

Sagewood Names Kersey Administrator of Acacia Health Center

PHOENIX – Sagewood, a Life Plan Community featuring resort-like amenities focused on independence and well-being, has named Timothy Kersey administrator of its on-site Acacia Health Center.

Kersey brings more than 20 years of experience in executive level senior living services and healthcare administration.

“We are excited to have such an experienced senior resident professional like Timothy Kersey join our team,” said Stewart Ingram, executive director at Sagewood. “His extensive background and knowledge in the industry will be pivotal to meet the expectations of our residents at the Five-Star rated Acacia Health Center.”

He most recently served as director of health services at Westminster Village in Scottsdale, where he received several accolades including the ACHCA “Facility Leadership Award”, an award presented to the top five percent of facility administrators in the country. Prior to Westminster Village, Kersey served as administrator/consultant for three Phoenix area senior living communities.

Kersey earned a bachelor of science degree in health services administration from Arkansas State University. He continued his education at Kennedy Western University, earning a master of science degree in health services administration.

He also holds three certifications: licensed Arizona and Arkansas nursing home administrator, certified Arizona assisted living manager, and certified aging services professional.

Five-Star rated Acacia Health Center focuses on residents based on a social-interactive model, offering a refreshing approach to health care. The recently expanded health center doubled in size, adding another 36,300 square feet. There are a total of 78 skilled nursing beds, 62 of which are private suites and 12 semi-private suites, which are all Medicare certified. Each suite within the health center has licensed nurses available 24/7.
