Zealand as well as Australia.

STYLISH TOWNHOUSE WITH ELEVATED OCEAN VIEWS

ARE you looking for a low maintenance holiday escape or AirBNB opportunity? 2/6 Germein Court is the home you've been waiting for.

TDC Livestock and Property are proud to present this double storey retreat, offering the perfect balance of style, space and practicality - easy living at its finest. Situated literally across the road from the beach, enjoy morning strolls on the sand, and be easily connected to all of Port Macdonnell's fantastic cafes, playgrounds and amenities via the convenient seaside walking track.

The upstairs is truly the highlight of the home, with stunning views out every window. With a balcony on both sides of the upper level, chase the glorious sunshine all day and enjoy the sweeping ocean views that they provide.

The contemporary open plan living area offers an abundance of natural light and neutral tones, with a cosy lounge area complemented by a good sized dining area and split system air-conditioning. The modern kitchen offers Lighthouse views, dishwasher, gas cooking, ample storage (with pantry and additional large walk-in pantry) and feature splashback tiles.

Downstairs offers two spacious bedrooms, both with built-in robes. The bathroom offers a bath and separate shower with adjoining vanity area and separate toilet. The laundry offers outside access to a low maintenance courtyard, perfect for the children or pets to run around.

The single car garage offers flexibility as both car/garden storage, or alternatively as a spacious third bedroom (as it is currently being used).

Walk-in walk out opportunity available by negotiation.

Contact Karly Honner 0438 339 729 for more information.

Upgrading your home will keep you busy and productive, leaving you proud of your space and your work. Picture: ISTOCK

Your local hardware store will have inspiration and advice for your DIY home upgrades. Picture: ISTOCK

EASY DIY HOME UPGRADES

WHEN it comes to redesigning your home, there is nothing quite like the satisfaction of conjuring up an idea and seeing it come to life.

Depending on the changes you're looking to make at home, there are a variety of easy DIYs that can save you money, refresh your home and give you a fun, satisfying activity to keep busy. Other than basic refreshers to houses such as a new coat of paint or some extra decorations, read on to learn more about how to jazz up your space for less.

Upgrade hardware around the house

Adding fresh hardware to your home can modernise or neaten a room's feel. Whether it be door handles, cupboard door knobs or hinges, having a streamlined style of hardware throughout your home can tie each space together in a consistent manner that maintains the colour and style theme. Door handles and hinges are fairly straightforward to replace, and your local hardware store will likely have a range of stylish designs to choose from.

Refresh your bathroom fixtures

Similarly to hardware fittings, updating bathroom hardware such as taps, handles, showerheads and hooks is a surefire way to keep your bathroom looking new and stylish. A little more difficult than regular hardware in the home, plumbing fixtures may require a bit more attention. However, the effect will be well worth it, and can save your hip pocket from the pain of a full bathroom renovation. Online tutorials are available for bathroom fittings of all varieties.

Give your tiles and benches a new lease on life

Dulux has a range of paints suited to tiles and benchtops, giving you the chance to save thousands of dollars on new finishes and tiling costs. Whether you choose a pattern to follow on your kitchen splashback or implement a new colour scheme into your bathroom, the Dulux Renovation range is suited to tiles, vinyl, plastic, laminate and stone surfaces.

Change up your cabinetry

To go with your new benches and tiles, consider painting your drawers and cabinet doors, and adding new hardware like drawer handles. To tie in with new door handles and other hardware updates around the house, adding new knobs to kitchen cupboards or bathroom cabinets will polish any area and is almost too easy to complete. To step up your style, consider adding some trim or panelling to cabinets, or even walls and doors throughout your home.

Update your lighting

Something as simple as changing your light fixtures at home can give different spaces a brand new look and feel. Pendant lights over the kitchen bench are very on trend, and floor lamps can make a space feel warm and inviting. Even changing the light globes around the house can make things feel different, so consider switching your cool-toned light globes to warm-colored lights or vice versa.

Visit your local hardware store for tips and inspiration, or check out online tutorials for straightforward home DIYs! ●

RIVER RETREAT

Positioned on an elevated hillside within walking distance from river landings on the picturesque Glenelg River, this beautifully designed home welcomes you and complements its natural surroundings. Large windows in the spacious open plan living area provide a magnificent viewing platform for an array of beautiful birdlife - a pleasure to watch while enjoying your morning coffee. Stunning polished floorboards are a real feature throughout the living area and cozy lounge offers an inviting wood fire plus the convenience of reverse cycle split system air conditioning. Kitchen offers modern look and convenience, with electric cooking facilities and granite benchtops as an added touch of luxury. Three bedrooms all carpeted and with build in wardrobes, two rooms with queen beds, third with a double. Modern bathroom featuring a single frameless glass walk behind shower screen and a free-standing bathtub. Property also includes an outdoor hot tub in a private and secluded corner of the property. (Please note the hot tub has not been used for some time and may require repairs). You will love entertaining on the elevated south facing deck, offering more impressive views over the surrounding bushland and down over the Glenelg River. Other features include single car garage under the main roof with internal access to the home, 2nd toilet and laundry provisions at the end of the garage, 5,000 gallons of rainwater plumbed to the house and an equipped submersible bore. Currently the property has been used for Airbnb style accommodation, that has attracted excellent reviews and return guests. Have the opportunity to purchase this property walk in walk out, as a fully furnished home and continue to operate it as a holiday home as well as for your own private use, or as your permanent residence. A haven for native wildlife, this is a wonderful opportunity to own peaceful calming property amongst a beautiful native bush setting. Inspect to truly appreciate.

38 BROLGA STREET, MOUNT GAMBIER

3 BED | 2 BATH | 2 CAR

Inspection recommended to the genuine buyer. This home was originally designed, as a 3-bedroom home and its original owner deciding to make the 3rd bedroom into a lounge, which could easily be reinstated to a 3rd bedroom with little work if that 3rd bedroom was needed. Located in the popular Birdsville area and located on a corner allotment, just a short distance to the Valley Lake walks. This Brick and tile home is a one owner, with established trees and gardens, plus single garage under the main roof and because of the corner allotment, with a little landscaping you could have room boats and caravans. Two large bedrooms with the main having walk in robe and en-suite. Well-appointed bathroom plus a huge laundry ideal for a bit of storage. When they talk about good bones, this is the type of home they are talking about.

1324 Old Kalangadoo-Penola Rd, Penola

‘The Grass” EOI Due 20th June 2024

TDC is pleased to offer ‘The Grass’ 684 acres or 276.86 hectares 15kms Southwest of Penola and 13kms from Kalangadoo off the Old Kalangadoo Road. The Kalangadoo area is reknowned for its reliability with consistent winter rainfall or around 730mm per annum and quality soil types with the area being a base for many horticultural, and grazing properties. ‘The Grass’ is a spring/summer feed machine featuring heavy loam soils which retain moisture for long periods allowing the strong clover, phalaris and ryegrass pastures to thrive when many areas shut down. The large red gums offer protection to the livestock as well as adding that little something to the attractiveness of the parcel. At the rear of the property is a 100-acre centre pivot only a few years old, with the addition of the 127.5 mL water licence it adds the security of being able to produce feed when other areas are lacking. Cattle facilities are at the front of the property alongside the hay shed which is 20mx13m. Stock water to the property is via solar pumps to tanks which are scattered over the parcel, there is also rear access along a laneway. Overall, a great parcel in a very secure rainfall area.

AT THE HOME'S HEART

WHEN planning a new kitchen or renovating an older one, it is best to start with a budget and stick to it.

There will be a few added extras that are not included in the initial plans, such as plumbing alterations, power issues and floor surfaces, so having a little extra in reserve is handy.

The kitchen plan should be people-friendly and make it easy to work within.

Ideally appliances should be within a couple of steps of the centre of the kitchen, which allows them to be within easy reach.

