SJSU SPORTS

Retired Number Gene Menges, Head Coach, 1970-86

The only number in San José State baseball history to have ever been retired #22 - belongs to former Spartan head coach Gene Menges (1926-2016), the second-winningest coach in the school's 127-year baseball history. He led the team for 17 seasons and compiled a 467-434-4 record. In 1978 and 1979, he was named Coach of the Year by the Northern California Baseball Association.

Menges earned his degree from San José State in 1951 and his master's degree in 1957. The quarterback of the 1948-50 Spartan football teams, his career totals still rank among the best in Spartan history. He joined the Spartan coaching staff in 1952 as an assistant baseball coach before assuming the head coaching duties in 1970. He held the rank of professor emeritus in the human performance department at SJSU, and is also a member of the San José State University Sports Hall of Fame.

Former San Jose State baseball coach failed to promote atmosphere of compliance

The former San Jose State baseball coach did not promote an atmosphere of compliance when he directed and supervised student-athletes' participation in activities that exceeded NCAA countable activity rules, according to a Division I Committee on Infractions panel.

This case was resolved through the summary disposition process, a cooperative effort where the involved parties collectively submit the case to the Committee on Infractions in written form. The NCAA enforcement staff, university and participating individuals must agree to the facts and overall level of the case to use this process instead of a formal hearing.

During a two-year period, the head coach asked student-athletes if they would like to participate in voluntary activities before and after mandatory practice. He then listed the voluntary activities on the daily practice schedules. The student-athletes believed their presence at the activities was mandatory and, at times, members of the coaching staff were present and observed the activities. Additionally, sometimes the coach allowed the required practice and skill activities to run longer than their scheduled times.

In addition to directing and supervising the activities that exceeded the NCAA's countable activity rules, the former head coach did not monitor his program when he submitted inaccurate activity reports to the compliance office.

The panel used the Division I membership-approved infractions penalty guidelines to prescribe the following measures:

Two years of probation from Sept. 6, 2018, through Sept. 5, 2020.

A one-year show-cause order for the former head coach. During that period, any NCAA member school employing the former assistant coach must suspend him from all coaching duties for the first 10 games of the season.

A $5,000 fine (self-imposed by the university).

During the fall 2017 and January 2018 out-of-season segments, the baseball program reduced the number of weekly countable activity hours to a maximum of six hours per week, with no more than one hour of skill instruction per week (self-imposed by the university). NCAA rules allow up to eight hours per week with no more than two hours of skill instruction.

During the fall 2018 out-of-season segments, the baseball team will not engage in any countable activity for three weeks (self-imposed by the university). Additionally, all student-athletes must record voluntary hours of athletic activity and the compliance office must confirm the information.

During the spring 2018 and spring 2018 in-season segments, the program will reduce weekly countable hours to a maximum of 17 hours per week, from 20 hours allowed by NCAA rules (self-imposed by the university). Additionally, all student-athletes must record voluntary hours of athletic activity, and the compliance office must confirm the information.
