AZTEC STORYLINES

VS. THE DIRTBAGS: SDSU plays Long Beach State on Tuesday for the first time since the then-No. 9-ranked and regional host Dirtbags handed the Aztecs each of its two NCAA Regional losses last season. Despite those two losses, the Aztecs were 6-3 in its previous nine games against the Dirtbags when entering the NCAA postseason last year, including a pair of regular-season victories against LBSU in 2017.

The Aztecs look to continue its recent success against Big West programs, owning a 19-6 record against BW programs since the start of the 2017 season.

ON THE AIR: Long Beach State will produce a live stream and provide live stats for tomorrow night's contest. Links will be available at GoAztecs.com

JORDAN VERDON IS REALLY, REALLY GOOD: After earning Collegiate Baseball National Player of the Week honors last week, SDSU junior infielder Jordan Verdon continued his red-hot stretch at the plate this past week. Over his last 10 games played, Verdon is hitting .442 with two home runs, 10 doubles, and 19 RBI. Verdon currently leads the nation with 15 doubles on the season and hit a home run in each of SDSU's wins over UNLV last weekend. Verdon is also 31st in the nation (3rd in the MW) with 29 RBI, fifth in the MW with a .656 slugging percentage, and fifth in the conference with 33 total hits. To close a fine weekend at UNLV, Verdon posted a career-high 6 RBIs on a career-high five hits, making him the first Aztec since Steven Pallares (March 21, 2015) to record six or more RBIs in a game. Verdon has reached base in each of the last 20 games, good for the longest streak of the 2018 season for SDSU and six games shy of his career-best 26 game on-base streak last season.

GARRETT HILL IS ALSO REALLY, REALLY GOOD:

SDSU junior right-hander Garrett Hill has been one of the most consistent pitchers in the nation so far in 2018, taking a 5-0 record and 1.32 ERA into this week after logging his fifth win of the season on Saturday against UNLV. Hill had a scoreless inning streak of 21.1 innings snapped in the second inning of his start against the Rebels. Hill's five wins on the 2018 season are tied for the most in the nation and his 1.32 ERA is the best in the Mountain West and 23rd best in the country. Hill also stands fourth in the MW with 38 strikeouts on the year.

CHAD BIBLE HEATING UP:

SDSU redshirt junior Chad Bible has proven to be a solid middle-of-the-order threat for the Aztecs in 2018, leading the team with five home runs. Bible became the first player since Seby Zavala and Danny Sheehan (May 22-23, 2015) to homer in three consecutive games this past weekend. Bible currently ranks fourth in the MW with five home runs.

AZTEC STORYLINES

JULIAN ESCOBEDO HEATING UP: Currently riding a seven-game hitting streak, Julian Escobedo has led the team in hitting over the last seven games with a .536 (15-for-28) batting average with a home run, six RBIs, and two doubles.

NATIONAL RANKINGS UPDATE: San Diego State saw itself in three of the major national ranking polls Monday morning, including being slotted at No. 23 in the nation by both D1 Baseball and Baseball America. After being at No. 25 for three consecutive weeks by Baseball America, SDSU's series win over UNLV pushed the Aztecs up two spots to No. 23. The Aztecs are also No. 24 in Collegiate Baseball Newspaper's national top 30.

A LOT OF RUNS WERE SCORED THIS WEEKEND: After suffering a series-opening 4-3 defeat at UNLV, the Aztecs presented one of its best two-game stretches of offense in program history on Saturday and Sunday, scoring a combined 39 runs on 41 hits to defeat the Rebels, 17-8 and 22-7, respectively. It is the fourth consecutive series win against the Rebels, which entered the weekend at No. 24 in D1 Baseball's national top 25. In all four of SDSU's last series wins against UNLV, the Aztecs dropped the opener, but won each of the last two games to claim the series.

On Sunday, the Aztecs set new season-highs in at-bats (51), runs scored (22), hits (23), RBIs (21), home runs (4) and total bases (39).

For the series, the Aztecs hit nine home runs, the most in a single series for SDSU since hitting 11 at UNLV from April 18-20, 2008.

The Aztecs have scored 111 runs in its last nine meetings with UNLV, good for a 12.3 runs per game average.