Depending on the situation you may need to install a new oven, stove top or fridge so choose carefully to get the most benefit within your budget.

Also take into account future expenses by checking energy efficiency ratings.

There is so much to choose from when it comes to bench tops, cabinets, walls and flooring, allowing for personal style and needs.

Choosing factors such as looks, durability, hygiene, safety and maintenance are key as you want a concept that will not date quickly.

Electrical and lighting is usually one of the bigger issues when renovating a kitchen, so try to work with the systems in place, otherwise it could get costly.

If you want to revamp the lighting why not look at skylights as a natural alternative.

Lighting should also be taken into account over the kitchen sink and stove top.

Once you have an idea on how you want your kitchen to look, it is time to engage a cabinetmaker, plumber and electrician to make your dream kitchen a reality.

If it is possible, ensure you have all the quotes and contracts finalised before one of the trades starts so it becomes a smoother process and it is completed in a timely manner.

Purchase or choose the larger items such as oven, stove top and kitchen sink once the quotes have been accepted as delivery dates can also become a problem and halt proceedings. ●

On Demand

Field of dreams: Matildas past and present, including (from left) Mary Fowler, Sam Kerr and Julie Dolan, feature in Trailblazers.

GAME CHANGERS

TRAILBLAZERS
Streaming, Stan

In the lead-up to Aussie women's soccer team the Matildas' mission to finally nab the sport's first Australian Olympic medal at the Paris 2024 games, this humble, educational and eye-opening documentary warmly traces the team's no-frills beginnings and their meteoric rise to stardom.

Hosting last year's FIFA Women's World Cup saw the buzz around the talented Tillies grow, as the whole nation hummed with enthusiasm and pride, drawing a gob-smacking 11-and-a-half million viewers for their semi-final clash against England.

Incredibly, it was the most-watched TV program in Australian history, in what is a stunning turnaround for a team that struggled for recognition or support in their early days.

From a post-World War I ban on women playing soccer for more than 50 years to Matildas' players resorting to men's hand-me-down uniforms and a controversial calendar, the game's ascent is attentively outlined, presenting compelling insights which honour the tenacity and passion that paved the way for the stars of today.

Featuring relaxed interviews with current players including Sam Kerr, Ellie Carpenter and Mary Fowler, this doco, created by an all-female production, affectionately shines a light on pioneering athletes such as first Indigenous female player Karen Menzies and first-ever Matildas captain Julie Dolan, who are wry, generous and honest.

A treat for fans and newcomers alike, you'll be galvanised and excited for the Matildas' future after relishing this fervent little feature.

MOTHER'S INSTINCT
Streaming from Friday, Prime Video

Oscar-winners Anne Hathaway and Jessica Chastain (both pictured) steer this glossy psycho thriller to an unnerving precipice. The directorial debut of cinematographer Benoît Delhomme, whose CV includes The Theory of Everything and Lawless, this '60s-set story fixates on neighbours whose bond erodes after one of their young sons dies.

CLIPPED
Streaming,Star on Disney+

Based on the real-life scandal involving the NBA's LA Clippers, this six-part series shoots for an alley-oop. Modern Family's Ed O'Neill (pictured with Jacki Weaver and Cleopatra Coleman) is memorable as team owner Donald Sterling, with Laurence Fishburne almost stealing his thunder as steely coach Doc Rivers. This lively story of race and class is engrossing.

FALLEN IDOLS: NICK AND AARON CARTER
Streaming from Saturday, Binge

Released amid boy-bander Nick Carter's court battle with his accusers, this wild docuseries is ruefully engrossing. It's a shocking insight into the #MeToo movement and the dysfunction of the Backstreet Boy's family. Peddling a one-sided narrative with fast-paced gusto, it also highlights his late brother Aaron's (pictured, left, with Nick) drug-induced diatribes.

HIT MAN
Streaming from Friday, Netflix

Filmmaker Richard Linklater seduces with this bright neo-noir crime showcasing Glen Powell (pictured) as Gary, an undercover hit man who lets romance get in the way of the job. The Top Gun: Maverick star cements his magnetism in this perfectly paced, deftly dark thriller. With a love interest played by Andor's Adria Arjona, this layered lark hits all the right spots.

LET THE CANARY SING
Streaming, Paramount+

You may not be an ardent Cyndi Lauper fan, but this spirited celebration of her career, positive impact and unique outlook will change your tune. The 'Girls Just Wanna Have Fun' singer is devotedly lauded in this doco from Aussie Alison Ellwood which not only features the outspoken artist herself, but a gaggle of fancy friends, including Boy George.

We're Hiring

Scholarship and Graduate Forester Opportunities

Based at Mount Gambier

OneFortyOne is a forestry and sawmill business. We operate throughout the Green Triangle region of Australia and the Nelson, Tasman, and Marlborough regions of New Zealand (Top of the South). We manage over 160,000 hectares (ha) of land including pine plantation and conservation areas, and plant over six million seedlings every year, renewably replacing the trees that we harvest.

We want OneFortyOne to be known as a great place to work, where individuals can realise their professional potential while also being true to who they are. Our purpose is to grow a better tomorrow, and we want to create the best team possible – with the people who have the skills to grow with us now and into the future.

We are looking for a Scholarship Forester and a Graduate Forester to join the Green Triangle Forests team in Mount Gambier, commencing in late 2024 or early 2025 Scholarship Forester.

Scholarship Forester
The OneFortyOne Scholarship Program provides valuable vocational development, paid employment and financial support throughout your degree. This is a great opportunity to complete a degree (HECS free) and be paid while developing on-job experience and skills. On completion of your degree you will be provided with ongoing employment as a graduate for 2 years. Our Scholarship program is a proven career pathway program into forestry that will support you to establish a career within forestry.

The program is open to students who are preparing to study or are currently studying a variety of degrees, including Science (Forestry), Environmental Science, Resource Management or Applied Geographical Information Systems.

We cover your tuition fees and offer part time employment while you study full time, with the goal being to complete your course within three years. Additional paid vacation work is also available during study breaks. At the completion of the scholarship, you will automatically enter the OneFortyOne graduate program.

Graduate Forester
Graduates complete a two-year structured program designed to help start your career on a strong footing as a forestry future leader and / or technical specialist.

The graduate program is open to anyone who has a degree that is relevant to a forester role. You can enter the program with or without the completion of a OneFortyOne scholarship. We will consider applicants who have been in the workforce for up to 5 years.

Our graduates gain valuable experience that provides a sound start to their career. We are proud of the support we provide to develop future technical specialists and leaders for our Industry.

What you can expect
- An informative orientation, comprehensive onboarding and ongoing coaching/mentoring.
- Exposure to the scope of our business within different teams gaining experience across the forestry life cycle and supply chain.
- Formal and informal learning of leadership, decision-making and communication skills
- Support to build your network within the forestry industry
- Training and participation in our fire response team
- Access to health, well-being, and incentive initiatives
- Support to set you up for an ongoing career

For more information or to discuss your eligibility for the Scholarship and Graduate Forester opportunities contact Mae Steele, HR Advisor 0439 089 483.

How to apply

To apply for the Scholarship or Graduate Forester positions, please complete the form available on the careers section of the OneFortyOne website and send with supporting documents to careers@onefortyone.com

We are always looking for talented, passionate people and encourage applicants of all genders, ages, and cultures, including First Nations people, people with disabilities, and LGBTIQA+ people.

Drivers' revving to the max

THE South Eastern Automobile Club's sister club, Limestone Coast Off Road Club Inc (LCORC) put together a Khanacross event for Round 3 of the SEAC 2024 series, held at the Mount Gambier Showgrounds car park on Sunday, May 26.

Club stalwart, Paul (Keg) Height, ably assisted by Alison doing the behind the scenes work and other club members to man the official positions for the day, put together some simple but very entertaining courses for the 22 entrants to attempt on the day's outing.

