Aztecs Host Spring-Opening Lady Aztec Invitational

• The San Diego State women's golf team opens the 2003 spring season at home, hosting the 2003 Lady Aztec Invitational in Lake San Marcos, Calif.

• Held at the 5,905-yard, par-72 Lake San Marcos Country Club, the Lady Aztec consists of a 15-team field. With five teams ranked among the Golfweek/Sagarin final fall ratings' top 100 but none higher than 60th, the Lady Aztec team competition seems to be wide open. The host Aztecs finished the fall 99th in Golfweek's rankings and 96th according to Golfstat.

• With only one player ranked among the top 200 in both the Golfweek and Golfstat ratings, CSU Northridge's Elizabeth Allen (130th in Golfstat and 190th in Golfweek), the individual title is as up in the air as the team championship. The host Aztecs' top players, juniors Shayna Miyajima (Wialuku, Hawai'i/Baldwin HS) and Sandy Kim (West Linn, Ore./West Linn HS), were 302nd and 328th, respectively in Golfweek's ratings after the fall.

Last Year At The Lady Aztec

• First-day leader Colorado State held off a late charge by No. 20 Washington to claim the 2002 Lady Aztec Invitational title. The Rams finished with a 626 to win by two over second-place Huskies (628) while No. 22 Kent State (633) took third.

• UNLV's Hwanhee Lee took individual medalist honors with a 4-over 150, one stroke ahead of second-place Mayumi Motoyama of CSU (151).

The Aztecs' Fall In Review

• SDSU's fall season got off to a tough start at the Comcast/Dick McGuire Invitational when senior Jennifer Hoene was forced to withdraw from the first two rounds with the flu. The Aztecs were forced to play short-handed with only four golfers and ended up with an 18th-place finish.

• Back at full strength for the next event, the New Mexico State Price's Give 'Em Five Intercollegiate,

^ Will play as an individual the Aztecs dropped 27 shots from their first tournament and finished 16th.

• SDSU's best result

and only top-10 of the fall came at the

Matador Fall

Classic. The Aztecs

shot their best two rounds of the season, 305-301, for a

36-hole total of 606

that placed second,

matching their best results since a win at the fall 2000 Heather

Farr Memorial. Led

by Miyajima's

career-best tie for

second, SDSU placed

four individuals among the top five and ties.

• SDSU shot its low

54-hole score of the season with a 937

at the Kent Youel

Invitational in Kapolei,

Hawaii, but had to settle for 15th place.

• The Aztecs closed

out the fall with a

12th-place

score of 956 at the

Las Vegas Founders

Showdown.

Sandy Kim

Aztec Notes

• Miyajima recorded the Aztecs' best stroke average during the fall (77.64), finishing one stroke ahead of Kim (1,087-1,088). Last season, Kim finished a shot better than Miyajima 2,011-2,012.

• Kim has a streak of nine straight sub-80 rounds going into the Lady Aztec Invitational. She has not shot above 80 since a second-round 81 on Oct. 8 at the NMSU Price's Give 'Em Five Intercollegiate.

• Two new golfers join the Aztec roster for the spring. Junior Abby Lasater, a junior college transfer who was part of a NJCAA National Championship team at Midland College in 2001, and freshman Ashley Forbes, from Palm Desert, Calif., and the runner-up at the 2002 CIF Southern Section, will likely redshirt in their first semester on the Mesa.

Head Coach Felicia Brown

• Head coach Felicia Brown is in her first season at the helm of the SDSU golf program after serving as assistant coach last season. Brown prepped locally at San Marcos High School before playing collegiate golf at Arizona. She boasts professional playing and teaching experience on the Players' West Golf Tour and in the LPGA teaching division, respectively.