The 22 runs scored in Sunday's series finale is tied for the most runs the Aztecs have ever scored against the Rebels over 149 all-time meetings. The Aztecs also scored 22 in a 22-1 win over UNLV on March 29, 1997. The Aztecs now own a 88-61 all-time series lead over UNLV.

The 39 combined runs during the last two games of the series are the most over a two-game span since scoring 43 against Air Force from May 5-6, 2006. It is the first time since 2003, when SDSU defeated Air Force 19-2 and 18-4 on March 23, 2003 and March 22, 2003, respectively, that the Aztecs have scored 17 or more runs in back-to-back games.

With the series win, the Aztecs improve to 9-2 in its last 11 games in Las Vegas and 5-4 in its last nine games against nationally ranked opponents.

SDSU's season statistics greatly benefitted from the outburst in the final two games, as SDSU's season batting average increased from .282 to .300, season slugging percentage increased from .403 to .447, and season on-base percentage increased from .355 to .373 from the 39-run performance over its previous two games.

ONE OF VERY FEW: San Diego State is one of just four teams in the nation to have a team ERA of 3.40 or lower and a team batting average of .300 or higher, joined by NC State, Arkansas, and Oregon State. SDSU's 3.33 ERA ranks as the best in the MW, while its .300 batting average is second best in the MW and 22nd best in the nation.

SERIES SUCCESS: The Aztecs have had a winning record during each of its weekends so far this season. Not including a 2-1 showing at the Tony Gwynn Legacy tournament in February, the Aztecs have won all five of its weekend series so far in 2018. SDSU has also won 11 of its last 13 Mountain West series and 16 of its last 18 weekend series overall.

COMEBACK WINNERS: Thanks to a Dean Nevarez walk-off single last Tuesday night, the Aztecs defeated CSU Bakersfield in the first-ever meeting between the two teams, 5-4, at Tony Gwynn Stadium. Julian Escobedo hit his first career home run in the eighth inning to cut CSUB's lead to 4-3 and Adrian Mardueno earned the win, retiring CSUB's hitters in the top of the ninth in order with a trio of strikeouts.

HOMEGROWN: The San Diego State roster features 10 players from San Diego. Collectively, San Diego natives have posted 65.4 percent of SDSU's 2018 hit total (125 of 191).

UNDER PRESSURE: The Aztecs are 7-3 this season in one-run games. In the team's last 15 one-run games, the Aztecs own a 12-3 record.

IMPACT FRESHMAN: Freshman outfielder Matt Rudick has been one of the focal points for the SDSU lineup in the early goings of the 2018 season, hitting a team-best .382 (seventh best in the MW) while owning a .500 on-base percentage, also the best on the team and good for second best in the conference. The freshman had reached base in each of his 14-game on base streak to start his collegiate career and currently leads the Mountain West with 19 walks this season.

EXPERIENCE ON THE DIAMOND: Despite having a team of 15 freshmen -- the program's largest freshman class since 2011 -- the Aztecs have two of the most experienced players in the nation this year in Chase Calabuig, who is fourth among all DI players with 202 career games played, and Jacob Erickson, who leads all DI pitchers with 103 career pitching appearances. The Aztecs are the only team in the nation to have a player in the top five of both categories. Erickson is three appearances shy of tying the school's all-time pitching appearance record, while Calabuig is 34 games shy from setting the program's career games played record.

PLAYING CLOSE: San Diego State has either led or was tied after eight innings in each of its first eight games (18-of-23 total) to start the season. The Aztecs are particularly strong in the later stages of the game, owning one of the longest active winning streaks in the country when leading after eight innings at 63 games.

FOUR OF FIVE: SDSU enters 2018 as the only team in D1 baseball to have won four conference tournament championships in the last five years. The Aztecs look to make it five of six in 2018, and as an added bonus, SDSU will host the 2018 Mountain West Tournament from May 24 - 27.

* Mountain West Tournament Championship (2)

! NCAA Tournament Appearance (2)

Mark Martinez heads into his fourth season as the head coach at San Diego State, a position he assumed in 2015 after nine years as an Aztec assistant coach under the late Tony Gwynn.

Martinez helped Gwynn transform and build the program into what it is today. He has helped guide the Aztecs to five regional appearances in the past eight years after an 18-year absence from the postseason. Along the way, he has guided the team to Mountain West Championships in four of the past five seasons.

Martinez comes into his fourth year at the helm of the SDSU program after compiling 104 in his first the campaigns since assuming that position. He is the lone coach in program history to record 100 wins in his first three seasons as head coach.