At the driver's briefing, Paul and Alison, together with Jim Coombe were awarded life membership for the effort they have given to the small club over its 15 years of successful operation.

It was a fitting tribute to each in what they have done in assembling competition activities over the years, assisting with the organization of club and state-level off road events.

The term easy tracks has always caused some drivers to attack with a little too much effort, resulting in the course markers jumping into the path of the vehicle, costing the competitor five seconds for each one an official has to go out and reposition.

That was evident on each of the courses that had been provided, going by the added penalties against the offending drivers.

Course layout for the warm up, a simple short and enjoyable track, saw Sam Thomas set the quickest time of 41.19 seconds, from Phil Wilson (43.20) and Josh Munn (43.26).

The same layout second run and Thomas went a little quicker (40.67) and again fastest, from Jason Sims (42.70) and Damien Wilson (43.13).

Thomas continued as he had started and also claimed the reverse direction of the track, with a time of 40.82, from Henry Sims (42.60) and Paul Razum (42.94)

On the second pass, Thomas was again on top with 40.77, from Henry Sims (43.04) and Phil Wilson (44.21).

Some changes were made and Jason Sims made the best of the track with a time of 39.70 to set the pace, with Razum second (40.03) and Phil Wilson third (40.11).

Despite the pace at the pointy end, four drivers suffered a cone penalty and three who drove a different track copped the dreaded WD penalty.

On the second pass, Thomas was back at the pointy end with a time of 38.06, from Jason Sims (40.16) and Phil Wilson (40.41).

Thomas then claimed the reverse direction with a time of 35.09, from Harry Bliss (37.44) and Razum (37.58).

The second run went to Thomas (35.45), from Phil Wilson (37.84) and Jason Sims (38.02).

Another course change came and after a look-around drive by all competitors, Jason Sims made good use of the direction changes and set quickest time of 40.52, from Geoff Wilson (40.68) and Bliss (41.32).

Times were tight, with a little over one-tenth of a second from third place through to seventh – 41.32 to 41.43 seconds covering the five competitors.

TOO FAST: Sam Thomas showed other competitors a clean pair of heels, claiming the outright honours. Picture: TURN8 PHOTOGRAPHY

The final run in the same direction and, as he had been for the majority of the day, Thomas was quickest with a time of 38.14, from Henry Sims with another good drive (40.08), beating dad, Jason who was left to claim third place with at time of 40.64.

With all the earned penalties added to the times, Thomas was the outright winner, with a combined time of 6:43.35.

Phil Wilson was next with 6:54.11, from Jason Sims with 6:54.25.

Results were provisional at the time of going to press.

The next event on the SEAC calendar is a Touring Road Event (TRE) on August 3, followed by a Motorkhana on August 11 and an Autocross on August 25.

Volunteers will be needed for each of these events.

SEAC asks anyone interested to make contact with the club or any of the members.

Contact can be made on Thursday afternoon at the club office, corner Wireless Road East and Attamurra Road.

Plenty of options for anglers

FISHING

A GREAT weekend weather-wise saw plenty of anglers hit the water and try their luck.

Whether it be offshore, inshore, off the beach or inland, we have had plenty of reports from right around the South East and western Victoria.

Easing seas and light winds over the weekend saw plenty of offshore anglers out trying their luck for barrel bluefin and coming off the back of a few days of very average weather, they have picked up where they left off.

We are still seeing some nice fish caught by the charter operators off Port MacDonnell again this week.

Fish of varying sizes from 75kg through to 120kg+ have been boated and it has been a real mix of colours that are getting the job done.

School tuna have been a bit tricky to find, but one crew I spoke to who did a shelf trip in search of an albacore or two did stumble upon a school out wide that were all around that 12-18kg range and they were more than happy to take a small five to seven-inch skirt.

The albacore have been tough over the last few years.

Whether it is because they are not coming through, or we just are not seeing boaties fishing the shelf that much anymore is anyone's guess.

The bottom fishing is still good, as shark and reef fish from the 50m through to 140m depths have been great.

Jiggers have been finding some cracking snapper, nannygai and flathead out there in recent weeks and these past few days have been no different.

The inshore fishos targeting shark have got into a few nice fish in recent weeks.

BIG CATCH: Another nice tuna boated on Want To Fish Charters.

The stir late last week was needed according to a few anglers.

The water was getting very clear and the fishing was slowing down, so that should have kicked them along.

There has not been any real big shark caught just yet that I know of down the coast, but there are plenty of those nice 10-15kg samples kicking around.

There are still a few snapper getting around for anglers down there, but we are definitely into the tail end of them now.

Aside from the shark, there are salmon down there in reasonable numbers, plus you will run into plenty of other by-catch species too.

Surf fishos have been getting stuck into the salmon, with that big sea and strong northerly making idyllic conditions for the lure chuckers along the beach.

Cape Banks has been the most productive so far this season, but we will definitely see all the other areas catch up.

The Beachport salmon hole is always pretty reliable and this year has been no different.

The size in the salmon hole has been up and down – some days the fish are up around that 2kg mark and other days you have to measure them, but either way they are great fun.

The shark fishos have found some more nice schoolies this week.

The 10 mile at Beachport has fished well, as have a few of the beach access points through Canunda NP.

Closer to home, Jones' Bay, Paradise and Piccininni are all fishing well, though at times weed can be a problem, so just keep an eye on that.

The whiting are still fishing well this week.

Much like the shark I mentioned earlier, if the water is too clean and clear, the whiting become very skittish and hard to catch, so the days following a stir are always more favourable.

The boaties and land based anglers have shared the success, with everyone getting in on the action.

There has been some nice fish this week inside the Port MacDonnell breakwater and both boaties and jetty fishos have caught them.

There are still plenty of smaller fish mixed in, so you will need to fish though them.

Other areas producing nice fish are Blackfellows Caves, Pelican Point and Carpenter Rocks.

Garfish are still on the menu and after a quiet patch, they seem to be back in good numbers.

The usual go-to areas such as Livingstons Bay and Cape Douglas are still producing some nice bags of fish for boaties and waders and the average size is still excellent.

Tommies, trevally and mullet numbers are still good too in all the same places.

The Glenelg River has blocked again in the last week or so and the water level is slowly but steadily rising.

There has been plenty of bream and perch again this week, and they have been spread out right along the river.

Lure fishos have done well on white and lighter coloured soft plastics and the hardbody guys have found some nice fish on natural coloured double clutch and galaxia minnow-style lures.

The bait fishos are doing well on their prawn and whitebait, along with crab if you can catch a few.

Mulloway news has been very light on for a while and I really have not heard of anything solid, aside from a couple of smaller fish that were by-catch on lures.

Hopefully we see a few start to pop up in the coming weeks as the water continues to rise.

The forecast for the weekend ahead looks like it should be fishable for most.

Whether you are an offshore fisho or land lover, you will find something to do.

Until next week, safe fishing.

INTERNATIONAL 2 d
GAMBIER CENTRALS 0

JUST a couple of weeks after their last meeting, Gambier Centrals and International locked horns again at MGA Park on Sunday.

This time the margin was far closer than Inter's 10-1 triumph in Round 5, but it was still the boys in black and blue who prevailed.

At the final whistle it was a 2-0 win for the visitors, but it did not come without resistance from Centrals.

Early in the game the hosts had ample opportunity to take the lead, with some golden chances going unrewarded.

Lewis March and Jake Blackwell in particular had close misses which could have set the Lions up moving forward.

However, it was Inter that drew first blood when a hand ball in the goal square awarded it a penalty 11 minutes into the clash.

Matt Bueti lined up to take the kick and slotted it to give Inter a lead it would not give up.

After that the game reached a stalemate with equal opportunity at both ends of the ground.

Goal keepers were put under pressure but in the end the defences stood the test for the remainder of the first half.

Regrouping at the break both teams hit the park with intent in the second half but again the next goal was elusive.