He has also helped build an academic program that saw the highest APR in the history of the program last season, as well as the most scholar-athletes and highest team GPA in the history of the program.

Martinez has had 42 players drafted in his time at San Diego State, and had six of those draft picks make the major leagues (Stephen Strasburg, Addison Reed, Justin Masterson, Bruce Billings, Quintin Berry and Lance Zawadzki). In addition, Martinez has helped guide 47 Aztecs to All-Mountain West honors and eight Aztecs to All-American accolades.

In 2017, Martinez guided SDSU to a 42-21 record and a fourth conference title in the past five seasons. Statistically, his offense was among the national leaders in several categories while the defense set a school record for fielding percentage. He also helped produce the Mountain West Tony Gwynn Player of the Year (Danny Sheehan) and the league's Pitcher of the Year (Brett Seeburger). A total of six Aztecs earned all-conference honors while two (Sheehan, Tyler Adkison) were recognized as third-team All-Americans

In his inaugural season at the helm of the Aztec program, Martinez saw his team capture its third consecutive Mountain West Championship and earn a third straight berth in the NCAA Regionals. The team's final 41-23 record marked the first time the Aztecs finished with back-to-back 40-win campaigns since the 1990 and 1991 seasons.

Seven Aztecs earned all-league honors and the team produced a Freshman All-American, three All-West Region selections, three members of the NCAA Regional all-tournament team and five athletes on the conference championship all-tourney team including the MVP for the third year in a row. Four players (Bubba Derby, Steven Pallares, Mark Seyler, Ty France) were taken in the 2015 Major League draft as well.

During the 2014 season, Martinez helped lead the Aztecs to their second consecutive conference championship. The overall 42-21 record was the best win percentage in 30 years of the program. The Aztecs also made their second consecutive regional, playing in Lafayette, Louisiana, as the No. 3 seed.

After the season, the 2014 Aztecs saw six players drafted (Michael Cederoth, Greg Allen, Brad Haynal, Tim Zier, Brandon Thomas and Justin Hepner) and saw another sign as an undrafted free agent (Evan Potter). Of the six players that signed after the 2014 season, only one (Cederoth) had been drafted before their time at San Diego State.

In addition closer Michael Cederoth was also named a Baseball America First-Team All-American while third baseman Ty France was named a Baseball America Third Team All-American.

Martinez was also an integral part of recruiting the 2014 recruiting class, which was ranked as the 19th-best freshman class in the country by Baseball America.

Martinez was hired as an assistant coach on July 28, 2005, arriving at SDSU after 17 years as an assistant at the University of New Mexico. His responsibilities included being in charge of the Aztec infielders and serving as SDSU's third base coach during games. In addition, is involved with the Aztec baseball camps and clinics, a series of seminars offered each winter and summer.

During his tenure as a hitting and infield coach at New Mexico, Martinez was a key member in leading the Lobo offense that became one of the most prominent in the nation under his tutelage.

New Mexico was ranked among the top 11 teams in the nation in hitting his final four seasons and the Lobos were ranked among the top 10 in batting, slugging, doubles, triples and homers in 2005. He also helped lead the Lobos to the 2000 Mountain West Conference regular-season title.

Over his 17 seasons with New Mexico, he coached 47 all-conference selections and four conference players of the year. UNM also produced eight All-Americans, four freshman All-Americans and four Academic All-Americans during that span. In addition, 31 players were drafted in his 17 years at UNM.

The 55-year-old Martinez came to New Mexico in 1988 after a five-year stint as an assistant coach at his alma mater, Mesa State College in Grand Junction, Colo. He was an assistant there from 1984-88.

Martinez played shortstop at Mesa State from 1982-84, earning all-conference and all-district honors as a senior. He received his bachelor's degree in physical education in 1984. He completed his master's in sports administration from New Mexico in January 1990.

In addition to his work with the Lobos, Martinez gained valuable experience in the summers of 1993 and 1994 as head coach of the Mat-su Miners in the Alaska Summer League.

Born Dec. 18, 1961, in Aurora, Colo., Martinez graduated from Longmont (Colo.) High School in 1980. He and wife, Jada Lucey Martinez, formerly UNM's associate athletic director for development, have two children: a daughter, Marissa (18), and a son, Cade (13).