Both sides swung some changes but it was not until the 70th minute Inter broke through for its second goal.

That came from Caleb Casey, whose celebration was cut short when red carded seven minutes later.

A couple of yellows to Centrals' Matthew Porter and Justyn Saint were also handed out, but ultimately the game had been won by that point.

The rest of the game went without score and at the end of the day Inter ensured it remained a win clear on top of the Limestone Coast men's soccer ladder.

BLUE LAKE 3 d APOLLO 1

Another anticipated match up on Sunday played out between Blue Lake and Apollo.

Hosted by the the latter at Webb Street, a close encounter was expected after their last clash was a four-all draw.

This time there was a victor, with Blue Lake coming out on top 3-1.

The first goal came early when Shar Nay Than slotted one through at the seven-minute mark.

Shar Say La backed his teammate 10 minutes late to give the Rangers a two-goal lead, which they would hold until late in the half.

Eventually Apollo was able to convert an opportunity, with Say Say Wah finding the back of the net at the 40-minute mark.

As such the half-time margin was 2-1.

That remained the case for the first half of the second term, with both teams fighting for control.

Eventually Blue Lake sealed the deal when Shar Nay Than scored his second goal 70 minutes in to bring the scoreline to the final 3-1 total.

From there it was an arm wrestle for the remainder of the game, but the Rangers had done enough to secure the points.

They now sit two wins clear in second place, while still trail ladder-leader International by one win.

Apollo sits in third, level on wins with fourth-placed Centrals, but with a draw keeping it a point clear of the Lions.

This week the league will have a bye for the long weekend, before the home-and-away season resumes on June 16.

Top day on the border for veteran golfers

A FIELD of 42 SE Veterans golfers headed to Bordertown for their latest round in chilly conditions.

However, Robe's Gordie Fleming shone to take out first division with a fine 39 points, from Alan Schultz (Millicent) and Brian Slape (Bordertown) on 37.

Second division went to Brian Pennell (Beachport) with a 38, from Chris Carr (Beachport) and David Lowe (Bordertown), both with 35.

The Ross Orchard trophy went to Mount Gambioer's Barry Brook and Millicent's Jimmy Hyland.

Hyland also gleefully took home the Scotch.

The five nearest the pins went to Brook, Wayne Dunford, Bill Mullan, Schultz, and Russell Lingham, whose shot on the eighth hole teetered on the edge, needing just 1cm to go in.

It was an easy birdie.

Players needed 28 points to get a ball in the rundown.

President Glen covered himself with glory by landing on the 11th green and then putting five times without holing it.

That was truly amazing.

The next visit is to the seaside, Kingston on June 17, followed by Lucindale on July 1.

SECOND DIVISION: Ross Orchard winner Jimmy Hyland, winner Brian Pennell, runner-up Chris Carr and third place David Lowe.

Masters win a family affair

GREYHOUND RACING

MASTER: The Commersh Masters presentation at Tara Raceway last Sunday – MGGRC manager Mark Dwyer and Pat, Liam and Stuey Sharam with Donny Rocks. Picture: SUBMITTED

ADELAIDE breeder-owner Ron Murch's generous gifting of one of his performed greyhounds back in October last year has worked out pretty well for the Penola-based Sharam family.

The dog in question was Donny Rocks and ostensibly he had been given to 13-year-old Liam Sharam who had taken a real shine to the 37 kilogram brindle son of Fernando Bale and Rhonda Rocks.

Previously trained at Compton by Tracie Price, Donny Rocks had first become acquainted with Liam and his parents, Stuey and Pat, when they were making frequent trips out to the leading trainer's kennels.

Later, when Murch learned of Sharam junior's interest in his dog he was happy enough to sign him over to the family.

Taking over the training was Stuey, back in the game after a break of more than 20 years, but looking like he had never left.

By the end of last year, Donny Rocks had won six races for his new kennel and one of those had been the Sharams' first feature event – the Merry Masters over 305 metres on Christmas Cup day.

Last Sunday, he was chasing his first win this year when lining up from box eight in another feature event for older greyhounds – the Commersh Masters over 305 metres.

Masters events cater for dogs over 3¾ years.

Donny Rocks is only a couple of months away from turning five years of age.

The oldest runner in the Commersh was Kerry Hawker's Nero Valentino, now 5½ years of age, but last year's Mount Gambier Greyhound of the Year.

The greyhound with the most starts to her name was the Annette Kampman owned and trained Myola Sunrise who lined up for start number 153.

Liam Sharam would have felt well pleased with himself as Donny Rocks took up the running off the back before striding away to a four-length win over Gladki in 17.49 seconds – a good run for a greyhound of any age.

At the other end of the age scale was Kampman's 18-month-old first starter Myola Thalia in the Winning Post Supplies Maiden Stake (305m).

Away slowly from box seven, the daughter of Aussie Infrared and Undercover Boss quickly put herself in the race before scoring a head win over Peachy Keen in 18.58 seconds.

"We picked up Myola Thalia as a giveaway about three months ago," Kampman said.

"Prior to racing on the track she had a couple of runs at the coursing in Victoria at Lang Lang, where she was runner-up and also contested a stake at Longwood."

Meanwhile, Price brought up his 34th win with members of the Need My Moneynow x Wild Marilyn litter when Wilder led all the way for a 4¼ length win over Rough Girl Slim in the Cadillac Racing Stake (400m) in a quick 22.90 seconds.

The win was the black dog's seventh in a 21-start career and gave his new owners Sarah Price, Garry Harding and Brooklyn Winterfield a quick return on their modest investment.

Most successful of the litter so far has been Wild Banker, a winner of 15 races which includes this year's $10,000 Summer Classic (512m) at Tara Raceway and the Murray Bridge Straight Track Cup (350m).

Portland trainer Nicole Stanley flew into Mount Gambier on Sunday afternoon and arrived at Tara Raceway just in time to see her charge My Boy Josh lead all the way in the Exchange Printers Stake (400m) for a 4½ length win over Cricket Tragic in 23.00 seconds.

She had been among the 53,000 crowd at Adelaide Oval on Friday night who witnessed the Matildas secure a 1-1 draw against China.

A son of Bernardo and Looks Like Turbo, My Boy Josh was also reared at Portland, along with litter brother Keanu Boy Turbo, by Stanley and co-trainer Nifty Lenehan who handled the red fawn dog on Sunday.

"Both dogs have been more than handy for the Shantothemax Syndicate which is managed by Jason Farrell," Stanley said.

"I had previously trained for the syndicate and they are great to deal with."

Looking on point for racing

IS it third time lucky for the Apsley Racing Club this Sunday in its endeavours to return to racing at its home base of Edenhope?

For over 50 years the Apsley club has raced at Edenhope since the closure of the Apsley racecourse in the late 1960's.

Until 2014, the Apsley meeting was held at the end of March, but it was then moved to the Sunday during the June long weekend.

While that is a prime date, the weather is not near as reliable in June as it is in March.

The three-day break enables former Apsley residents to come home for the weekend for family get-togethers and general socialising.

However, there have been major hiccups with racing at Edenhope in June in the past decade for the Apsley club, with its annual meeting transferred on four occasions.

In 2017, Hamilton racecourse hosted the Apsley cup meeting when the Edenhope track was deemed unsuitable to race on in the final few days prior to the meeting.

In 2020, 2022 and 2023 the Casterton racecourse was called upon at the last moment to conduct the Apsley cup meeting, all because the Edenhope track was unavailable due to either track improvements or the track being too wet.

With fine weather this week, it is full steam ahead for a return to Edenhope this Sunday for the Apsley cup meeting.

Although most people desperately need more rain – and plenty of it – the Apsley committee wants the dry spell to continue until at least Sunday night.

All the fun and frivolity for country Victoria's oldest racing club starts tomorrow with the annual Tour De Frances cycling event from Apsley to Frances, organised by the Apsley Racing Club and Apsley primary school.

Tomorrow night is the cabaret evening at the Apsley town hall, the traditional lead-up to the races the following day at Edenhope.

Apsley Racing Club president Laurie Close said the club is thrilled to welcome racing enthusiasts, cyclists and revellers alike to the town for the weekend.

"With a thrilling lineup of events, there's something for everyone to enjoy and places to camp and stay in the region, and we look forward to delivering an unforgettable experience for all attendees," Close said.

Apsley cup day is the final cup meeting in this region for the 2023/24 racing season and it has become more popular than the Edenhope cup meeting held in early March.

It will be the last race meeting in both the western district of Victoria and the South East of South Australia for a decent crowd and lively atmosphere until cup meetings in mid September at Mindarie-Halidon (SA) and Coleraine (Vic).

When nominations closed earlier this week, 385 entries were received for the eight-race program.

Last year, the Apsley cup was won by the Belinda O'Loughlin trained Muntham Missile, ridden by Dominic Tourneur, but neither the horse or jockey will be at Edenhope on Sunday.

Muntham Missile has been retired and Tourneur is expected to be riding at Swan Hill where he has been tentatively booked to ride Hasta La Fiorente for Naracoorte trainer Sue Murphy in a 2400-metre BM 78 race.

Judging by the nominations for the $50,000 Apsley cup, it is shaping as an excellent race, with recent winners Picaroon (Casterton cup) and Red Patrol (Millicent cup) among the 44 entries.

An interesting entry is the locally owned Thrill Kill, who has not raced for over two months since his win in the Mount Gambier cup and subsequent third in the Onkaparinga cup at Oakbank on Easter Saturday.

Although currently out of form, the Sue Murphy trained Farooq is due to improve and his only Edenhope start resulted in an easy victory in the 2021 Edenhope cup.

VETERANS LEADING THE WAY

Like a good bottle of red, Hamilton harness trainer Jim Barker (in his 90's) and his 14-year-old trotter Glorious Finale continue to produce the goods.

Glorious Finale started off the 70-metre mark in the trotters handicap at the Greenwald Paceway last Sunday night and put up a big performance to make it a hat-trick of wins with a narrow victory.

That gave Barker his ninth winner this year on the local scene to easily lead the 2024 trainer's premiership as the club goes into its annual mid-year recess.

The win gave his grand daughter Jackie Barker the middle pin of a winning treble for the night and she again leads the driver's premiership table, six wins clear of fellow Victorian Lochie Cook

It was a good night for Cook, also with a double, including the opening race with the hot favourite Rockabilly Ringo from the Terang stable of Matthew Horsnell.

Victorian drivers made a clean sweep of the program, with Rod Barker driving the other winner, Martin Magic ($10) for local trainer Malcolm Whitehead.

Barker has a good strike rate with Martin Magic at the Greenwald Paceway, especially if the five-year-old pacer is able to dictate terms in front, as was the case on Sunday night.

Ken Dihm was the only other local trainer to have a winner, that being his 10-year-old pacer Hilldale Sunrise ($16) in the NR 40 pace with Cook in the sulky.

Hilldale Sunrise has the habit of winning at good odds, as seen by his two other wins here in 2024 at $51 and $11, and he rallied strongly to beat the $1.40 favourite Our Ultimate Bonny.

Naracoorte trainer Greg Scholefield is a regular in the winner's stall in Adelaide and was there again last Saturday night.

His four-year-old pacer Mikicool ($1.80 fav.) returned from a six-week break with a simple 12-metre win in the NR 61-72 pace with stable driver Gaita Pullicino in the cart.

Mikicool returned a quick mile rate of 1.56.5 in winning his sixth race in 2024, four of those at Globe Derby Park.

WINS SHARED AROUND

Close finishes were the order of the day at the final race meeting of the season for the Penola Racing Club last Sunday, with winners shared evenly among jockeys and trainers on the seven-race program.

Victorian trainers won three races and the Mount Gambier pair of Wayne Walters and daughter Kate combined to provide the only winner for South East stables.

That was with Melissa Kate at double-figure odds in the 1400-metre BM 58 handicap, when the mare dashed away with what turned out to be a winning lead at the top of the straight.

The Walters combination were denied a double in the following event when Innocent Pegg flashed home for third in what was almost a triple dead heat.

With only three meetings left to complete the Limestone Coast racing season, Wayne Walters is assured of winning successive local titles, with 14 winners thus far, double that of his nearest rivals Peter Hardacre, Andrew Bobbin and Sue Murphy.

Jacob Opperman maintains his very slender lead at the top of the local jockey's premiership table after winning the opening race on the heavily backed Kaeslerkruzen ($3.30-$1.80 fav.) for Murray Bridge trainer Matthew Seyers.

The ride of the day went to Penola-born jockey Caitlin Jones, who found herself in the winner's stall following a patient ride on Bruno Stars for Horsham trainer Paul Prteusker in the 2100-metre BM 58 handicap.

With a solid tempo up front, Jones quietly bided her time and steered Bruno Stars ($19) through the field from second last at the 400 metres.

An eight-hour float trip across Victoria from Wangaratta proved worthwhile for trainer Andrew Dale when Mescaminto took out the 1300-metre 0-54 handicap at the gelding's second run this preparation.

Racing returns to Mount Gambier for a mid-week meeting next Wednesday (June 12), where everything for the public will be upstairs in the member's lounge.

READY TO RIDE: Mount Gambier Mountain Bike Club president Shane de Jong will be among a list of local riders contesting Round 2 of the Gravity Enduro South Australian State Series this Sunday at Marist Park. Picture: FILE

Enduro set for Blue Lake City

JAMES MURPHY
james.murphy@tbwtoday.com.au

MOUNTAIN biking action will take centre stage for many this weekend when Round 2 of the Gravity Enduro state series launches into the Blue Lake City.

Mount Gambier Mountain Bike Club president Shane de Jong said all signs pointed towards a successful event and looked forward to hitting the trails himself.

The main event will be raced and won on Sunday, but de Jong expected the Marist Park trails to have plenty of use over the whole weekend.

"We have unofficial practice on Saturday but there will be people everywhere from (Thursday) onwards," he said.

"The main event will be on Sunday with racing from 10am to about 2.30pm."

There will be a mix of new riders and those more serious, with points all contributing towards the overall standings of the five-part Gravity Enduro Series.

"I think this will be our fourth Gravity Enduro round (we have hosted)," de Jong said.

"It has been a popular thing and it just keeps growing."

This year de Jong said there was an increased contingent of Victorian riders making the trip across.

There will be a total of around 200 riders for the round, which is slightly down on previous years, but still offers plenty of downhill action for spectators.

In terms of the popularity of the event, de Jong credited the unique terrain and location to why they have successfully retained a round of the series over recent years.

"I think it is just a really different terrain than what they have in Adelaide so they really enjoy coming down here," he said.

"It is the only race further from half an hour from Adelaide, so they really enjoy that weekend away and to enjoy those different conditions.

"There are not too many places you can stay on the main street and have a five-minute ride to the trails.

"I think that is a big selling point - you can stay anywhere in town and the trails are right there."

While the rain shortage has impacted track conditions somewhat, de Jong remained confident the trails would hold up and be to a good standard for the event.

Some minor works had also been completed in preparation for the weekend.

"It was just about freshening up the trails and getting them to a point where they are going to withstand the heavy amount of traffic this weekend,' de Jong said.

"The rain last week definitely helped.

"The conditions are obviously not ideal conditions compared to previous years - the trails are looking a bit dusty, but I think it will make really good and difficult conditions for racing."

There will be a strong local contingent, including a large cohort of junior riders and first-timers.

Also in the mix are de Jong and his brother Justin, who will both take on the Elite Category.

"We were both top 10 I think last year in the Elite Category," de Jong said.

Deegan Watson will be one to watch in the Under 17 age bracket, while Finn Mitchell is another who will be competitive in the junior category.

Another highlight of the event will be a former Australian Champion who is currently ranked 60 in the world.

"We have one world cup level guy coming down, Connor Fearon, he will be pretty cool to have as a bit of a drawcard," de Jong said.

"He will smoke everyone, but it is cool to have someone like him that is willing to travel down here.

"He just flew back from overseas from Europe."

Food and coffee vans will be set up at the bottom of Marist Park to cater the event, which will also act as a base point for riders across the day.

Mount Gambier dominates Superdrome

THE Mount Gambier Cycling Club made a strong showing at the first of four Superdrome track events held in Adelaide.

The event, hosted at the Adelaide Superdrome, featured 50 riders from across the region, including participants from as far as Whyalla.

Nine cyclists represented Mount Gambier out of the 50 competitors, competing in a range of events, including the scratch race, keirin, moto pace, win and out and the heart starter.

These events provided a valuable opportunity for country riders to gain experience on the indoor velodrome, a different challenge compared to their usual outdoor races.

The competition was intense, with each rider earning points for both participation and performance.

The Mount Gambier team excelled, leading the tally at the end of the day with a total of 132 points.

They were followed by the South Coast Cycling Club with 109 points and the Norwood Cycling Club with 104.

The success of the Mount Gambier club not only showcased their skills and determination, but also highlighted the depth of talent in the region's cycling community.

With three more rounds to go, the competition promises to remain fierce.

The next round of the series is scheduled for Saturday, July 6.

The Mount Gambier Cycling Club aims to maintain its lead and continue its dominant performance.

For cycling enthusiasts and supporters, this series offers an exciting glimpse into the future stars of the sport and the upcoming rounds will undoubtedly be events to watch.

Apollo remain unbeatable

APOLLO 4 d BLUE LAKE 0

THE Apollo express continues to steam roll its way through the 2024 Limestone Coast women's soccer season.

On Saturday the side hosted Blue Lake for Round 7 and came away with a 4-0 win to make it seven from seven heading into this weekend's bye.

Despite the end result, the match started evenly with neither team able to find a way through its rival's defences.

It was not until the 30th minute the first goal came, when Deni Atkin put Apollo in front.

However, her success opened the flood-gates and within the span of four minutes the hosts had established a three-goal lead.

Demi Ingley and Emmie Leibhardt scored those goals and at half time Apollo held a handy buffer.

Leibhardt scored her second after half time, but not until the 63-minute mark, with hers the only goal for the term.

The Rangers fought hard to get on the scoreboard but Apollo was too strong across the ground on the day.

GAMBIER CENTRALS 5 d INTERNATIONAL 2

Gambier Centrals notched up its fourth win of the season on Saturday when defeating International 5-2.

The first half went mostly without goal as the two sides traded blows in an attempt to claim the upper hand.

It was not until the final minutes of the term Kristen Keiller opened the ledger to put Centrals in front heading into half time.

The next goal came early in the second half when Alita Huyser doubled the Lions' lead, before Laura Murdock eventually chipped one back for Inter.

It was not long before Centrals pushed its lead out again with Keiller's second goal of the day, yet again Inter reeled it back to a one-goal game when Isabella Morello converted a penalty.

With the score at 3-2, the game remained up for grabs.

However, Centrals put the foot down in the late stages of the match and two quick goals - to Rachel Muzaliwa and Huyser - iced the game at 5-2.

Centrals now sits a win clear in second place, level on points with second-placed Millicent.

Inter is yet to taste victory this season, which is something the reigning premiers will be out to change after this week's bye.

NARACOORTE 1 d/w MILLICENT 1

The closest match of the round was played on Sunday at Naracoorte.

The hosts welcomed Millicent to their pitch and while the latter entered as the favourite.

However, Naracoorte held its own on the day and a second-half goal ensured the points were shared.

Millicent opened strongly and in the 11th minute took the lead with a goal from Phoebe Rose.

That would be the only score of the first term, with the remainder of the half an arm wrestle between the two teams.

In fact the second half was much of the same and it was not until the final stages Naracoorte was able to equalise.

In the 78th minute Lauren Mather put one past the keeper to tie the game and soon after the final whistle was blown.

It was Naracoorte's second draw of the year, but it still chases that elusive victory in 2024.

Millicent has three draws to its name this campaign but sits up in second place equal on points with Gambier Centrals.

FOOT SKILLS: Blue Lake's Amber Brooks takes control of the ball with Apollo's Bibi Paw in pursuit.

Busy weekend for new archers in Blue Lake

BLUE Lake Archers squeezed in both indoor and outdoor archery rounds over the weekend, which marked the change from autumn to winter.

As the indoor archery championship draws closer, the archers take any opportunity to help new archers prepare to be involved.

Friday night was an introduction to a World Archery indoor round for Justin Dennert and new club member Brayden White.

Paul Freeman and Graham Lock were the two established archers on hand to explain the subtle differences from the Australian Indoor 18-metre that is the most common fixture on Friday nights.

Dennert is nearing the completion of gaining his handicap rating, while White opened his training account with his first scored round.

Freeman was effectively out to beat his own best score after Lock retired just after mid-round.

Freeman produced a solid second half that fell just two points off his personal best to take the win.

A cool Sunday afternoon stayed dry for the first outdoor round of winter.

A pair of 90-arrow rounds were selected off the list – a triple-distance World Archery 60/900 and a single-distance Geelong.

Dennert and White are new to the sport and still on a learning curve and both achieved a series of All Gold ends during the Geelong round to prove that they will be forces to be reckoned with in the near future.

Allan Oschar blitzed the results at the front of the field, completing the day as the only archer above the benchmark of 900 points in the adjusted scores.

Ben Kilsby spoilt the Oschar family party by pipping Callum Oschar by two points to claim the runner-up slot.

Indoor archery continues at the Blue Lake Gymnastics Club, Malseed Park, Friday at 7pm, followed by outdoor archery at Corriedale Park from 12.30pm on Sunday.

WA 18, handicap scored, benchmark 600 points: Paul Freeman 595 (off the bow 550, score rating 87); Brayden White 480 (no handicap rating); Justin Dennert 457 (no handicap rating); Graham Lock 360 (retired).

Outdoor rounds, handicap scored benchmark 900 points: Allan Oschar, Geelong , 911,(off the bow 775, score rating 50); Ben Kilsby, WA 60/900, 888, (863, score rating 98); Callum Oschar, Geelong, 886 (602, score rating 24); Paul Freeman, WA 60/900, 870 (799, score rating 77); Justin Dennert, Geelong, 833 (no handicap rating); Brayden White, Geelong, 826 (no handicap rating).

LEARNING CURVE: New archer Brayden White enjoyed his first indoor archery round and soon finding his arrows zeroing in on the gold coloured centre of the target face. Picture: SUBMITTED

Pioneers need to step up

TREVOR JACKSON
trevor.jackson@tbwtoday.com.au

THE Mount Gambier Pioneers men face a tough test tonight when they head to Melbourne to face the Keilor Thunder.

The NBL1 South clash will be an important game for the Pioneers, who come off a pair of losses to Geelong and Eltham.

Keilor sits down in sixth position, three below Mount Gambier, with both having won nine games for the season.

Keilor has one extra loss, having played one more game.

Last time the two sides faced off, the Pioneers went down by 13 points at Wulanda and will want to do better this time to reverse the result.

That game saw Nick Marshall top the list with 35 points, along with nine rebounds, but Akech Aliir was the only other Pioneers to reach double figures, with 10 points and 12 rebounds to his name.

For the Thunder, all starters plus a bench player reached double figures as they beat the Pioneers at their own game – sharing the ball around in offence.

So far the Pioneers have been in impressive form, but will be tested as the season heads deep into the second round of matches.

It all comes in a hurry too, with a heap of games to be completed by early July.

There is no room for complacency or poor play, with every game a tough encounter.

Coach Richard Hill reflected on the last couple of games and was under no illusions about how tough the competition has been.

"We are hopeful we can play better than what we have," he said.

"We played well against Eltham, except for a bad last minute.

"We really needed to win that game.

"Against Geelong we shot poorly.

"When you miss shots it magnifies everything else and you can look pretty average, but if you knock down some shots it all changes.

"We will try to get ourselves organised and see if we can be a bit better."

Hill was not making excuses, but said if you want to be a good team you have to win when you don't shoot well.

Another loss could be a big issue, with the fixture packed for the Pioneers in the coming weeks.

TOUGH: Christian Peevy will need to be at his best tonight as the Pioneers face the Keilor Thunder. Pictures: JAMES MURPHY

"We have one game this week then two doubles in a row," Hill said.

"One double in Melbourne and another double at home.

"The regular season is all over in six weeks, so we have to be better."

It will simply take a huge effort to beat the Thunder on their home court, but if the Pioneers play well, they can certainly get the job done.

CLASS: Nick Marshall has shown plenty of class this season and will need to produce another outstanding game tonight against Keilor Thunder.

Women set for blockbuster against Thunder

JAMES MURPHY
james.murphy@tbwtoday.com.au

THE NBL1 South basketball season will continue an extended Round 9 this weekend, with the Mount Gambier Pioneers women facing a blockbuster on the road this Friday night.

In the first game of the round the Pioneers were disappointed to go down to Geelong United on their home court and will seek redemption against ladder leader Keilor Thunder this week.

The Thunder loom as a dangerous opponent, sitting on top of the table with 13 wins and a loss from their 14 outings.

However, the Pioneers will take confidence from that single blemish on their rival's record, as the loss was dealt by Mount Gambier back in Round 4.

The return of Zitina Aokuso will also boost spirits, with her absence against Geelong due to Opals commitments leaving a noticeable hole.

Currently the Pioneers sit in sixth position and after a prolific start to the season have lost their last three games.

They will be desperate to return to the winner's list and will trust in their talent to get them there.

The previous meeting between the sides had Mount Gambier on top by 25 points.

It was an even team performance on the night, with Aokuso, captain Isabella Brancatisano, Haliegh Reinoehl and Sherrie Calleia all shooting double figures.

READY TO ROCK: Sherrie Calleia and the Mount Gambier Pioneers women hit the road to clash with Keilor Thunder this week. Pictures: JAMES MURPHY

Aokuso was equally impressive off the boards and finished the match with a double-double of 14 points and 12 rebounds.

It was a big second half which proved the difference on the occasion, as the Pioneers won the third term by 10 points and the last by 13 to cruise to a strong win.

BLOCKBUSTER: Mount Gambier Pioneers women's captain Isabella Brancatisano will look to lead her troops to a win against top side Keilor Thunder this Friday night.

Lily Carmody, Maddison Rocci and Lilly Rotunno were the ones to watch from Keilor and they will be out to impress again on their home court.

Having not lost a match since then, the Thunder will be filled with confidence and will not be taken lightly.

However, Pioneers head coach Matt Sutton said he and his team looked forward to the challenge and were eager to hit the court against another quality opponent this week.

Hunt claims the top spot

THE Mount Gambier Golf Club held its women's Club Championships last week in ideal conditions.

Three grades competed for the honours, with a varying number of holes, while non-competitors played a stableford round.

In the A Grade Leanne Hunt played Faye Mainwaring over 36 holes and Hunt took the championship at 2-up and one to go, a fitting finish for both players.

Jan Shanahan and Denise Harvey also played 36 holes in the B Grade play-off and Shanahan took the honours which was decided on the 36th hole, with Shanahan 1-up.

In the C Grade new-comer Mardi Goodes played against Deb Fowler over 27 holes and Fowler took the championship.

Fowler won the match with 3-up and one to go.

In D Grade the outright winner was Julie Hanel.

Stableford round winners were Marie Douglas in Division 1 with 34 points and Val Grubb with 33 points.

In Division 2 Heather Chapman was the winner with 34 points on a count-back from Rose Hunt, also on 34.

Special prizes were awarded to Helen McIntyre for the pro-shot on the eighth hole, Penni Saffin won A Grade nearest the pin second shot, Helen Heaver took NTP second Shot for B Grade and C Grade NTP second shot went to Yvonne Shirley.

Chilly blast at Attamurra a breeze for golfers

WITH a blast of wintery weather descending on the Attamurra Golf Course, a small field of 57 dedicated golfers competed in the weekly Thursday stableford competition.

Graham Greenwood (14) revelled in the conditions, posting a high total of 41 points.

Greenwood amassed the majority of his score on the front nine with 22 points, comprising six pars and three bogies.

He added 19 points on the back nine, with only two blemishes – a double-bogey six on the 14th hole and a bogey-five on the 18th, both of which only contributed single points to his tally.

Ian Ritter (18) was runner-up with a more than respectable 39 points.

Like Greenwood, Ritter scored better on the outward nine with 20 points, before pencilling in another 19 on the back.

A four-way count-back was required to split four players on 38 points, with Shane Brook (2) taking it out thanks to an impressive back nine.

Brook shot a two-under the card 34 for 22 points, consisting of three birdies, five pars and a solitary bogey on the par 5 15th hole.

Paul Kenny (12) had even splits of 19 and 19, Graham Thomas (21) 20 and 18 and Damian Smith (13) had 21 and 17.

Peter Miller (13) was the only other player to better his handicap with 37 points.

The ball rundown went to 36 points and pro shot winners were Ross Bond (10) on the eighth hole for the second time in a row, as he won it the Saturday before and Shane Brook (2) on the 16th.

Fine weather on first day of winter at Mount Gambier

THE first day of winter surprisingly provided fine weather at the Mount Gambier Golf Club, which attracted a large field of 115 golfers for the South West Freight Men's Monthly Medal competition.

Even with the course set at a challenging level, the conditions favoured several players who were able to produce some high-calibre scoring.

Best score of the day went to Alex Rigaux (38 handicap) with a five-under 67.

Rigaux set up his round on the front nine, with 48 of the stick, which was six under his handicap.

While mostly holding form on the back nine, a couple of minor setbacks on the two par 5s, meant a net 37 was recorded.

As with all other Monthly Medal winners, Rigaux will now have the chance to contest for the Barney Larkin Trophy early next year.

In A Grade (-9-10) Michael Cutting (4) was the only other play to sign for a sub-70 score, with a three-under net 69.

Cutting started with 37 shots on the outward nine, before hitting his straps on the back nine to fire an even-par 36 off the stick.

Bogies on the 10th, 12th and 16th holes were matched by birdies on the 11th, 13th and 15th.

Runner-up in A Grade was Adrian Ballintyne (10) with a net 70.

A pair of double-bogies on the 10th and 15th holes prevented him from signing a winning card.

B Grade (11-16) was taken out by visitor Ben McCourt (16) with a net 70, by a single shot from Peter Miller (14) with a net 71.

Miller has been playing solid golf of late and is sure to have his handicap reduced for his consistency.

C Grade (17-45) needed a count-back to determine the runner-up, with two players finishing on net 73.

Charlie Finch (22), with net splits of 38 and 35, edged out Travis Holland (17) by the barest of margins.

Other players to do well included MGGC golf pro John Martin (0), Matt Bowering (10) and Tom Madigan (9), who all shot one-under net 71s.

On the flip side of the ledger, a tip of the hat to those who showed persistence to continue under adversity to record a double-digit score on a hole.

SP (20) with a 10 on the 12th hole, but special commiserations must go to BJ (27) with a 13 on the par 3 eighth and MT (20) for two 10s on the 11th and 15th.

In the run-down, 35 balls were handed out to those on 76 or better on count-back.

The pro shot went to Peter Waters (11) on the 16th hole.

Limestone gearing up

JAMES MURPHY
james.murphy@tbwtoday.com.au

BRAGGING rights will be on the line this weekend when the Limestone Coast Football Netball League gears up for its first South East Zone Regional Football Carnival.

The 2024 event will be hosted at Blue Lake Sports Park in Mount Gambier, with the senior competition to feature a game between the LCFNL and Mid South East football interleague sides.

Millicent's Tom Renzi is coach of the Limestone Coast team and has a wealth of talent at his disposal.

"We have a pretty handy squad we are going to roll out," he told The Border Watch this week.

"I am trying to get a nice mix of the young blokes who are coming up and exploring it for the first, second, third time, but also those blokes who have the steady heads and you know what you are going to get out of them.

"It is exciting and I am looking forward to it."

Renzi is no stranger to representative football but it will be his first endeavour into coaching at this level.

He said so far it had been an enjoyable experience.

"I am really looking forward to just coaching the group," he said.

"There are people that you play against that you don't usually get to coach or hang out with.

"Anyone who comes from another club, it is good to get out there and speak to them and have those conversations around football.

"I am really looking forward to talking to the other boys from the other clubs."

Renzi will match up against Clint Gallio, who will coach the MSEFL squad this year.

The two are well acquainted, having played together at both Mount Burr and Millicent, while most recently joint coaching the Saints to the 2023 Western Border Football League premiership.

There will no doubt be some friendly rivalry on show this weekend, but Renzi said they were both simply out there to do a job.

"I know people want to build that up, but we have known each other for 10 years and there are no secrets in coaching, we all try to do similar things, it is just how you deliver it to get the message across (that differs)," he said.

"I am looking forward to it and at the end of the day we will sit down and have a beer and laugh about whatever happens."

That does not mean Renzi will not be out to win and he hopes to put on a spectacle in the inaugural appearance of the newly formed league.

"It is the first year of the Limestone Coast footy (League) and we want to showcase what we have got and how our footy has evolved over the last four or five years," he said.

"You go out there and everyone wants to win."

The final playing list was decided last night, which should be up to the task of putting on a show this Saturday.

"The higher you get in any sport the margins for error become smaller and smaller," he said.

"Each of them has their own individual skill set.

"Not all of them are in there for their kicking or marking, but their own individual quality that they bring to the side.

"When you get to this level it is about not trying to do too much and show off."

Whichever side can best put their team first and gel together will hold the upper hand in what should be a good contest.

As always, an added incentive to perform will have all players competing in the carnival eligible to make the training squad for the South East Zone team which will compete in the South Australian Country Championships played in Victor Harbour on July 13 and 14.

Prior to the senior match at 2.50pm, the junior carnival will take place.

In the junior ranks all three South East football leagues will go head-to-head, with the LCFNL, MSEFL and Kowree Naracoorte Tatiara Football League playing off in the Under 17.5 and Under 15 age brackets.

While the senior game will be a full-length four-quarter match, the juniors will play two halves of 22 minutes with no time on and a five-minute break at the change.

TALENT ON SHOW: North Gambier's Nick McInerney will be among the Limestone Coast Football Netball League talent on show at Blue Lake Sports Park this weekend.

ON THE JOB: Tom Renzi is ready to coach the Limestone Coast football senior squad to victory against Mid South East this Saturday.

Carnival draw

THE 10th South East Zone Carnival will be held on Saturday June 8 at South Gambier Football Club.

Each league competes in Under 15 and Under 17½ games which will be played in two 22-minute halves.

The senior game will see the newly-formed Limestone Coast Football Netball League play the Mid South Eastern Football League in a four-quarter game.

Quarters run for 20 minutes, plus time on.

Senior sides must include a minimum of five Under 21 players.

The senior game will be rotated each year between the three South East leagues including those two competing this year and Kowree Naracoorte Tatiara Football League.

All players competing are eligible for the training squad for the South East Zone team which will compete in the South Australian Country Championships on July 13 and 14 in Victor Harbor.

Mid South East set to rumble

TREVOR JACKSON

THE Mid South East Football League is gearing up for its clash with its Limestone Coast counterpart in an interleague clash which should provide plenty of entertainment on Saturday.

Played at Blue Lake Sports Park, it promises to be one clash not to miss.

With so much talk about change to football in the region, both leagues will want to put their best foot forward and the MSEFL will certainly look for a win to showcase its strength.

Coach Clint Gallio said he looked forward to the clash, with a strong squad as the day fast approaches.

"We picked a large squad because some people aren't available and injuries happen," he said.

"We had training last week with 30 blokes there and six apologies, so they are pretty decent numbers.

"We put a bit of a side together with emergencies and it looks like quite a strong side.

"I think we can be very competitive."

Interleague football is not everyone's piece of cake, with many players choosing not to participate and have a well-deserved weekend off.

However, Gallio said he is pleased with the squad and the players who have made themselves available.

"I am passionate about this kind of footy, but I understand some people want their weekend off and that is fine," he said.

"We did the squad based around what we wanted and a handful we would love to have decided they wanted to have their weekend off.

"But we are really happy with those who have put their hands up."

The LCFNL will certainly want to chalk up a win in the first season of the newly-developed league.

Likewise the MSEFL would want to showcase what it has and hold strong to its roots.

Historically the former Western Border league has been the stronger of the two, but the MSEFL showed in recent years it can take the game right up to whoever it faces.

For Gallio it is simply about working hard on the ground and the team gelling.

"At this level both teams have some really good players across the ground," he said.

"People talk about the difference in footy, but at this level I don't think it matters too much.

"The team that can gel and settle the most, get into a bit of a rhythm early, get the ball moving how they want to do will be held in good stead."

Gallio said his backline should be strong enough to force the LCFNL to work hard for scores, while it should be a strong battle through the mid-field.

He said it is shaping up to be a quality contest, the importance of which should not be underestimated.

"I have been a big lover of interleague for many years now … I just enjoy on it," he said.

"It is also good for the young fellows because you never know who is in the crowd watching these games.

"Someone might spot them and like them and who knows what will happen from there."

Gallio also noted the importance to the MSEFL.

"We have some really good players floating around in this league," he said.

"Whether we win or lose, I don't know if it will factor in what happens in the future of the league with teams moving or anything.

"To win on the day is all we are concerned about."

The senior game will be played over four 20-minute quarters after the juniors have been completed.

Limestone Coast ready to represent at state level

THE Limestone Coast Football Netball League is gearing up for its first appearance at the South Australian Country Netball Championships this weekend at the Netball SA Stadium in Adelaide.

The newly formed league is sending five teams to the state event and will look forward to building on the foundation of its representative performances built in its era as the Western Border Netball Association.

The league has filled teams in the Under 17, Under 15 and Under 13 age groups, with the Under 15's and 13's taking two sides each, being a championship team and a development team.

All six clubs are represented across the junior ranks and will put the skills to the test against the best country talent South Australia has to offer.

Experienced coach Michelle Skeer will head up with talented 17 and Under roster which boasts a contingent of versatile players who for the most part are starting members of their respective clubs' A Grade and A Reserve line-ups.

Donna Denton will take on the 15 and Under Championship team coaching duties, which also has a handful of players who slot into the top senior grades in their local league.

The 15 and Under Development team will be coached by Lillie Paul who will make her debut as a coach after already building an impressive resume as a player despite her youth.

Larnka Foran brings her enthusiasm and experience to the 13 and Under Championship team, while Jackie Sunderland is another debutant coach ready to make her mark with the 13 and Under Development side.

It has been a huge task to create and source new uniforms, apparel and equipment for the Championships, with thanks going to all sponsors and volunteers for the effort put in to ensure the 2024 Country Championships contingent will hit the courts running.

YOUNG TALENT: North Gambier talent Macey Griffith will be out to impress at this weekend's SA Country Netball Championships, where she will play a role in the 17 and under side.

Grigg will also add some local flavour to the umpiring cohort as they represent the league at this weekend's event.
